Introduction

USING THE BATTLE BIBLE

The second edition of Warhammer 40,000 is an exciting, beautiful game, but it often seems to sacrifice simplicity to gain challenge. With three main rulebooks, a dozen templates, dozens of dice, and some nine Codexes, it's often difficult to find the rule you're looking for. The lack of an index in any of these books complicates things, and the scarcity of cross-references makes for tedious searches.

That's why the Battle Bible was created. It attempts to simplify things as much as possible, so you can focus on the aspects of the hobby that were meant to be the challenging aspects — painting, strategy, and scraping together enough cash for that new Dreadnought.

The text in this document is not a straight copying of that of the original. Indeed, very little of the rules' original wording has survived. This is an intentional decision and was made chiefly because of copyright infringement laws and secondly because the grammar of the original books is sometimes vague and in error. Where deemed necessary, clarifications have been made, and all attempts have been made to make sure that any additional rules or assumptions are valid and coincide with the intent of the original rules.

CONVENTIONS

At first glance, the Battle Bible may appear to be cluttered with confusing notations. Many of these are actually attempts to make things easier on the war gamer. As is often the case with features that attempt to empower, these notations require some explanation, and may take some getting used to.

Hyperlinks

Sometimes, the text of a rule or description of a unit will make a reference to another rule, unit or other description. In most of these cases, the word or words that refer appear as a page number in paranthesis. These page numbers are hyperlinked. Simply click on the hyperlink and you'll soon be looking at the reference. Here's an example of a hyperlink in the text of a rule:

Once inside a building, models may only move at their normal rate, and may not run (27).

If you are perusing the Battle Bible and click on the “25” (or if you flip to page 27, if you're looking at a hard-copy), you will be taken to the rules for running, as seen here:

RUNNING

A whole squad runs together. Running models double their normal move, but cannot fire in the shooting phase. Troops may only run if there is no enemy within 8” of them.

In some cases, such as where the reference itself has some information in parentheses, it might get a little confusing, but remember that the first number — the one closest to the reference — contains the page number of the reference's target. The most common example might be the Wargear Card “Targeter”, which gives the model wearing it a +1 bonus for hitting targets with ranged weaponry. Other examples are common items whose effects can be summarised in an inch-long parenthetical overview. Without the cross-reference, a mentioning of the Targeter might look like this:

This model comes with a Targeter (+1 to hit) and a really nifty paint job.

But with the reference, it looks like this:

This model comes with a Targeter (236, +1 to hit) and a really nifty paint job.

Note that the “236” that comes first in the parenthesis means that more detailed information about the Targeter can be found on that page, and has nothing to do with the “+1”.

TEN YEARS LATER...

It's been ten years since the final version, 1.3.7, was released. I've decided to update this fellow's work as best as I can, using 1.3.7 as a starting point and sticking as close as possible to his chosen format. Here's what's new in v1.5:

- Legion of the Damned entry edited to follow their final 2nd ed ruleset from WD 224
- Sisters of Battle entry completed, and numerous errors fixed in the material that was there
- Ork special characters added
- Musket, Handbow added to Weapons section
- SoB Relics added to the Wargear and Weapons sections
- Chaos Post-Heresy Terminators reduced to +5 pts over Loyalist ones, rather than 1.3.7's listing of +10
- Necromunda and homebrewed codexes removed to save space and make this strictly a legal 40K document (other than the appendix of optional rules at the end)
- Added a trimmed version of an old FAQ concerning the Battle Bible, put out at the end of its run by the original author, for strictly historical interest
- Some reorganization to make it a bit easier to follow (things reordered, table of contents trimmed so that it's not 700 pages long by itself, all Space Marines grouped together, etc)
- Header adjustments to use MS Word bookmarks; random typo fixes, upgraded to the Queen's English
- 1.5.1 Update: Some minor reorganizations and typo fixes; corrected page numbers; added Ork dreadnought. Hopefully that's it. — 2008/09/23

AND EIGHT YEARS FROM THAT...

Happily I see that 1.5.1 has slowly spread from the now-defunct forum I originally posted it on some eight years ago to become the standard 2nd ed Battle Bible. Up until now, any version number higher than that has been fanwank created by dodgy characters of questionable moral rectitude. I recently came across a mention that a few White Dwarf articles had eluded me (not surprising, as I didn't have the full WD run back then), so I've decided to put out a small update. New here for version 1.6 are:

- WD 179, 191-196, 198, 200, 204 Question & Answer column clarifications added throughout the Bible text
- WD 193 High Ground Mission Card
- WD 207 Aerial Supremacy (Eldar & SM vehicle wargear, plus Scythes)
- WD 209 Space Marine Heros (Chapter Masters plus Combat Squads)
- WD 220 & 221 Ork vehicles (Scorcher, Wartrak, War Trukk), plus the original Ork Battlewagon datafax
- Added Colonel Shaefer special character to IG list
- Removed Adeptus Arbites and Inquisition separate army lists; folded them back into the Imperial Agents list
- Corrections to sustained fire, blast marker use, Chaos Terminator and Cult weapon access, Eldar Exarch wargear and Support Weapon Platform access, Harlequin entries, Space Marine Veterans, Blood Angels Tycho, SoB and Squat army percentages, and more
- Corrected page numbers (again); minor copy edits and heavy formatting tweaks (in particular, removed all text hyperlinks for eyestrain and printing purposes. The page numbers next to them are hyperlinked, however, so nothing has been lost) — 2016/02/29
- 1.6.1 Update: Added WD 169 bunker and Adeptus Arbite information — 2016/12/23
- 1.6.2 Update: Fixed Squat field costs and Eldar Support Weapon Platforms (thanks Runesight) — 2017/03/22
- 1.6.3 Update: Corrected Infiltration wording, Fire Axe damage, regular axe Str, Bjorn the Fell-Handed WS, Ork Warboss Wounds, Master-Crafted Plasma Pistol long range mod, meltabomb damage and page refs — 2019/08/07
- 1.6.4 Update: Added Palsa Rocket terrain damage, removed plasma gun low-power mode, altered and added note on sustained fire wording, fixed yet more page refs — 2019/08/08

If I've missed still more, or if you find errors in the original work, simply whisper my name on the wind (i.e. bitch on various and sundry forums) and I'll get around to it in another half-decade. I'm particularly interested in fixing rules errors that the Bible got wrong all those years ago.

99.99% of the work found here had nothing to do with me: all credit goes to Jason Payne and his helpers circa 1998.

A GAME OF WARHAMMER 40,000

At its most basic level, a game of Warhammer 40,000 involves following fifteen steps. Some of these steps are more complex than others, and many steps involve sub-steps which are covered in greater depth later in the Bible. This section is for a general overview of the game or for newbies who have never played.

1. AGREE ON POINTS

A game of any kind is fun only if the participants are balanced — that is, if neither side has an obvious advantage from the start. In an attempt to ensure the fairness of Warhammer 40,000, the Points system is used. Each option — tank, individual model, squad, weapon, or piece of equipment — that you can have has an associated Point Cost. The greater the number of Points a certain option costs, the more powerful an influence it is likely to produce — a tank, for example, costs much more than your average lightly-armoured grunt. The Points Cost of any option is generally listed with the option's description — the Army Lists are the most common places to find Points Costs.

With certain rare exceptions, each model you place on the battlefield costs you Points to have in your army. Many models are capable of carrying weapons and other equipment that they don't come equipped with normally — these options are obtained at further Point Cost. This method of “buying” options provides a control system for fairness and flexibility — two players could spend the same amount of Points on the same Army Lists and produce very different armies.

If you make add-on rules or units for your armies, make sure to carefully consider their impact on the game when deciding how many Points they are to be worth. As a common courtesy, you must make sure you have other players' approval before fielding any customizations to the army list.

The very first step of a game of Warhammer 40,000 is for all players to agree on how many points each will spend. This can be any number, although commonly a multiple of 500 (1,000, 1,500, etc.). The Army Lists and the limitations (e.g., at least 25% squads) therein have been built with a 500-1,500 point force in mind as the smallest. In one-on-one battles (the most common), each player will get to spend the same amount points on his/her army. Obviously, if you have a 2-on-1 battle, the side with the lone player should get twice as many points as either of the other players to spend on his army.

2. AGREE ON GAME LENGTH

All players must agree on a total game length; 4 turns is recommended. Optionally, the players can agree to extend the game on a turn-by-turn basis until both players agree the battle is fought out. Likewise, if both players agree, the game may be ended prematurely — this usually happens when one side holds a clear advantage over the other and it would be pointless to fight it out to completion. For those who wish a random game length, roll a D6 at the start of the game: 1-2 the game will last for three turns, 3-4 the game will last for four turns, and 5-6 the game will last for five turns.

3. BUILD ARMIES USING POINTS

Each player “buys” their army by making selections from the Army Lists. Unless you and your opponent agree otherwise, you must make all selections from a single Army List of your choosing. Note, however, that the “Allies” section of each Army List allows you to make restricted selections from other Army Lists. You are also subject to other restrictions specific to each Army List when building your armies; these restrictions are noted under each Army List's description.

4. PLACE TERRAIN

During this step, all players construct what will be the battlefield for the game. Some players prefer to work together to build a setting that follows a certain theme or flavour that all agree on (for example, the conquest of a desert world or the raiding of a supply bunker). Other prefer to take turns placing terrain so that neither table edge will contain a particular tactical advantage due to landscape. How much terrain is placed, and how much of the battleboard is covered with some kind of terrain is totally up to the players involved. The general consensus, however, seems to be that the more terrain, the better the game — from an aesthetics point of view as well as a playability perspective.

5. MARK DEPLOYMENT ZONE

There are two Deployment Zones (these are the areas inside which your models will be placed to start the game), one on each of the long sides of the standard 4' x 6' rectangular gaming board. The zones begin at the long table edges and extend into the board 12". There is a margin of 12" on each side.

Take four counters and place them where the X's are to denote where the two Deployment Zones end.

6. DRAW MISSION CARDS (OPTIONAL)

To make the game a little more realistic, if both sides agree, each player may draw a Mission Card at random. These are cards which define specific goals of each force, and describe the rewards which accompany their accomplishment. Mission Cards (18) are described later.

As an alternative to Mission Cards, feel free to define your own custom objectives — “destroy that building”, or “defend that group of civilians”. As with any customizations of the game, anything goes — so long as your opponents agree on it.

7. DRAW STRATEGY CARDS (OPTIONAL)

All players but those who command Tyranid forces may draw Strategy Cards (19). You may draw one Strategy Card at random for each 1,000 points or multiple thereof that your army consists of — for example, the commander of a 1,250-point army would draw 2 cards, and the commander of a 2,980-point army would draw 3 cards. For each card, you are allowed a “mulligan” — that is, you may replace the card drawn and redraw. You must, however, keep the redrawn card even if it is less desirable than the original.

8. DETERMINE DEPLOYMENT ZONES

The side with the highest Army Strategy Rating gets to select which Deployment Zone they want, with ties being randomised. Alternately, the player who did not set up the battleboard may select their desired side. Since this should not make a large tactical difference (because neither side should be favoured with advantage-granting terrain features), feel free to use whatever methods you want to determine it.

9. DETERMINE DEPLOYMENT ORDER

Each army gets a base Strategy Rating as follows:

Race/Army	Army Strategy Rating
Space Marines	5
Eldar	4
Orks or Chaos	3
Imperial Guard or Squats	2
Tyranids	1

Whoever has the smallest Strategy Rating must deploy his troops first; settle ties with D6 randomization.

10. DEPLOY UNITS

Each player may place the models he has purchased using Points wherever he wants within his Deployment Zone. However, all squads must begin the game within squad coherency (16) distance to each other, and all vehicles must begin the game in terrain over which they would normally be allowed to move.

11. DETERMINE TURN ORDER

To determine who goes first, each player rolls a D6 and adds the Strategy Rating of his leader to the score. Some models or options grant additional Strategy Ratings; these are noted in the description of the option. For example, Commander Azrael (184), leader of the Dark Angels chapter of the Space Marines, confers a Strategy Rating of 6 if present in your army. Thus an army commanded by Azrael would have a total Strategy Rating of 6+D6 to compare with your opponent. Whoever gets the highest score gets to go first.

12. PLAYER 1's TURN

The player who goes first takes his turn. Each player's turn consists of several sub-phases: Movement, Shooting, Hand-to-Hand Combat, Psychic, and Rally. These phases are described in more detail later.

13. PLAYER 2's TURN

The player(s) who did not go first takes his turn in the same fashion as Player 1 just did. If there are more than 2 players, continue until all players have had a turn.

14. REPEAT

Repeat Steps 12 and 13 until you have taken the number of turns agreed upon. Each sequence of both players each taking a turn count as a single turn.

15. DETERMINE VICTOR

At the end of the game, sum up all the Victory Points (17) that apply to each side. The side with the most Victory Points is declared the winner of the battle unless some alternate arrangement was agreed upon back in Step 6.

GENERAL RULES

Note: wherever there is a conflict of rules, the most specific rules may override the more general rules.

CHARACTERISTICS

Not all people are created equal — the same holds true for models in the Warhammer 40,000 game. Leaders, for example, are more experienced, more brawny, and have more nerve by far than your average foot trooper. A biological monstrosity consisting of a swarming mass of tentacles will be a better fighter in close combat than a run-of-the-mill grunt.

To reflect battle realities like these, nearly every model in the game has certain characteristics. This is a common concept in games of this nature; they're simply a numerical way of describing the model in terms of game mechanics. In all cases, the higher the number, the better.

Zero-Level Characteristics

Some models have been given a 0 for certain characteristics, meaning they have no ability whatsoever in that area — or that that characteristic just doesn't apply to them. The most common place you'll see this is in creatures that are purely close combat machines (Genestealers (213), Hormagaunts (213), etc.), and have a 0 BS, since they lack projectile weapons or the ability to use them.

Characteristic Profiles

Each model has a profile of its characteristics; this profile is given in the Army List(s) with which the type of model is associated. For example, you'll find an Imperial Guardsman (read: common grunt) characteristic profile in the Imperial Guard Army List, and it looks like this:

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Guardsman	3	3	3	3	3	1	3	1	7

Movement (M)

This is the ability of a model to move. Ordinarily, a model may move a number of inches equal to its Movement characteristic in the Movement Phase (26). For reference, most human models have a M of 4; Eldar models frequently have an M of 5, and Squats normally have an M of 3. Thus a man can move 4" a turn, and an Eldar 5" a turn.

Weapon Skill (WS)

A model's WS indicates how proficient he/she/it is in the art of close combat and hand-to-hand fighting. The higher this number, the more combat-worthy the model is for this type of fighting. A common value for this characteristic is 3.

Ballistic Skill (BS)

BS is the ability of a model to use projectile weaponry effectively. Think of it as the model's marksmanship rating. The higher the model's BS, the better it is at shooting a weapon.

Strength (S)

Strength reflects the raw physical aggressiveness of the model and its ability to damage another model in close combat. A model inflicting hits on an opponent in hand-to-hand combat may use its Strength to calculate how damaging those hits are. Most "ordinary" models have a Strength of 3.

Toughness (T)

This is the natural physical resilience of a model's skin, hide, scales, etc. A higher Toughness makes a model more difficult to damage with weapons of all kinds. A common value is 3.

General Rules

Wounds (W)

Models may only sustain a number of points of damage equal to their Wounds characteristic before being incapacitated (slain, knocked unconscious for the duration of the game, given a crippling injury, etc.). Most models have only 1 Wound, meaning that “one hit kills” most miniatures on the battlefield. Models with more than 1 Wound are burly, resilient, and are often special character models.

Initiative (I)

Indicates how alert a model is and how fast it can react. Models with a low Initiative are slow and cumbersome. A common value of this characteristic is 3.

Attacks (A)

The number of Attack Dice (see hand-to-hand rules, 36, for more information) a model may roll when involved in close combat. Most models have only 1 Attack, and the higher the number, the better. Note that both A and WS are factors in determining whether a model wins a round of hand-to-hand combat.

Leadership (Ld)

A model with a high Ld is courageous, steadfast and self-controlled in the heat of battle. Low-Ld models may panic easily and are not as battle-worthy. Ld is used when making panic and psychology tests.

BUILDINGS

Once inside a building, models may only move at their normal rate, and may not run (27). Charges (27) may only be declared against enemy models visible at the start of the turn. It takes models an entire movement phase (26) to move from one “level” or “story” of a building to the next, regardless of the method used (elevator, ramp, ladder, etc.).

Destroying Buildings & Doors

Weapons with a blast marker (33) fired at buildings do not affect other models, and buildings are not affected by weapons with a blast marker meant for other models — unless both players agree otherwise. Buildings are given an Armour Value as shown below, and as such use armour penetration (35) rules:

Type of Building	Armour Value
Tent or inflatable structure	5
Mud or straw hut, wooden or tin shack	10
Plexiglas or plastic	15
Timber, stone, concrete or plascrrete	20
Steel, plasteel or rockrete	25
Armaplas, ceramite, or adamantium	30

Imperium buildings are generally made of timber, stone, concrete or plascrrete. Administratum and other official buildings are made of steel, plasteel or rockrete. Only purpose-built fortifications are constructed from armaplas. Doors will generally be made of the same material as the building they are part of, but will simply be destroyed if their armour is penetrated, leaving a hole. If a weapon penetrates the armour value of a building, it is damaged; roll a D6 and consult this table:

D6 Roll	Effect
1-3	Shaken — Models inside are knocked off their feet and may not move or shoot in their next turn. They fight normally if engaged in hand-to-hand combat. Add +1 on future rolls on this table.
4-5	Badly Shaken — Any models inside are knocked off their feet as above, and are separated immediately from HtH. Further movement within the building is at half rate. Add +2 to the rolls on this table from now on.
6+	Collapsed — Any models inside must make an armour saving throw or be slain by the falling debris. Survivors may not move or shoot in their next turn, and are separated from HtH immediately.

See also hand-to-hand combat versus buildings (38), scatter in buildings (33).

General Rules

Bunkers

If using bunkers (as featured in the Bunker Assault (18) mission), use the following rules in addition to any applicable rules for buildings given above:

Any force may include bunkers. Each costs 50 points, which counts towards your force's Support total. All bunkers must be deployed before either army is deployed.

Up to eight models may be placed inside a bunker. On the roof may fit up to an additional five models, or a single support weapon and its crew. Any number of models may enter or leave a bunker through the door, or move from the interior to the bunker's roof, or from the roof to inside, each turn. A single support weapon (other than a Mole Mortar) purchased as normal for the army may be set up on the bunker's roof at the start of the battle; it must remain there for the duration of the battle.

Bunkers have two vision slits per wall, except for the wall with the door, where there is only one vision slit. Each provides a 90-degree arc of fire for one model inside.

Models that shoot at the bunker may either attack the bunker itself or models that are on the roof. Models inside the bunker may not be attacked directly, even if they fired out of a vision slit in their previous turn. Models on the roof are attacked using the normal shooting rules, but receive the -2 to-hit modifier for being in hard cover. Attacks made at long range count the bunker as a large target and receive a +1 modifier to their to hit rolls, while attacks made at short range hit the bunker automatically.

When a bunker is hit by a ranged attack, resolve the attack as if you were attacking a vehicle, using the damage tables below. Unlike a vehicle, however, the bunker is only affected by attacks that score a direct hit. Weapons with a blast marker that are fired at models on the roof, or which scatter when attacking the bunker or another target nearby, will only affect models on the roof and will not cause any damage to the bunker itself. Weapons with a blast marker that hit the bunker will only damage one location, chosen at random by rolling on the damage table. A bunker may be attacked in HtH combat just as any vehicle.

		Armour
D6	Location	Front	Side/Rear
1	Vision Slit
2	Door*	20	20
3-6	Bunker	25	25
D6	Bunker Damage Table
1-4	All models inside or on the roof are knocked off their feet and may not move or shoot next turn (but may fight normally if attacked in HtH combat). Add +1 to all future damage rolls against this bunker.
5-6	The bunker collapses. Each model inside or on the roof must make an armour save or be killed. Survivors may not move or shoot next turn; if engaged in HtH combat, they are separated immediately.
D6	Door Damage Table
1	The door is jammed shut. No model may enter or leave the bunker, unless a door blown off result occurs for that bunker (see below).
2-5	The door is blown off. Any future hits in this location are treated as Vision Slit hits (see below).
6	The door is blown off. Additionally, make one roll on the Bunker Damage Table.
	Vision Slit Damage
	The attack goes through the vision slit, hitting a random model inside the bunker.

*Only if the door is visible to the attacker. If not, count this as a Bunker hit instead.

Special Weapon Effects:

Choke, Hallucinogen, Scare, Toxin (272): The gas from these weapons will seep through any vision slits into the bunker. If a vision slit on a bunker falls under the blast marker template for the grenade then roll a D6 for each model inside. On a roll of 3+, the model is affected by the grenade.

General Rules

Photon Flash Flare (273): Photon flash flares that go off outside a bunker will not affect any models inside the bunker. If the flare goes off inside the bunker, it automatically affects any models in the bunker, and +1 is added to the dice roll on the Flash Effect table.

Distort Cannon (258): Roll a D6 if any part of the bunker falls under the Distort Area template. On a roll of 4+, the bunker and all of the models in or on it are affected by the distort cannon. Make one distort test to see what happens to the bunker and its occupants.

Flamers: The flames from these weapons will wash over the bunker and flow through any vision slits to affect the models inside. If a flamer is used to attack the bunker then it will automatically hit a vision slit. Roll a D6 for each model in the bunker: on a 3+ they are hit by the flamer. Flamers do not receive the strength bonus and save modifiers normally applied to weapons with a blast marker in a building.

Graviton Gun (242): If a graviton gun is used to attack a bunker it will automatically hit the the bunker and ignores armour penetration. Roll on the bunker damage table adding +1 to the dice score.

Harlequin's Kiss (226): A model armed with a harlequin's kiss that is within 1" of a vision slit or open bunker door may use the weapon to attack any models inside the bunker. Roll on the harlequin's kiss table to see what happens to any models inside the bunker.

Mole Mortar (260): If a mole mortar is used to attack a bunker, then roll on the following table instead of the standard Mole Mortar table:

D6 Roll	Effect
1	Off Target — Randomly determine scatter as normal and then reroll on the standard Mole Mortar table.
2-5	No Effect — The missile is stopped by the bunker's floor and has no effect.
6	Cave In! — The torpedo explodes under the bunker and blasts out a deep crater which the bunker collapses into. The bunker and all models in or on it are destroyed. Remove the bunker model and replace it with a crater. Only direct hits by a mole mortar that also cause a cave in can create this result: mole mortar attacks that scatter onto or near the bunker will not.

CAVALRY

Cavalry refers to any mount with only one Wound; larger mounts are generally treated as vehicles or assigned their own rules. A cavalry model is treated as a single model. If the rider is slain, the mount is removed from play as a casualty. Cavalry models use the rider's Leadership, Toughness, Wounds, and Initiative, and the mount's Move. Cavalry gain a +1 on their armour saving throw, and in hand-to-hand combat the rider adds his steed's A to his own.

CHARACTERS

Unless otherwise noted, characters move and fight as individuals and may pick their targets freely — ignoring the standard Choosing A Target (31) rules, except when using Heavy Weapons (249). Characters are free to join squads and fight with them: simply move the character model within 2" — standard squad coherency (16) range — and declare it a part of the squad. Squads led by characters may use the character's Leadership during Break tests (51). Characters who have joined a squad may leave at any time, except when the squad is affected by Psychology (52), has declared a charge, or has engaged in hand-to-hand combat (36). While with the squad, it is counted as a part of it in all respects — which means it must flee if the squad is Broken (51) — but it does not share the effects of Psychology unless it is affected by it. In other words, you must test the character for Psychology effects separately from the squad.

If a character is more than 2" away from all other squads, he may only be picked out as a separate target if he is the closest. If a character is within coherency distance of a squad of other models at least as big as he is, but has not been declared a part of it, he cannot be picked out as a separate target by the enemy — even enemy characters. If the squad next to which a character stands is hit, randomize the shot(s) between the members of the squad and the character. For example, if a character is standing next to a squad of five men and the squad is hit by bolter fire, a D6 is rolled — on a result of a 1-5, one of the squad members is hit; on a 6, the character is hit.

GAME LENGTH

Usually, games are four turns long. However, this isn't a formal rule. If both players agree, the game may be extended indefinitely, voting to continue on a turn-by-turn basis. Additionally, Bunker Assault (18) missions are always six turns long.

SQUAD COHERENCY

Models, which comprise a squad (or a Tyranid brood), must normally remain within 2" of one another — drawn from base-edge to base-edge — at all times. Known exceptions to this rule are listed with the wargear to which they apply. Squads using the Dispersed Formation ability may extend this coherency to 4". If models are engaged in hand-to-hand combat (36), they are not bound by the Coherency rules. When combat finishes, the rule is applied again. If a squad's coherency is broken — e.g., by having the middle link in a "chain" of models destroyed by enemy fire — the squad must attempt to reestablish coherency in their next movement phase. If this is not possible, the smaller part of the split squad counts as being broken (51).

Dispersed Formation

Some units may use a Dispersed Formation; this means they may extend their coherency range to 4".

SUPPORT WEAPON BATTERIES

Support weapons with a value of less than 100 points must be formed into Batteries. Armies including 3 or fewer such support weapons must form all of them into a single Battery; armies with more support weapons must form them into n Batteries of approximately equal size, where n is equal to the number of support weapons divided by 3.

Batteries are deployed as groups of models at the start of the game like ordinary squads. They may be deployed in terrain which would normally be impassible (26); if so, they may not be moved during the game except to rotate. If a Battery takes a special action (Overwatch (27), Hiding (27)), the entire Battery must take the action. Weapons in a Battery may select separate targets, but are still subject to the normal picking a target rules (31).

When a Battery is fired upon, the enemy must choose the support weapon closest to them. Batteries take Break tests (51) just like normal squads, but add +2 to their crewman's Leadership (maximum 10). Note that support weapons crewed by Servitors (170) do not need to take Break tests. Batteries failing their Break test will hide if they are in cover — but the support weapons are not hidden, and still fair game. Broken (51) batteries not in cover will flee, leaving their support weapons.

Battery Coherency

For batteries of support weapons, squad coherency (16) must be maintained, except that support weapons within a battery must only remain within 6" (rather than 2") of each other at all times.

INFILTRATION

Some models have the Infiltration ability; these may be deployed as normal if you wish. Alternately, you may keep them off the battlefield until your opponent has set up; you may then place the infiltrating models anywhere on the battlefield, providing that they are out of Line of Sight to any enemy model. If both players are using troops that can infiltrate, they both roll a D6 and the player that rolls lowest has to deploy his infiltrating troops first.

TURN SEQUENCE

The turn is comprised of the following sequence: Movement Phase (26), Shooting Phase (31), Hand-to-Hand Combat (36), Psychic Phase (40), and the Rally Phase (51).

VEHICLE CREW

Unless otherwise stated in the description, the cost of a vehicle always includes the crew. Crew members are allowed to board (29) or leave the vehicle in the same way as other models. If the driver of a moving vehicle dismounts, then his vehicle will go out of control (29) in its next turn. Dismounted crewmen must remain within 6" of their vehicle — unless it has been destroyed, in which case any surviving crew form their own unit and are subject to normal rules for squad coherency (16). Crew remaining inside their vehicle are immune to psychology (52) and do not have to take Break tests (51).

General Rules

All crew on board a vehicle are trained to do each others jobs. It takes an entire turn for a crewman to swap positions in this way, and he is not allowed to do anything else on the turn in which he swaps over. Adeptus Mechanicus Engineers, Techmarines (167), Squat Engineer Guildmasters (203), and Ork Mekaniak (137) models are also allowed to take over from crewmen in the same way. Other models in a player's army may not take over a position in a vehicle — and certainly not enemy models!

VICTORY POINTS

A player is accorded Victory Points for causing damage to his opponent's forces and for fulfilling objectives stated on Mission Cards (18). At the end of the game, the player with the most Victory Points has won the conflict. The points accorded by Mission Cards is listed with each card; for damage versus enemy forces, use this table:

Each Enemy Squad	50% Casualties	Broken/Wiped Out
<100 points	0	1
101-200 points	1	1
201-300 points	1	2
301-400 points	2	2
401 points+	2	3
Each Enemy Vehicle	Damaged	Disabled/Destroyed
<100 points	0	1
101-200 points	1	1
201-300 points	1	2
301-400 points	2	2
401 points+	2	3
Each Enemy Character	Wounded	Killed
<50 points	0	0
51-100 points	0	1
101-200 points	0	2
201-300 points	0	3
301 points +	0	4
Each Enemy Squadron	50%+ disabled	All disabled
<100 points	0	1
101-200 points	1	1
201-300 points	1	2
301-400 points	2	2
401-500 points	2	3
501 points+	3	4
Each Enemy Battery	50%+ destroyed	Wiped Out
<100 points	0	1
101-200 points	1	1
201-300 points	1	2
300 points+	2	2
Each Enemy Daemon	Wounded	Wiped Out
	0	1/3

In addition to this, there are some models that fall into multiple categories; for example a character model or squad riding in a vehicle. In this case, the Victory Points for each part are added together.

WARGEAR CARDS

Certain models may be assigned Wargear Cards; which models these are and the maximum number of cards that may be assigned them are listed with the description and point cost of the units. If a model carrying Wargear cards is slain, the Wargear is considered destroyed with him. Likewise, unless both players agree otherwise prior to the start of the game, Wargear may not be "passed around" from model to model — it stays with the model to whom it is assigned for the game's duration. See the complete list of Wargear Cards (217) for more specific information.

MISSION CARDS

Mission Cards detail a strategic objective for the player to accomplish — and describes how doing so will accord the player extra Victory Points (17). The different Mission Cards are described below:

Assassins

- Enemy Commander wounded: +1 Victory Point
- Enemy Commander slain: +5 Victory Points

Bunker Assault

- Each bunker with at least one of your models in it, and no enemy models in it: +5 Victory Points
- Each enemy bunker destroyed: +3 Victory Points
- Note: Bunker Assault missions are always six turns, not four

Dawn Raid

- Having at least one squad with less than 50% casualties or at least one undamaged vehicle in opponent's Deployment Zone at the end of the game: +5 Victory Points

Engage and Destroy

- For each enemy squad wiped out: +1 Victory Point
- For each enemy vehicle destroyed: +1 Victory Point
- For each enemy character slain: +1 Victory Point

Guerilla War

- For every 3 enemy models slain in hand-to-hand combat (36): +1 Victory Point
- For every enemy vehicle destroyed or disabled within 24" of your table edge: +1 Victory Point

High Ground

- For every unbroken squad with less than 50% casualties within 3" of one of the three highest points at the end of the game: +1 Victory Point
- If the squad also has a functional heavy weapon: +1 Victory Point

Hold the Line

- No unbroken enemy squads or operational vehicles within 24" of your edge: +5 Victory Points
- Each bunker with at least one of your models in it, and no enemy models in it: +1 Victory Point

Take and Hold

- Your objective is a point 24" into the table and 36" from the left hand edge (which should be in the middle of a standard table). If you have at least one model within 3" of this spot at the end of the game, and the closest model to this spot is yours: +5 Victory Points

Witch Hunt

- If the most powerful enemy psyker is wounded at end of game: +1 Victory Point
- If the most powerful enemy psyker is slain: +5 Victory Points
- Each enemy character (15) worth 50 points or more slain: +1 Victory Point

Terrorize

- Tyranids only.
- Each Break, Fear or Terror test failed by the opposing force: +1 Victory Point
- Each Character killed or broken: +1 Victory Point

Trap

- Tyranids only. "Trapped" models have at least one Tyranid model between them and the nearest table edge at the end of the game.
- Each enemy unit trapped at the end of the game: +1 Victory Point

General Rules

Before the Tyranid forces are deployed, roll a D6 for each brood and individual model. On a roll of 1-3, the model(s) must be deployed in the deployment zone; on a 4-6, the model(s) may be deployed within 6" of either the left or right edge of the table if desired. Tyranid forces may be set up Hidden (27) even if they are not in or behind cover. Any Tyranids with a ranged attack may also deploy on overwatch (27).

Tyranid Attack

Tyranids only.

Annihilate enemy:

Win game

Each time a Tyranid model is slain, place it to one side. Creatures from the Individuals and Support section of the army list can be brought back into play at the start of the next Tyranid turn. Creatures from the Broods section of the army list can only be brought back once enough models have been killed to form a new brood. Roll a D6 for each brood or individual that re-enters play at the start of your turn. On a 1, you must wait until next turn to try again. Otherwise, you may deploy them on your table edge.

STRATEGY CARDS

Each player draws one Strategy Card at random for each 1000 points (or fraction thereof) in his army. Tyranid commanders do not draw these cards but instead follow other rules (207).

Ambush

You may play this card on one of your squads during deployment (10). You may deploy the squad up to 24" from the table edge, and you may place them in hiding (27) if they are in or behind cover. In addition, the squad begins the game on overwatch (27).

Barrage

Play this card during any of your shooting phases (31). Take the 3" blast marker (33) and place it anywhere on the battlefield, then roll a Scatter die. Scatter the marker 2D6" in the direction indicated. Models hit by the marker in its final resting place suffer an S5 hit inflicting D10 damage, a -3 save modifier, and having an armour penetration (35) of D6+D10+5.

Bombing Run

This attack uses the Thudd Gun template. Nominate a direction of attack and place template 1 so that the arrow points in the desired direction. This is the point of release. The whole blast marker (33) then travels D6" in the direction of the arrow, as the bombs are carried forward before they impact. Resolve placing the other three markers as with a Thudd Gun (263). Any model wholly under a template is hit automatically; models partially underneath are hit on a D6 roll of 4+. Models are hit as if by a Heavy Flamer (251), so resolve damage, saving throws and catching fire (23) as normal.

Booby Traps

You may play this card at any time to activate the traps. Take a counter and place it anywhere on the table; models within 3" of the counter will trigger a booby trap on a 5+ on D6. A 2" blast marker (33) is centred on any model triggering such a trap. Hit models suffer an S4 hit with a -1 save modifier. The Traps counter remains in play and will attack any models which move within 3" of it.

Brilliant Strategy

This card adds D6 to your army's Strategy Rating (10) for the entire game.

Covering Fire

You may play this card on one of your squads during deployment. This squad has been ordered to cover the rest of the army as it moves into position. The squad is so well prepared it may add +1 to all its to hit rolls for shooting in the first turn. In addition, the squad may start the battle in overwatch (27).

Crack Shot

You may play this card during your own shooting phase (31) when you hit an enemy vehicle but before the armour penetration (35) roll is made. For that shot only, the armour value is halved (against Tyranids, the target's Toughness is halved), rounding up. This card will not work for weapons which use a blast marker (33).

Craven Cowardice

You can play this card on an enemy squad with broken (51) morale at any time. The broken squad completely scatters; remove the remaining models as casualties. May also be played on shaken (162) Space Marines to cause them to break.

Delayed

You may play this card before your opponent sets up. A single enemy squad or vehicle or your choice is delayed by infiltrators fighting behind the lines and does not deploy with the rest of the enemy force. Instead, it arrives during the opposing player's first movement phase (26) and must move on from the edge of the table, starting at a point inside the enemy's deployment zone (10).

Divine Inspiration

You may play this card at the start of the game. All of your troops add +1 to their Ld for the entire game.

Flank March

You may play this card during any of your own movement phases (26) after the first turn of the game. You may move a squad or vehicle which did not deploy at the start of the game onto one of the "neutral" edges of the battlefield. A Leadership test (52) is required for this to succeed; if failed, the unit may not enter this turn but may try again in the next turn.

Forced March

You may play this card at the beginning of the game before forces are deployed. You may deploy any of your force up to 18" from the table edge. Any squads which you wish to deploy between 12" and 18" onto the table must be deployed before any enemy forces, regardless of relative Strategy Ratings.

Insane Courage

You may play this card instead of rolling when you attempt to Rally (51) — the broken squad automatically recovers and may immediately take another normal turn.

Last Gasp

Though mortally wounded, one of your warriors refuses to go down without a fight. Play this card when a model in your army is reduced to zero wounds. This may be a character, if you wish. Just before the fighter dies he manages to loose off one final burst of fire from a pistol (256) or basic weapon (240) (not a heavy weapon (249)), or throw a grenade (32). Resolve this as normal shooting, outside the usual turn sequence. Once the effects of the shot have been worked out the model is removed. If the model is in close combat (36), this shot must be directed at a model in base contact (yes, he can even pull a pin on a grenade!).

Look Out, Sir — Aaargh!

You may play this card when any of your characters (15) is killed for any reason, providing there is another of your models within 3" at the time. The nearby trooper (of your choice, if more than one is eligible) sacrifices himself for the cause and is slain. The character model survives. Presumably, a shrine or something is erected somewhere in the fallen grunt's honour.

Malfunction

You may play this card when the enemy fires a Heavy Weapon (249). The weapon in question explodes; the model using it takes an S4 hit with a -1 save modifier; if the weapon is mounted on a vehicle, roll on the Weapon Damage Chart to see what effect the explosion has.

Minefield

Play this card at the start of the battle before deploying forces. Part of the battlefield has been littered with deadly mines, shown by an area no larger than 10"x4" (or an equivalent area). The minefield must be in your half of the battlefield. Any model moving into, or starting its movement inside, the minefield will set off a mine of a D6 roll of 1 or 2. Any troops which move over the minefield, including those with jump packs and similar equipment, may set off the mines (there are small anti-grav mines in the air as well).

Mines inflict a single Strength 6 hit that does D6 damage with a -2 saving throw modifier. Vehicles are hit on the location in contact with the minefield (tracks, wheels, legs) with a Penetration of 6+2D6+D12. Skimmers can set off the mines, in which case a randomly determined location will be hit. Models in the minefield which do not move have no chance of setting off a mine.

Reinforcements

You may play this card at the start of any of your movement phases (26). Pick one of your squads or vehicles which had been destroyed during the game and return it to play, moving it onto your table edge but not within 24" of enemy models. The enemy scores Victory Points (17) normally for wiping out the model(s) a second time.

Sabotage

Friendly troops have managed to infiltrate the enemy army and cut off its lines of supply and communication. Ammo dumps have been captured or destroyed leaving the opposing army short of ammunition. Play this card on an enemy squad just after it has fired for the first time. This squad is dangerously low on ammo. Roll a D6 for each affected model at the start of each subsequent shooting phase (31), on a roll of 4+ the model cannot fire that turn while they desperately search for more shells or another power pack!

Saved!

You may play this card at any time on a model (not vehicle) which has just been eliminated for any reason. The model avoids its fate and does not die. If the model is within the area of effect of a blast marker (33) which remains in play, move it outside the edge of the marker in a random direction.

Special Issue

You may play this card on one of your character (15) models at the start of the game. Shuffle all the remaining Wargear Cards (17) together and then draw one at random. The model is permitted to keep the card, even he already carries his full complement of Wargear Cards and even if it is a card he would not normally be able to use: a Space Marine could keep an Eldar-only weapon, for example. He may redraw once if the first card is unusable to him: a non-psyker character drawing a Force weapon, for example.

Strafing Run

You may play this card during any of your shooting phases (31). Pick any enemy squad; that squad suffers a hit as from a twin-linked Autocannon (249). A Jam result means no effect.

Surprise Assault

Play this card at the start of the battle after deployment. Your opponents are so surprised and hurried, that they cannot set overwatch and may not make any run or charge moves in their first turn. Vehicles cannot accelerate on the first turn. In their second and subsequent turns the enemy army may act normally. If the enemy is allowed to start the battle in overwatch (27) for any reason, such as the Ambush (19) Strategy card or Tyranid Trap (18) mission, the squads on overwatch must pass a Leadership test (52) or lose it.

Traitor

You may play this card at the beginning of the game to increase your force's Strategy Rating by D3. Alternately, you can hold onto this card, and use it to cancel out any one of the following Strategy Cards: Barrage (19), Reinforcements (21), Flank March (20, the enemy force counts as Delayed (20) instead), Booby Traps (19), Brilliant Strategy (19), Forced March (20), Delayed (20), or Ambush (19).

General Rules

Ultimate Sacrifice

You may play this card when the enemy throws a grenade at one of your squads. A heroic individual in the squad makes the ultimate sacrifice and hurls themselves onto the grenade, shielding the rest of the squad. Nominate one of the models in the squad. Resolve the effects of the grenade against this model only, even if the grenade normally uses a blast marker. If the grenade leaves a blast marker (33) in place (such as a plasma grenade (274)), move any other models to the outside edge of the template.

Virus Outbreak

You may play this card at any time. Place a 2" blast marker (33) anywhere on the table and treat it as a Virus (275) grenade template. The template remains in play for the remainder of the game.

Note: This card has been deemed too powerful by most players and even GW developers of the time, and it is common to take it out of the deck before dealing. Alternately, the effects only apply during the turn the card is used.

WEAPON RULES

ARMOUR SAVES

Most models wear some form of Armour which protects them from damage. Any time the model is hit by a close combat (36) or ranged (31) weapon, roll the appropriate Armour Save. If the model makes the roll, it may ignore that hit.

Saving Throw Modifiers

If a weapon does not list any specific Saving Throw modifier, it is by default based upon the Strength:

Strength	Save Modifier
3 or less	0
4	-1
5	-2
6	-3
7	-4
8	-5
9 or more	-6

Unmodified Saves

Certain wargear items (and some special abilities) grant an additional saving throw which is not modified. It doesn't matter if you are being hit with a club or a Lascannon, the save remains the same.

A model may only have one Wargear item (such as a Defensive Field) which provides an unmodified save. A model may only ever have one energy field item, whether currently activated or not.

DAMAGE

Even if a model's armour is penetrated, it usually has a chance to avoid being hurt. For each hit that is scored on a target, roll a D6 to see if the hit wounds the target.

Consult this table for the minimum score needed to wound:

		Target's Toughness
		1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Str of Hit	1	4	5	6	6
	2	3	4	5	6	6
	3	2	3	4	5	6	6
	4	2	2	3	4	5	6	6
	5	2	2	2	3	4	5	6	6
	6	2	2	2	2	3	4	5	6	6
	7	2	2	2	2	2	3	4	5	6	6
	8	2	2	2	2	2	2	3	4	5	6
	9	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	3	4	5
	10	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	3	4

CATCHING ON FIRE

Some fire-based weapons may cause their targets to catch on fire even if they survive the initial damage-computing. Roll a D6 for each model surviving a hit from such a weapon; on a 4+, that model catches on fire. Models on fire must roll on the following chart at the start of each turn:

Weapon Rules

Fire Test Chart (D6)
1-5	Fire continues to burn, causing another automatic hit as with the weapon that caused the model to catch on fire. If the target survives, it will move randomly and is unable to do anything else this turn. Squad coherency (16) rules are suspended for troops on fire.
6	The flames are put out; the model may not move or fire during this turn, but may fight normally thereafter.

Any model within 1" may attempt to beat out the flames (instead of shooting); roll a D6 — on a 6, the flames are put out. If more than one model is assigned to beat the flames, the roll is given a bonus of +1 for each additional model. Vehicles (including Dreadnoughts), as well as models in Terminator Armour (237), Frenzied (52) troops, and Tyranid (212) models may choose to ignore the flames and continue fighting as normal.

FORCE WEAPONS

These weapons count as psychic attacks. During hand-to-hand combat (36), the weapon adds the wielder's psychic Mastery Level (40) to the user's Strength rating. If the weapon has a Strength rating of its own, that be may used instead if it is higher than the previous value. Force weapons wound daemons (55) automatically; the normal daemonic aura (55) saving throws do not apply.

Phases of a Game Turn

MOVEMENT PHASE

During the Movement Phase, the player whose turn it is may move any of his models. Foot troops — those models with a Movement (M) characteristic — may normally be moved a number of inches equal to their M in any direction; rotating the model is free of charge, with certain exceptions (see below). Vehicles and models lacking a Movement characteristic must be moved in different fashion as outlined below. Models may be moved in any order desired by the player, though convention is that once moved, a model may not be moved further in this turn.

MOVING

The Movement Phase is the first in the Turn Sequence (16) and is made up of the following sub-phases:

Declaring Charges

Declare which of your models are charging (27).

Compulsory Moves

Some movement — such as that demanded by the effects of a gas weapon or vehicles moving out of control (29) — is mandatory, or compulsory. It is all taken in this sub-phase.

Move Chargers

The models which you nominated to charge in the Declaring Charges sub-phase are moved now.

Normal Moves

Each model may move up to its Move characteristic (M) in inches. Turning is free of charge for non-vehicle models, but the direction a model is facing at the end of its movement is important for determining where the model may shoot; see the Shooting Phase (31) for more information. Models may incur movement penalties for terrain; see below.

Terrain Types

Not all terrain is equally negotiable. It takes more effort to cross a rapidly-moving stream than to run across a field of grass. To represent this reality in the game, terrain is divided into the following categories, each with its own penalties for models attempting to move across it:

Open Terrain

No penalty. Brush, scrub, woods, debris, ruins, boulders, crevasses, stairs, ramps, steps.

Difficult Terrain

½ normal movement. Steep slopes, thick forests, streams, shallow water, marshes, soft sand, ladders.

Very Difficult Terrain

¼ normal movement. Almost sheer slopes, tar pits, swamps, pools, fast flowing rivers.

Impassible Terrain

No movement allowed. Deep rivers, lakes, sheer cliffs, very high walls.

Obstacles

If an obstacle is no more than 1" high and/or 1" broad, models may move over it without penalty. If an obstacle is more than 1" tall but no more than twice the height of the model trying to cross it, the model can still clamber over, consuming half of its movement to do so. If an obstacle is more than twice the height of the model trying to cross it, it counts as impassible terrain to that model. Penalties are cumulative for terrain typed obstacles.

OVERWATCH

Vehicles, squads, and characters (15) may go into overwatch. If a unit did nothing but rotate in its movement phase, it may go into overwatch. This declaration must be made at the start of its controller's Movement Phase. A squad cannot partially go into overwatch: it's all or nothing.

Troops on overwatch skip their Shooting Phase (31) in order to be able to fire during their opponent's turn. At any time during the opponent's turn, a squad on overwatch may remove the overwatch counter and fire on the opponent, interrupting their opponent's turn (but not an action: once an opponent has begun an action for a squad, vehicle, or model, it must be completed before any overwatch fire can take place). For example, if an opponent declares a target for their squad, you cannot then interrupt with overwatch to shoot the enemy squad first. Troops firing from overwatch take a -1 penalty if firing on troops emerging from or moving into cover.

Unused overwatch counters are removed at the start of the next turn. Troops shot at while on overwatch must immediately take a Leadership test (52). If it is failed, the models on overwatch lose their overwatch status.

CHARGING

A whole squad charges together. Models which are charging move at double their normal move and gain a +1 bonus to their Combat Score in hand-to-hand combat (36). A model cannot engage another model in hand-to-hand combat without charging. Charging models may not participate in the Shooting Phase (31) until they leave hand-to-hand combat. A charging model must engage the closest enemy model, but may ignore enemy models already engaged in hand-to-hand combat. You may charge a unit even if it is hiding.

HIDING

A whole squad hides together. If a squad did not run, and ends its turn in cover from the enemy, it may go into hiding. Line of sight cannot be drawn to hidden troops, and as a result they cannot be fired on. Cavalry, vehicles, Dreadnoughts, and Terminators cannot hide. If a hidden model moves or shoots it is instantly visible again — even if only some members of the squad are revealed, the entire squad is revealed. If a model starts its turn hidden and moves at normal rate through only concealing terrain, it may keep its hidden status. Troops which are already hidden may go into Overwatch (27).

Models may detect hidden troops within a circular area, the radius of which is their Initiative characteristic in inches. Detected models may be fired at normally by the troops that spotted them and any friendly models equipped with a communicator (which is to say nearly all friendly models).

RUNNING

A whole squad runs together. Running models double their normal move, but cannot fire in the shooting phase. Troops may only run if there is no enemy within 8" of them.

TELEPORTING

Some squads or models may teleport — either by gift of a Wargear Card (17) or another piece of equipment, for example, Terminator Armour (237). To teleport a squad, place one model from the squad on the table where you wish it to be teleported. Roll a Scatter Die and 2D10. A double-1 means the whole squad has been lost in the warp (read "wiped out and gone for good"). Otherwise, the model is moved in the direction of the arrow the number of inches rolled on the 2D10. If the model is moved off the edge of the table by this scatter, the attempt has failed and the squad must try again next turn. If the model ends up in a building or other solid matter, roll for deviation again from that point.

Once the first model has been deviated, the rest of the squad can be placed anywhere within 2" of it. Teleported models can shoot and fight in hand-to-hand combat (36) on the turn they arrive, but do not count as charging (27) if they teleport directly into base-to-base contact with enemy models. Troops that have paid the points cost to teleport into a battle may teleport out again during the owning player's turn. The squad is simply removed from the table during the player's movement phase and may not return later in the game.

VEHICLE MOVEMENT

Each Vehicle has three movement rates: Slow, Combat and Fast. These move rates are listed on the vehicle's datafax, and indicate the maximum number of inches the vehicle may move when traveling at that rate. Unless specially arranged otherwise, vehicles start the game at Slow rate. They may change their rate by one band per turn — for example, from Slow to Combat, but not from Slow to Fast. When traveling at Slow Rate, a vehicle may make any number of unrestricted turns during its move. For Combat Speed, up to two 45° turns are allowed. A vehicle traveling at Fast Speed may make only one turn of 45° at any point during its movement. There are additional considerations depending on the motive type of the vehicle:

Tracked Vehicles

Can move unhindered over most terrain — can only move through woods at a maximum of half their Slow Speed. Tracked vehicles moving through a bog or swampy ground at Combat Speed or above risks becoming stuck — roll D6; on a 6, the vehicle is stuck for the remainder of the game and may not even turn. Tracked vehicles may move over obstacles at Slow Speed without penalty; at faster speeds, they collide and cause damage as normal.

Wheeled Vehicles

Cannot cross difficult (26) or very difficult (26) terrain at Combat Speed or faster, cannot move through a wood at all and may not cross obstacles (26) of any kind.

Bikes And Trikes

Bike squads have their squad coherency (16) extended to 6". They are capable of going from Slow to Fast Speed in a single turn, but must decelerate at normal rate. Bikes may cross difficult or very difficult ground, including woods, at Slow Speed only — at faster speeds, they crash and incur damage. Bikes cannot cross obstacles (26) of any kind; they will crash if they attempt to do so, and they may not cross water other than shallow streams and fords.

Mounting and dismounting (29) a bike follows the normal rules with one exception — the hit taken when boarding or leaving a bike moving at 20" or more only has a -3 saving throw modifier. Bikes in collisions (30) with other vehicles will only cause a hit to the location hit on the other vehicle — do not roll for each other location as normal. Instead of firing bike-mounted weapons during the shooting phase (31), riders may fire their own personal weapons in a 360° arc. Bikes may also make skid turns (28) and hit and run attacks (28), as described below.

Skid Turns — Bikes Only

Bikes traveling at Combat Speed or above may make as many Skid Turns as the player wishes, of up to 45° apiece. Skid Turns may be made immediately after a normal turn or immediately after each other. For each Skid Turn made, roll a D6 and compare to this table:

Bike Speed		Result
Combat	Fast
—	1	The bike crashes and is destroyed together with its rider. The flaming wreck travels straight forward for the remainder of its maximum Fast Move, and then explodes with a 1" radius causing an S4 hit on any target within the area. If the bike hits something before its move is complete, work out a collision before the bike explodes.
1	2	No weapons may be fired this turn, including from the rider(s).
2-3	3-4	Rider may not fire any weapons, including bike weapons, this turn. Passengers or sidecar crewmen may shoot as normal.
4+	5+	Move as normal.

Hit and Run Attacks — Bikes & Skimmers Only

Riders on trikes, bikes and skimmers (29) may make hand-to-hand combat (36) attacks at other models as they pass them during their move. Use normal HtH rules, except that each player may only roll one Attack Die no matter what their model's Attack characteristic is, and no matter what the models are armed with. The biker is considered to be charging (27) and to have a better Initiative for the purposes of tie-breaking — also, no parries (37) may be made by either model. A rider may make only one hit-and-run attack each turn in this way, and may not shoot in the same turn in which such an attack was made.

Movement Phase

Walkers & Dreadnoughts

Can walk underwater along a river or sea bed at half rate. Walls over the height of the model's knee will stop it moving over them, but they are big enough to just push their way through hedges, etc. Additionally, all walker-mounted weapons may be fired independently by the same crewman (16). Walkers have a Movement characteristic just like foot troops. They must move straight forward, but may change their facing by up to 90° at the start and at the end of their movement for free. They may change facing in the midst of movement at the cost of 1" per 90° change. Dreadnoughts and walkers may avoid collisions (30) like foot troops.

Skimmers

May move over terrain features without penalty. Skimmers must land or hover for troops to mount or dismount (29), and may change their altitude by any amount. Skimmers may only be engaged by enemies in hand-to-hand combat (36) if it has landed. Skimmers may make hit-and-run attacks (28).

Pop-Up Attack — Skimmers Only

A skimmer that was either stationary or traveled at Slow Speed in its previous movement phase is allowed to make a pop-up attack. You must declare this at the start of your move phase. Instead of moving across the table, the skimmer moves upwards; place the skimmer on a mug or other object to indicate this. Enemy models on overwatch (27) are allowed to shoot at the skimmer as it pops up.

In the shooting phase (31), skimmers making a pop-up attack may trace their line of sight from a point 12" above the table (as can enemies firing from overwatch, but they add 12" to their traced range). After the attack has completed, the skimmer drops back down.

Boarding & Leaving Vehicles

Vehicles capable of transporting models other than their crew indicate this in their description. Any number of models may enter or leave a vehicle during a turn, up to the total number of models that can be transported within it. Models may board a vehicle which was stationary or moving at Slow Speed in its previous turn if they are within 2" of its side or rear after they have made a normal move.

Models leaving a vehicle may leap out at any point in the vehicle's move, interrupting it if necessary. These models are positioned touching the vehicle's side or rear and may immediately make a normal move. Squad coherency (16) must be maintained between models leaving and any models still inside.

High-Speed Dismounts

If a vehicle is moving up to 10", then troops may leave or board it without risk. If a vehicle is moving more than 10", each model boarding or leaving sustains an automatic hit, allowing a normal armour save, causing one wound, and with a Strength value as below:

Vehicle's Move	0-10"	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20+
Strength of Hit	None	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Save Mod	None	0	0	0	-1	-1	-2	-2	-3	-3	-4

Out of Control!

Vehicles moving out of control are moved before other models during the Compulsory Movement phase.

1-2	Turns 45° left and moves
3-4	Moves straight ahead
5-6	Turns 45° right and moves

Control may be regained if a slain crew member (16) was the cause of the Out of Control status and if another crew member may take over for his comrade. The vehicle is moved 3D6" but no faster than its maximum speed. Roll a D6 to figure out which way the vehicle moves:

Collisions and Rams

Vehicles moving faster than 10" which move into another vehicle, a building, a piece of terrain or an obstacle that it cannot cross results in a collision. Vehicles traveling more than 10" may also deliberately "steamroller" hapless foot troops. If the collision target does not have Ram Values listed on its Datafax, consult the following table:

	Creature*	Bike	Buggy	Dreadnought*	Larger
Strength	Toughness	5	6	7	8
Damage	1	D4	D6	D10	D12
Save Mod	-1	-2	-3	-4	-5
*Note that creatures and dreadnoughts may not deliberately ram things; their values are included here for when they are rammed or collide accidentally

In a collision involving two vehicles, the locations where the two vehicles actually touch suffer an automatic hit. For each of all the other locations, roll a D6; on a 4+, that location suffers a hit as well. For each hit location, compute armour penetration (35) by rolling D6+(Ram Strength)+(Damage). Note that if Damage is not a variable amount (e.g., D6 or D12), it is not added. Exposed crew which are hit in a collision suffer a hit as normal with the Strength, Damage, and Save Modifier indicated.

In a collision involving a vehicle and a building or obstacle (26), roll for locations that are hit as above — the location physically contacting the obstacle is automatically hit. Use the vehicle's own Ram Values to calculate armour penetration as above, but the penetration cannot be larger than the Armour Value of the building itself. Buildings (13) struck will suffer a hit with the same armour penetration as the vehicle striking it. If the armour value of the building is penetrated, the vehicle will blow a hole in the wall the size of the width of the vehicle.

Creatures which are run over may attempt to dive out of the way. For each model, roll a D6 and compare the model's Initiative. If the roll is greater, or if the roll is 6 regardless of Initiative, the dive fails and the model suffers a hit. Creatures successfully diving out of the way are placed on either side of the vehicle and are not harmed. The second creature diving adds +1 to his Initiative when comparing it to the D6 result, the third creature adds +2, and so on. The vehicle suffers a randomly-located hit with a penetration equal to the creature's Toughness +D6 for each creature they hit during movement this turn.

Repairing a Damaged Vehicle

Some models may attempt to repair a single damaged hit location on a vehicle, dreadnought, or damaged support weapon. While doing so, the model cannot shoot or fight in close combat. At the end of the turn, roll a D6:

1-2	Hopeless. The model has wasted his time.
3-4	Possible Repair. The damage is not repaired this turn, but you may continue to work on it. At the end of this further turn, the damage will be repaired on a 4+ , while a score of 3 or below indicates the damage is beyond repair.
5-6	Repair. The model puts good all damage sustained.

SHOOTING PHASE

During the Shooting Phase, the player whose turn it is may assign shooting actions to all of his models capable of ranged fire — all models with a BS characteristic, but not models that ran (27), for example. Like with movement, the order in which shots are determined is completely left to the player, but if a squad is assigned to fire, firing for all models in that squad must be resolved before any other models may fire. For each firing action, the player must Choose a Target, Roll To Hit, and Roll to Wound/Damage. The defending player then gets to make any applicable armour- or personal field-related saving throws.

GENERAL RULES

Most models may fire within a 90° arc to their front. Exceptions are noted with the model or weapons description. Models must be able to draw Line of Sight to their target. You may not fire “through” a model at another — whether the interposing model is friendly or enemy. Line of Sight cannot be drawn more than 2” into a wood.

Move-or-Fire Weapons

Certain weapons are designated as Move-or-Fire. If the model carrying that weapon moves during a turn, it may not fire that weapon during the same turn. Vehicles, including Dreadnoughts, may ignore this restriction for Basic (240) or Heavy (249) weapons, but not for Support (258) weapons.

CHOOSING A TARGET

Monstrous Creatures	All Greater Daemons, Chaos Dreadnoughts, Beasts of Nurgle, and Champions riding Chaos Juggernauts or Steeds of Slaanesh, Carnifexes, Hive Tyrants, Lictors
Vehicles	All normal vehicles, and man-sized models riding bikes
Man-Sized Creatures	Any models not included in other categories
Smaller Creatures	Nurglings, Termagants

Usually, a model may fire any of its ranged weapons at targets within 90 degrees of the direction it is facing. Exceptions to this are noted in the description of the unit, most notably with vehicles, whose weapons may have side or turret-mounted firing arcs. A player may not measure the distance between his models and his opponents before firing.

The Closest Target

As a base rule, all members of a squad must fire at the closest target. However, there are several exceptions:

- 1) Characters (15) are always allowed to fire at whatever legal target they please.
- 2) A squad or model may ignore vehicles or Monstrous Creatures in favour of other targets, or other targets in favour of vehicles or Monstrous Creatures. So you can choose the closest vehicle, the closest Monstrous Creature, or the closest Man-Sized or smaller creature.
- 3) Smaller creatures can always be ignored in favour of other targets unless they are within 6” of the firing models. If these creatures are within 6”, the unit must fire at them in preference to other targets.
- 4) Models engaged in hand-to-hand combat (36) and models with broken (51) morale may be ignored.
- 5) Targets in cover may be ignored in favour of targets in the open.
- 6) Buildings or a specific game objectives may always be chosen as a target — e.g., storage tanks.

The Same Target

All members of a squad must fire on the same target. However, there are exceptions to this as well:

- 1) Members of a squad not able to fire at the target because of arc restrictions may fire at a different target.
- 2) Squad members armed with Special or Heavy weapons may choose a different target than the rest of their squad.

Grenade Throwing

Grenades (272) are thrown during the Shooting Phase. Some members of a squad may throw grenades while other models use other weapons, but all must choose the same target. A grenade may not be thrown more than twice the thrower's Strength in inches — e.g., an S4 Marine may not throw more than 8" away.

Characters & Heavy Weapons

Characters normally may pick any target they like, ignoring the guidelines described above. However, if the character wields a Heavy Weapon (249), he must abide by the normal rules, just like any other unit.

Choosing a Target with Unusual Weaponry

The above rules apply to all weapons — even those which produce blast markers (33) or those which use a special template (e.g., Flamers (241)). This also means that multiple hits from sustained fire (34) weapons must all be applied to the same target unit. If you are firing a template or blast marker weapon, it has to be fired at the closest unit (with the usual exceptions as noted above) and it would have to be placed so that most of the models hit were out of the target unit.

TO HIT THE TARGET

Subtract the Ballistic Skill (BS) of the shooter from 7, and then add all penalties and other modifiers. The result is the number on a D6 required to hit the target. A roll of a 1 always misses — even the best sharpshooter has an off day. Some basic modifiers are shown below:

-1	Target is in Soft Cover (33)
-2	Target is in Hard Cover (33)
-1	Target moved between 10" and 20" in its last Movement phase.
-2	Target moved more than 20" in its last Movement Phase.
-1	Shooting from a vehicle moving at Fast Rate.
+1	Shooting at a Large Target (32)

7+ To Hit

In certain situations, it may be that the shooter needs a 7 or greater to hit his target. This is still possible, but the shooter must first roll a 6 on his initial D6 roll. He must then make another D6 roll, and score as follows:

Roll Required	7	8	9	10
D6 Score Needed	4+	5+	6	Cannot hit

Firing on Troops in Hand-to-Hand Combat

Troops firing on models engaged in hand-to-hand combat (36) must randomize their shots between all participants engaged in the hand-to-hand combat. A model in hand-to-hand combat may not shoot weapons during the shooting phase. For the purposes of this randomization, all monstrous-sized creatures (e.g., Greater Daemons) count as being twice as large as man-sized opponents, and all smaller-than-man-sized creatures count as being half as large.

Fast Moving Targets

If a target moved between 10" and 20" in its last Movement Phase (26), all shots taken are at -1 to hit. If the target moved more than 20", all shots are at -2. This penalty is in addition to any other modifiers due to cover or position.

Large Targets

Large Targets are those which are elephant-sized or bigger — tanks, for example. Firing on a Large Target confers a +1 To Hit bonus.

BLAST MARKERS

See also Grenades (32), Scatter in Buildings (33). If a weapon uses a blast marker of some kind, nominate a target model (obeying the normal targeting restrictions), place the appropriate marker so that its centre is directly over that model, and roll To Hit (32) as normal. If you hit, then the marker stays where it is; models whose bases are wholly under the marker are hit automatically, and models whose bases are even partially covered are hit on a 4+ roll on D6. If you miss, roll the Scatter and Artillery Dice together:

Scatter Die	Artillery Die	Result Description
Arrow	Number	Move the marker the number of inches on the Artillery die in the direction shown by the arrow
Hit	Number	As above
Arrow	Misfire	The shot has no effect at all
Hit	Misfire	Place the blast market centred over the shooter; the weapon is destroyed

Maximum Scatter

A marker may not scatter more than half the distance from the shooter to the target. A model throwing a grenade at a target 8" away may not scatter more than 4" in any direction, regardless of the number rolled on the Artillery Die.

Targeting the Ground

Nominate a target and place the marker where desired. To hit the exact spot elected, you must roll a 6 on D6; the firing model's BS is ignored, as are all normal modifiers To Hit. If you don't roll a 6, scatter the marker as normal with the following exception — a scatter roll of "Hit & Misfire" is treated as an "Arrow & Misfire".

Scatter in Buildings

When using weapons with a blast marker (33) indoors, roll to scatter normally; if the centre of the blast marker is within Line of Sight of the shooter, then leave it where it is. Otherwise, move the blast marker back in a straight line towards the shooter until its centre is within Line of Sight. Additionally, if a blast marker detonates in an enclosed space it adds +1 Strength and -1 to its Saving Throw Modifier. Flamers (241) and gas weapons add +1 to their die roll to affect models in a confined space. Obviously, models on the other side of a wall will not be affected by the blast marker unless there is a window or door.

TEMPLATES

No to-hit roll is required when using template weapons. Simply take the appropriately sized template (the weapon's entry will tell you which template to use) and place it so that the pointed end is touching the base of the model firing the weapon and the rounded end is covering the target. Any models completely covered by the template are hit automatically and any models partly covered are hit on a D6 roll of 4+. Damage rolls and armour saving throws are made as normal. Note that to-hit modifiers for target speed, cover, and so on do not apply to template weapons.

COVER

Hard Cover

Walls, ditches, trenches, vehicles, rocks, buildings, and other features which obscure a shooter's target but also offer physical protection. Models firing at models in Hard Cover take a -2 To Hit penalty. If more of a squad is in the open than in cover, ignore the To Hit modifier. If some of the unit is in Soft Cover (33), and others are in Hard Cover, use the Soft Cover modifier for all members of the unit. Models anywhere in craters — no matter how large the crater's rim is — are assumed to be in Hard Cover.

Soft Cover

Features which partially obscure a shooter's target, but offer no substantial protection. Vegetation is the best example. Models firing at models in Soft Cover take a -1 To Hit penalty. If more of a unit is in the open than in cover, ignore the To Hit modifier. If some of the unit is in Soft Cover, and others are in Hard Cover (33), use the Soft Cover modifier for all members of the squad.

SUSTAINED FIRE

Models firing weapons capable of “Sustained Fire-n” may choose to roll up to n dice of Sustained Fire, to a minimum of 1. First, nominate a target and roll to see if you hit as normal. If you hit the target, you can roll any number of Sustained Fire dice up to n — for example, if you were firing a Heavy Bolter (250) at a squad of Space Marines, and hit the target you nominate, you could roll 1 or 2 Sustained Fire dice because a Heavy Bolter has Sustained Fire-2. Add up the numbers on the SF dice; this is the total number of hits that are made with the firing weapon.

The first of these hits must be allocated to the original target, but the others may be assigned to other enemy targets in the same unit within 4” of the original (see Choosing a Target (31)). Additional models hit cannot be in better cover than the original — you can’t target a model in Soft Cover (33) and assign sustained fire hits to enemy models in Hard Cover (33), for example (unless you take the Hard Cover modifier to hit the original target), even if the models are in the same unit. Line of Sight must still be possible between the firing model and any nominated targets. Allocate hits prior to rolling for damage (23); work out damage as normal.

House Rule: The original wording is “can roll one or more sustained fire dice”. If you prefer to focus on the “one or more” bit, then a minimum of 1 die is required. If you prefer to note that “can” before all of that, you can read the whole deal as an option and choose not to roll any sustained fire dice. Andy Chambers noted in 2019 that “As I recall the weapons that use sustained fire are balanced around the idea that they’ll jam/blow up on occasion so taking the more charitable reading and allowing single shots or less dice will make them more powerful/cheaper than originally intended. I don’t think Assault cannon need the help to be honest.”

Jams

Place a Jam counter next to the firing model for each Jam result on the dice. To unjam a weapon, the model must skip its Shooting Phase, at the end of which one Jam counter is removed. Until there are no Jam counters next to a model, that model may not fire the jammed weapon. The original hit and all other SF hits are still calculated; any Jams are assumed to happen at the end of the shooting phase. Continuing the Heavy Bolter example from earlier, if you rolled a 2 and a Jam, you would still work out 3 hits.

VEHICLE SHOOTING

Weapons mounted on a vehicle may be fired only by crew members (16) inside the vehicle, one crew member to a weapon. The exception to this is Linked Weapons, which fire in tandem and require only a single gunner. Models being transported in a vehicle may fire their weapons as normal during the shooting phase if the vehicle is open-topped. If enclosed, the availability of firing depends on the location of access hatches, gun ports, etc. Both players should agree before the game about how many shots are allowed from where on all vehicles to be played with.

Shooting At Vehicles

Models may shoot at a vehicle if they can draw Line of Sight to it; normal Choosing a Target (31) rules apply. To gain a Soft (33) or Hard (33) Cover penalty, at least one-third of the vehicle must be covered. Most vehicles also count as Large Targets (32). Weapons with Sustained Fire (34) work against vehicles just like they work against foot troopers. If a hit is scored, roll D6 and consult the Hit Location table on the vehicle’s datafax. Keep rolling until a result that makes sense based on the position of the shooter results — obviously a foot trooper standing 2” in front of a Land Raider will not be able to hit the rear of the vehicle.

For weapons that involve a Blast Marker (33), position the template as normal anywhere “feasible” on the vehicle. Roll to hit, etc. as normal. The location on which the template is centred is automatically hit; any other locations covered (partially or not) are hit on a D6 roll of 4+.

“It’s Gonna Blow!” Rule

Models in base-to-base contact with a vehicle that suffers a damage result that makes it blow up get a special move like a follow-up move (37). Each model may move up to D6” directly away from the vehicle before the explosion is resolved. Models running from the explosion may not engage new opponents in hand-to-hand combat (36).

Shooting Phase

Armour Penetration

Most weapons have an Armour Penetration value — this is usually a combination of numbers and die-rolling, e.g., “3D6+5”. For hits for which there is no available Armour Penetration value, roll a D6 and add to it the Strength of the weapon causing the hit. If the weapon causes a variable number of wounds (e.g., D6 or D12), roll the dice indicated and add them to the total.

However it is figured out, compare the Armour Penetration value rolled to the thickness of the armour on the location that is struck — this can be found on the vehicle’s Datafax. If the Penetration value is equal to or greater than the Armour Value at the location hit, the shot penetrates and you must roll on the appropriate Penetration Table for that vehicle (also found on the vehicle’s Datafax). Shots made at range lose strength over distance, and may have penalties to their Armour Penetration value as follows:

Range	<24”	24-48”	48-72”	72”+
Penetration Modifier	0	-1	-2	-3

Once a location has been destroyed, a crewman killed, or a weapon destroyed, subsequent hits to that location are not re-rolled and cannot cause damage; the energy of the hit is absorbed by the existing wreckage.

INDIRECT FIRE

When firing indirectly, you may fire at any enemy models that are within range of the weapon, even if a direct Line of Sight can’t be drawn. This mode ignores any bonuses due to targeter (236). When using template weapons, models wholly or partially under the template are hit on a 4+ instead of just partially-covered models.

HAND-TO-HAND COMBAT PHASE

The Hand-to-Hand (HtH) phase is special because it affords the ability for both players to fight and inflict casualties, in contrast to the Movement and Shooting phases in which the player whose turn it is does everything and the other players just sit there and watch her.

Let's say it's your turn, and it's the HtH phase. For every one of your models that is in base-to-base contact with an enemy model, a round of HtH combat must be fought. Models in base-to-base contact with more than one enemy model must fight one round of close combat for each enemy model in contact; this is explained in more detail later (37). These combats are not optional and must take place, except where overruled by more specific rules (for example, some wargear or abilities allow escapes from close combat).

You get to decide the sequence of the combats, however, just like in the movement and shooting phases. Combats can be resolved in any order you desire.

For each combat, follow this procedure:

- Roll Attack Dice
- Pick the best die
- Apply modifiers
- Determine winner
- Resolve hits on losing model

Roll Attack Dice

Each player rolls $nD6$, where n is equal to the A of the model in question. An extra die may be rolled if the fighting model has two or more Close Combat Weapons (246).

Pick the Best Die

Each player picks one of the dice he rolled and adds to it the fighting model's WS. The total you get by doing this is called the Combat Score of your model.

Apply Modifiers

Each Combat Score is subject to the following modifiers:

+1	For each Critical Hit (37) you scored
-1	For each Fumble (37) you rolled
+1	Models who charged this turn
+1	Models who are on higher ground than their HtH opponent
-1	Encumbered models using Heavy Weapons
-1	Charging an enemy who is behind an obstacle

Determine Winner

Whoever's Combat Score is higher wins the combat round, and scores a number of hits on his opponent equal to the difference between their Combat Scores. In the case of a tie, the model with the highest Initiative value wins and scores a single hit.

Resolve Hits on Losing Model

Only the losing model sustains hits from the combat. Work out damage (23) and Saving Throws as normal. The winner may use the stats for any Close Combat Weapon the fighting model is equipped with — if the fighting model is equipped with no Close Combat Weapons, use the model's own Strength.

BREAKING OFF HTH COMBAT

Models wishing to escape HtH combat must do so during the HtH phase of the main turn, not during the Movement Phase. Carry out a standard HtH fight between the escaping model and any models which are engaged in HtH with him — except that the escaping model's WS counts as zero. If he survives, the escaping model moves 2D6" directly away from the enemy. The retreating model(s) and the squad are immediately Broken (51) without need for a Leadership test (52). Broken troops may not attempt to Rally (51) in the same turn in which they disengaged from HtH. Dreadnoughts, Greater Daemons, and Chaos Champions may ignore these rules and simply move away in the Movement Phase as normal, shooting in the same turn if they desire or charging (27) another opponent.

CRITICAL HITS

When rolling two or more Attack Dice, multiple rolls of 6 represent Critical Hits. Add +*n to your Combat Score, where n is the number of 6's you rolled minus one.

FUMBLES

An Attack Die roll of a 1 represents a Fumble. The opposing player adds +1 to his Combat Score for each Fumble.

FOLLOW-UP MOVE

Models who slay their HtH opponents may make a 2" follow-up move anywhere they want, with no penalties for terrain. This applies only to the slaying model, and not to other friendly models engaging the same slain model in HtH. If you use the follow-up move to engage another enemy in HtH, you may participate in HtH with that enemy next turn, and you don't count as Charging (27).

MULTIPLE COMBATANTS

When two or more models are fighting a single enemy, each model past the first gains bonuses in HtH. The player whose models outnumber the lone fighter may select the order in which his own models' fighting is resolved. If the outnumbered model survives the first combatant, he fights the next attacker chosen by the opposing player — but this time, the enemy model gains +1 Attack Dice and +1 to his Combat Score. Each further opponent adds a further +1 Attack Dice and +1 Combat Score.

PARRYING

Any fighting model equipped with a lightning claw (247) or a sword (246) of any kind may make one Parry for each such weapon it uses in combat. If both combatants are using such weapons, parries cancel out one for one — e.g., Model A with two swords still gets one parry if it is fighting Model B with one sword.

For each Parry, you may force your opponent to re-roll one of the Attack Dice he has rolled.

HTH VERSUS VEHICLES

A model attacking a vehicle must obviously be in base-to-base contact with it as normal. The model automatically hits the vehicle once for each Attack characteristic on its profile; no bonuses are granted for multiple Close Combat weapons. The attacker may choose the location struck — with certain logical restrictions; the choice must be accessible to the model from its location. If the attacker is armed with a grenade or any ranged weapon which isn't a Move or Fire weapon, he may use this in HtH combat against a vehicle. Any area affect of the weapon is ignored, and weapons with sustained fire (34) may not use it. For computing armour penetration (35), use the value of the chosen weapon, and add a bonus as follows:

Attacker's Strength	1-3	4-5	6-7	8-10
Bonus Penetration Value	None	+1D6	+1D12	+1D20

Against stationary vehicles, a further D6 is added. See the It's Gonna Blow (34) rule for more info on models and vehicles.

Dreadnoughts & Robots in Hand-to-Hand Combat

Any vehicle with WS listed on its datafax may participate in hand-to-hand combat. Vehicles doing so roll Attack Dice as normal, and if hit, armour penetration is assessed in the same manner as shooting damage. Vehicles may also escape from HtH (37) without normal penalty if its opponent(s) are smaller than it.

Exposed Vehicle Crew In Hand-to-Hand Combat

If a model moves into hand-to-hand combat with a vehicle with exposed crew (16) it must fight the crew rather than attacking the vehicle (37). With vehicles with more than one exposed crew member, the enemy engages the closest one. Work out hits as normal. If the driver is killed, the vehicle will go out of control (29) next turn.

Hand-to-Hand Combat Versus Buildings

This is treated the same way as hand-to-hand combat versus vehicles (37); note in particular that the bonuses for high Strength and stationary targets both apply. Models successfully penetrating the armour value of a building will make a hole in the wall the size of their base.

HTH COMBAT EXAMPLES

Example #1: Simple HtH Combat

Let's say Roy has a Tyranid army and Bob is fighting with the Space Marines. In this example, one joe-average Space Marine fights your run-of-the-mill Genestealer. It is Roy's turn, and in his Movement Phase, he declares the Genestealer to be charging (27) the Space Marine. He moves his model into base-to-base contact with the Space Marine. Here are the characteristic profiles for the Marine and the Genestealer:

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Space Marine	4	4	4	4	4	1	4	1	8
Genestealer	6	7	0	6	4	1	7	4	10

Later in Roy's turn, it's the Hand-to-Hand Combat phase — the part where Genestealers shine. Roy looks at the 'Stealer's profile, and sees that the creature has an Attacks characteristic of 4 (the entire profile can be seen on page 213), so he takes four six-sided dice. Bob looks up the Marine's profile, and is disheartened to see that his Marine has only one Attack, so he takes one six-sided die. However, the Marine is equipped with a Chainsword and a Bolt Pistol. These are both Close Combat weapons, and since the Marine has at least two of them, he gets to roll an additional Attack die.

The dice are rolled — four for Roy, two for Bob. Roy rolls a 6, a 4, a 3, and a 2. Bob rolls a 3 and a 4. The Chainsword that Bob's Marine carries allows one parry (37), which means he can force Roy to re-roll one of the dice he rolled. He makes Roy re-roll the 6, and Roy rolls a 4 the second time around. Roy picks his best roll — one of his 4's — and Bob picks his 4 as his best roll. So each player has a Combat Score of 4 at this point.

Roy's Genestealer has a Weapon Skill (WS) of 7, so his Combat Score is improved to 11. Bob's Marine only has a WS of 4, so his score is 8. To make things worse for Bob, the 'Stealer charged this turn, so gains an additional +1 bonus, upping his total to 12. Thus Roy wins the round of combat because his Combat Score ends up higher than Bob's.

Roy's Genestealer scores 4 hits on the Marine (12 minus 8). Since the Genestealer uses nothing but its claws and jaws, these hits are resolved not with the Strength of any weapon but the Strength on the creature's profile. As the 'Stealer has a Strength of 6, Bob's Marine takes a saving throw penalty of -3. Needless to say, the outlook is not so good for Bob's Space Marine.

Example #2: Multiple Combatants

In this example, the same two players are using the same army types — but this time, there are more models involved. It is Bob's turn, and the remnants of a squad of Space Marines have been ordered to charge the remnants of a brood of Genestealers.

So Genestealer A has Marines 1 and 2 to deal with, and Genestealer B has Marines 3, 4, and 5 to deal with. Since it's Bob's turn, he gets to decide which combats happen first, and nominates Marine 1 with Genestealer A.

As in the prior example, Roy rolls four dice because of the Genestealer's high Attacks, and Bob rolls two dice because the Marine has two close combat weapons (to keep it simple, let's say all the Marines have Chainswords and Bolt Pistols). Roy rolls a 6, a 3, another 3, and a 1. Bob rolls a 5 and a 4, and since the Marine has a sword, he parries Roy's 6. Roy re-rolls the die, and ends up with a 4. So Bob's Combat Score is 5, and Roy's is 4.

The WS of each model is added appropriately to result in Roy=11, Bob=9. However, Bob's Marine charged this turn, and so gains a +1 bonus. In addition, one of Roy's rolls was a 1, meaning the Genestealer fumbled — maybe it slipped on some gore or something. The 'Stealer takes a -1 to its Combat Score. Thus the Combat Scores are tied at 10 apiece. However, no one walks away empty handed from a close combat round, so we compare the two models' Initiatives to break the tie. The 'Stealer has an I of 7, and the Marine's is only 4 — which means the Genestealer wins the tie, inflicting one S6 hit on Bob's Marine with a -3 save modifier. Roy rolls for damage and wounds the Marine, and Bob fails his armour save, so the Marine is slain.

Bob grits his teeth — that was so close! But fortunately, he's not licked yet — the fallen Marine's comrade, Marine 2, jumps into the fray and hacks away at the murderous creature. As before, Roy rolls four dice, but this time Bob rolls three dice — one for his Attacks, one for his close combat weapons, and one because he is the second model to wallop on the Genestealer this turn — Marine 1 distracted the 'Stealer enough so that Marine 2 could get in some extra swipes. After rolling and parrying and re-rolling as before, the 'Stealer has a Combat Score of 4, and the Marine a score of 6. After adding WS, the two scores are 'Stealer 11, Marine 10.

Now it's time to add bonuses — the Marine gets +1 for charging, plus another +1 because he is the second model to fight the 'Stealer this turn. This brings the Marine's Combat Score to 12, beating the 'Stealer's 11! Bob now gets to resolve one hit on the 'Stealer, and he can pick either the Chainsword, the Bolt Pistol, or the Marine's Strength and Save Modifier to resolve the hit. Since they all have S4, mod -1, he picks the Chainsword. Bob is extremely lucky in rolling, and wounds the 'Stealer. Roy fails the 'Stealer's saving throw, and the 'Stealer is slain. Bob cheers, and Roy grimaces. Bob's Marine may now make a follow-up move (37), and chooses to move into combat with Genestealer B. Note that although Marine 2 is now in base-to-base contact with Genestealer B, the two models may not fight each other this turn. If the Genestealer survives the onslaught of Marines 3, 4, and 5, it may fight Marine 2 at the end of Roy's turn, which is coming up next.

PSYCHIC PHASE

Players new to the game of Warhammer 40,000 might wish to skip this phase until they feel more comfortable with the rest of the rules. This is the only optional phase in that if neither side's army has any psykers, you don't have to do anything in the Psychic Phase. Additionally, if there are no psykers capable of using powers, and there are no psychic powers in play, you don't have to do anything.

THE PSYCHIC PHASE

At the start of the Psychic Phase, roll $nD6$, where n is the number of psykers on both sides who are capable of using powers. Deal this number of Warp Cards (41) between players. Only shuffle the warp cards when you run out of cards altogether. The side whose turn it is may pick one of their psykers, and that psyker may use one psychic power if there are enough Force cards available in the Warp Cards that have been dealt to that player.

Each power requires a certain amount of Force to activate. If the player does not have enough Force cards available, or does not wish to play a psychic power, he may pass his turn. The player whose turn it is not may now undergo the same process. This process repeats until there have been two passes in a row or both players are out of Warp Cards. Warp Cards not used in the psychic phase are placed aside in a discard pile with those that have been used, and shuffled when the Warp Deck is depleted.

Once a power has been activated, it succeeds automatically unless it is Nullified (42) or another affect cancels it. If the effects of a power last for several turns, the Power Card is left face up on the table to indicate that it remains in play. A power may not be used again while it remains in play.

Psychic Powers versus Vehicles

Psychic powers will only affect vehicles if they inflict hits with a Strength value stated on the power card or if the card itself includes rules for how it works with vehicles. No other psychic powers may affect vehicles. Powers affecting vehicles will hit the first Location in its path: no normal hit location roll is required. If the armour penetration is not listed on the power card, the penetration is equal to the Strength of the attack + any variable damage it inflicts + D6 + bonus dice as follows:

Psyker Strength	1-3	4-5	6-7	8-10
Bonus Dice	None	+1D6	+1D12	+1D20

PSYKERS

Mastery Level

The Mastery Level of a psyker determines how many powers he has and his prowess at each of these powers. A psyker may have a Mastery Level between 1 and 4. Unless otherwise stated in a unit's description, a psyker may have a number of Psyker Powers equal to his Mastery Level.

Psychic Disciplines

Each race has its own psyker powers. There are nine basic Psyker Disciplines: Adeptus (42), Nurgle (43), Slaanesh (44), Tzeentch (44), Eldar (45), Inquisition (46), Librarian (47), Ork (48), Squat (49), and Tyranid (49). The individual Psychic Powers for each Discipline are explained in detail below, and are broken down by Disciplines. All of a psyker's Powers are generally of a single Discipline, but very powerful psykers may pick the powers of other Disciplines. Every psyker has one Primary Discipline, and some psykers have one or more Tertiary Disciplines. Psykers must always take at least one Power from their Primary Discipline.

Psychic Phase

Psyker Type	Primary Discipline	Tertiary Discipline(s)
Space Marine Librarians	Librarian	Inquisition, Adeptus
Inquisitors, Grey Knights	Inquisition	Librarian, Adeptus
Adeptus Psykers	Adeptus	-
Squat Ancestor Lords	Squat	Adeptus
Ork Weirdboyz	Ork	-
Eldar Warlocks, Farseers	Eldar	-
Chaos Magus	Slaanesh, Tzeentch, or Nurgle*	Adeptus
Daemons	Slaanesh, Tzeentch, or Nurgle*	-
Hive Tyrant Genestealer Patriarch	Tyranid	-
Genestealer Magus	Tyranid	Adeptus

*Chaos units derive their psychic power from one and only one Chaos God.

Dealing Psyker Powers

Deal all primary Discipline powers first, starting with the psyker with the highest Mastery Level (roll D6 if two or more psykers share the same Mastery Level). Then deal any tertiary Discipline powers, again using Mastery Level to determine dealing priority. Note that psykers may not use each other's powers even if they share Disciplines.

Power Use

Each psyker may use each of his Psychic Powers once per psychic phase, and may continue to use them on successive turns.

WARP CARDS

Daemonic Attack

Play this card when an enemy psyker uses a power. The power is automatically nullified. In addition, roll a D6; on a 1-3, a Daemon effectively destroys the enemy psyker. The enemy psyker adds his Mastery Level (40) to the die roll, and deducts the number of Force Cards used to cast the power. This card will only affect Grey Knights and Ork Weirdboyz on a roll of 6 on D6 because they are especially resilient to Daemons. If used against a power protected by the Ultimate Force (42) Warp Card, a daemon still attacks as per above, but whether this daemon attack destroys the target or not, the Ultimate Force and the power it was used on still activates.

Destroy Power

You may keep this Warp Card until you wish to play it. If a psychic power is used against one of your psykers or on a model within 6" of one of your psykers, this card may be played immediately to prevent it from taking effect. The power being used is instantly and automatically nullified. In addition, roll a D6, and add +1 for each Force Card you are willing to sacrifice from your hand. The enemy psyker does the same, and both players reveal their total score. If your total is lower than your opponent's, the destroyed power is returned to the opponent's hand as normal. Otherwise, the enemy psyker loses the ability to use the power that was destroyed for the rest of the game.

Energy Drain

This card may be played at any time during the current psychic phase instead of using a psychic power card. The psychic phase is ended instantly; any warp cards still held in the hands of either player are immediately placed in the discard pile — including those which may be kept until needed. All psychic powers currently in play are instantly and automatically nullified.

Force Cards

The most common type of warp card, these are used to fuel psychic powers. Each power has a Force cost; that is the number of Force Cards which must be played to use that power. If you do not have enough Force Cards in your hand, you may not use that power.

Nullify

Use this card to cancel a psychic power that your opponent is attempting to use or to cancel an existing power. Roll D6; on a 4+, the Nullify succeeds and the power is either cancelled or removed from play, respectively. If used against an existing power, you may make only one Nullify per turn; otherwise, the first Nullify attempt against a particular power is assumed to be made by the psyker you control with the highest Mastery Level (40). If this fails, the next attempt is made by your next highest level psyker, and so on. If all your psykers have tried and failed to nullify a power, you can still use Nullify cards, but you must roll a 5+ to succeed. Psykers who are of a higher Mastery Level than the psyker who creates/is creating the power they are attempting to nullify gain +1 to their die roll. If your psyker is of a lower Mastery Level than the psyker who is using the power you are nullifying, you take a -1 penalty to this die roll. A Nullify can only be used against a psychic power and not another Warp Card.

Psychic Duel

Pick an enemy psyker and a friendly psyker. Each player rolls a D6 and adds the their selected psyker's Mastery Level (40) to the roll. The player with the highest total wins the duel, and drives one psychic power out of the mind of the loser. The winner may choose a power at random from the powers the enemy psyker may use and discard it. Ties have no effect on either psyker.

Reflection

May be kept until you decide to use it. May be played against a psychic power used on one of your psykers or on a model within 6" of one of your psykers. The power is automatically reflected 4D6" back in a straight line toward the psyker who used it. The reflected power passes over terrain features but will affect the first eligible target in its path.

Ultimate Force

Use this card as a power is being used; this card counts as 3 Force Cards on its own. The power chosen may not be nullified, reflected, or destroyed on the turn in which it is cast.

ADEPTUS POWERS

Assail

Force 1, Range 24"

Targets any single model within range. You may move the victim up to 6" in any direction, even into hand-to-hand combat (36) or onto blast markers (33) or dangerous terrain (26) and choose its facing. This attack will knock models out of Overwatch (27). Assail will not move a vehicle around, but it will cause a moving vehicle to go out of control (29) in its next movement phase on a D6 roll of 4+.

Carmine Assassin

Force 1, Range 18"

Pick a single model within range; the victim must roll under its Toughness on D6 or it is slain. No armour save is permitted. May be used to attack a single crewman but if the vehicle is enclosed the victim may roll 2D6 and pick the lowest value when attempting to roll under his Toughness.

Displacement

Force 2, Range 3D6"

User may teleport a friendly squad or single model across the battlefield in any direction. Troops are moved up to 3D6", ignoring obstacles and intervening terrain. Troops may be moved onto a roof, rocky pinnacle or other elevation, and may be used to move troops into hand-to-hand combat (36), in which case they fight in the next combat round and count as charging (27) in that round.

Gate, The

Force 1, Range 18"

Place two markers within 18" of the user. Any models which move into one marker reappear instantly out of the other; models expend no movement moving through the Gate, and may charge (27) or make run (27) moves as normal through it. Only normal foot troops may move through the Gate. Remains until nullified (42) or the caster is slain.

Hellfire

Force 2, Range 24"

Place the special Hellfire template (2" blast marker (33)) anywhere within range of the user. Each model touched by the template suffers an S4 hit. The template blocks Line of Sight and any model touching it will suffer an S4 hit. Remains until nullified (42) or the power is used again.

Lightning Arc

Force 3, Range 24"

Strikes the first model in a straight line within range. The target sustains an S6 hit causing D3 wounds. If the first target is killed by the Arc, the psyker may cause it to hit another model within 6" of the first, inflicting damage as before, and so on, causing up to 6 hits in succession. If a vehicle's armour is penetrated by the Arc, the psyker can cause it to strike another model within 6" or a different location on the same vehicle.

Machine Curse

Force 2, Range 24"

Place the Machine Curse template (2" blast marker (33)) anywhere within range of the user. Anything partially or fully under the template will be affected. All ranged weapons affected will be unable to fire (including pistols (256) used in close combat (36)) and robots, Terminators, Dreadnoughts or vehicles will be unable to move until the curse is nullified (42). If an object is taken out of the area, it will start working again, and any troops may fire into or through the area without penalty. Remains until nullified or the user is slain.

Scan

Force 1, Range 36"

All hidden (27) enemy models within range are detected automatically (the user will communicate their position to friendly troops). If any enemy psykers are within range, you can examine his opponent's hand of Warp Cards (41); you may also look at one random psychic power card of each psyker in range.

CHAOS: NURGLE POWERS

Aura of Decay

Force 1

Pick either the user or a single model in base-to-base contact with him. The target exudes an aura so disgusting that it and all models within 3" of it lose 1 from their Attacks characteristic as they retch uncontrollably. Followers and daemons of Nurgle are unaffected by the aura. The power remains until nullified (42), willfully dispelled, or the affected model is slain.

Miasma of Pestilence

Force 2

Any living models within 6" of the user suffer an S3 hit as soon as they are within range. Followers and daemons of Nurgle are unaffected. Remains in play until dropped, nullified (42) or the user is slain.

Plague Wind

Force 3, Range 24"

Pick a single living enemy target within range; the Wind inflicts 3D6 hits minus the target's Toughness. Each hit causes a wound on a roll of 4+ on D6; for every 3 wounds inflicted by the Wind, one Plaguebearer (70) is created, forming a new unit within 3" of the victims of the Wind.

Stream of Corruption

Force 2

Place the Stream of Corruption template (33) with the pointed end touching the user and the round end over the target. Any living models under the template will be overwhelmed by the foulness and choked to death unless they can make a normal armour save. Models with Toughness of 7 or greater are will not be slain, but will sustain D6 wounds instead. Enclosed vehicles are unaffected by this power.

CHAOS: SLAANESH POWERS

Acquiescence

Force 1

Use on a single model in base-to-base contact with the psyker using it. The victim must roll under his Initiative on D6 to avoid the touch, which halves all of his characteristics (rounding up) and makes him Stupid (53) for the rest of the battle. Nullify (42) will return the affected model to normal.

Beam of Slaanesh

Force 2, Range 24"

Hits the first model in a straight line in range. The victim must roll equal to or less than its Ld on 3D6 to fight the sensation; if he fails, he is affected by Stupidity (53) for the rest of the game. A successful nullify (42) used on the affected model will bring him to his senses again.

Fleshy Curse

Force 3, Range 24"

Pick a single living target within range. The victim must roll equal to or less than its Toughness on 2D6 to resist the curse. If the victim fails, the curse twists his body into a Chaos Spawn. The mindless Spawn immediately shambles off 2D6" in a random direction. It will then move 2D6" in a random direction in the compulsory movement phase of its own movement phase (26). The Spawn moves directly over troops in its path, causing an automatic S4 hit on any model it touches. The Spawn does not fight in hand-to-hand combat (36) and is hit automatically if so attacked. It cannot be broken and is immune to psychology (52). Note that even a nullify (42) will not revert the Spawn back to its original form.

Pavane of Slaanesh

Force 2, Range 24"

Pick a single enemy squad or model within range. The victim(s) must each roll equal to or under their Ld on 2D6 or be overcome by the power, beginning to leap and cavort uncontrollably. If the power works, the affected models can no longer move or shoot and may not roll any Attack Dice in hand-to-hand combat. The Pavane lasts until nullified (42), the user is slain, or it is willfully dispelled.

CHAOS: TZEENTCH POWERS

Bolt of Change

Force 2, Range 12"

Strikes the first model in a straight-line path. The victim must roll equal to or under its Toughness on 2D6 to resist the power of the bolt. Failure means that the model is destroyed utterly, with no armour save possible. Vehicles affected suffer a randomly-determined hit with an armour penetration (35) of 3D6+6.

Boon of Tzeentch

Force 1

If this power succeeds, draw 2 cards from the Warp Deck immediately and add these to your hand.

Pink Fire of Tzeentch

Force 1, Range 6"

Strikes the first model in a straight-line path in range. Victims suffer D6 hits with a Strength of 4+D6; make one roll to determine the Strength of all the hits.

Tzeentch's Fire Storm

Force 3, Range 24"

Strikes the first model in a straight-line path from the user within range. Place the Firestorm template (33) (2" radius) over the affected target. Every model touched by the template suffers an S5 hit with no armour save possible. Vehicles touched by the template suffer an S5 hit to one randomly determined crewman (16). For every 3 Wounds inflicted by the Firestorm, a Pink Horror (71) is created.

ELDAR POWERS

Battle Fate

Force 1, Range 72" — Farseer Only

Pick a single Eldar squad or vehicle within range; a +1 modifier is applied to all that unit's shooting (31) to hit rolls and Combat Scores in close combat (36) while this power lasts. Remains until the beginning of the next psychic phase.

Destructor

Force 2

Place the Destructor template (Flamer (241) template (33)) so that its point is touching the user. Anything more than half under the template is hit unless it rolls equal to or under its Initiative on D6. Hit models suffer an S6 hit with no possible armour save. Vehicles and buildings are hit automatically and the Destructor bolt is stopped if it strikes either. Otherwise, the template moves 12" each subsequent psychic phase. Remains until voluntarily ended, nullified (42), or the template leaves the battlefield.

Doom

Force 1, Range 36" — Farseer Only

Pick a single model within range. All hits to that model caused by shooting (31), hand-to-hand combat (36), or psychic attacks automatically wound — you don't need to make a Strength/Toughness chart (23) roll. In addition, any wounds inflicted on the model are doubled. Vehicles may not be Doomed. Remains in play until nullified (42), voluntarily ended, or the user is slain.

Eldritch Storm

Force 3, Range 24"

Place a 2" blast marker (33) within range. Roll a Scatter Die for any models more than half under the template. If an arrow is rolled, the model is flung in that direction to the storm's edge and may not move or shoot next turn. If a "Hit" is rolled, the model suffers an S3 hit and is flung as above. Vehicles will move out of control (29) when they next move. Nothing may move, see or shoot through the Storm. Remains until voluntarily ended, nullified (42), or the user is slain.

Executioner

Force 1-3, Range 18"

Pick a number of models within range that equals the number of Force cards used. For each model, work out a round of hand-to-hand combat (36) as normal — the user counts as charging (27) and if he is fighting more than one opponent with this power, the rules for multiple combatants (37) are ignored. If the user loses any of the combats, he suffers no damage but this power is nullified (42) immediately.

Fortune

Force 1, Range 8"

All Eldar within range of the user get a +2 bonus on their armour saves as long as this power is in effect. Has no effect on vehicles or Dreadnoughts — only living Eldar. Remains in play until nullified (42), voluntarily ended, or the user is slain.

Guide

Force 1-2, Range 12"

Pick a single Eldar within range. That model may immediately fire his weapon at up to double normal range and will hit automatically. Just select the target and calculate damage as normal. Guiding a pistol (256) or basic (240) weapon requires 1 Force; for ancient, heavy (249), or support (258) weapons, 2 Force is required. The weapon may only fire once, so even weapons with sustained fire (34) or multiple shots may only score a single hit when Guided.

Mind War

Force 1-3, Range 36" — Farseer Only

Pick a single enemy model within range. Roll $4D6 + nD6$, where n is the number of Force cards used for this power. Mind War inflicts 1 wound on the target for each 6 you roll. May be used on vehicle crewmen, but you then only roll $2D6 + nD6$. If used on an enemy psyker, he must permanently discard a psychic card for each 6 rolled instead of taking Wounds. If the enemy psyker has less than the number of cards required to discard he loses all of his powers and suffers D3 wounds.

INQUISITION POWERS

Aura of Fire

Force 1

When in play, will negate any Wound suffered by the user on a D6 roll of 4+. In hand-to-hand combat (36), any wound saved means that the Aura is rebounded against the model that struck it, causing a Wound for each Wound saved. Remains in play until nullified (42) or the user is slain.

Aura of Fortitude

Force 1, Range 9"

The user and all friendly models within range increase their Ld to 10 as long as this power is in play. All affected models also gain a saving throw of 4+ on D6 against all psychic attacks. Remains in play until nullified (42) or the user is slain.

Destroy Daemon

Force 2, Range 24"

Strikes the first target in a straight line within range. The user rolls 2D6 and adds his Mastery Level (40) to the result; the Daemon rolls 1D6 and adds its current number of Wounds to the result. If the psyker's score beats the Daemon's, the Daemon is instantly destroyed. If the scores tie, the Daemon loses half its remaining Wounds, rounding down. If the psyker's score is lower, the power does not work. If the Daemon's score is exactly twice that of the psyker's, the psyker suffers D3 Wounds from feedback. Has no effect on non-Daemon models.

Holocaust

Force 3, Range 12"

Every living creature within range suffers an S4 hit. After damage has been assessed, the psyker himself must pass a Leadership test (52) in order to stop the Holocaust. If he fails — or decides to continue the firestorm — he suffers a wound as the flames start to consume his body and the Holocaust card remains in play, scoring another S4 hit on all living models within range at the start of the next psychic phase. Repeat until the power is nullified (42), the psyker succeeds in his test, or the psyker is slain.

Purge Psyker

Force 1, Range 36"

Pick an enemy psyker within range. The enemy psyker rolls D6 and adds his Mastery Level (40) to the roll; your psyker rolls 2D6 and adds his Mastery Level to the roll. If the enemy psyker's score is lower, he loses and suffers 1 Wound for each point he lost by. Otherwise, unless the defender's score is exactly double the attackers — in which case, the feedback inflicts D6 wounds on the friendly psyker.

Scourging

Force 1, Range 24"

Strikes the first target within range in a straight-line path. The victim suffers D3 S4 hits and must pass a Leadership test (52) or be stunned and unable to do anything until the next psychic phase. Daemons struck by Scourging suffer D3 hits at S8 rather than S4.

Storm of Wrath

Force 3, Range 12"

All enemy models within range must pass a Leadership test (52) before they can move or charge (27). Enemy vehicles will go out of control (29) on a 5+ on D6 when they attempt to move. All enemy shooting (31) within or into the area suffers a -2 to hit. Friendly models are completely unaffected. Remains in play until nullified (42) or until the user is slain.

Vortex

Force 3, Range 3D6"

Place the Vortex template (1½" template (33)) on the table next to the user and move it 3D6" away in a random direction. Anything touched by the template is affected as by a Vortex grenade (275). While this power is in play, treat the template as if it was created by such a grenade. The Vortex lasts until it is nullified (42), dissipates or leaves the battlefield.

LIBRARIAN POWERS

Iron Arm

Force 2, Range 3"

May target the user or a single model within range. The target's Toughness and Strength are doubled up to a maximum of 10 while this power is in play. He may fight normally, but his Move is halved, rounding up. The subject also gains an unmodified additional armour saving throw of 4+ which is rolled before his normal armour save — this applies to psychic attacks, too. Remains until nullified (42) or the user is slain.

Prescience

Force 1

From the moment this power is used to the beginning of the next psychic phase, the user may re-roll any of his failed dice throws once — to hit rolls, damage rolls, armour saves, Ld tests (52), etc.

Psychic Shield

Force 1

Should the user suffer 1 or more Wounds from shooting (31) or close combat (36), the Shield will negate each wound on a D6 roll of 3+. If the user is attacked by a psychic power which either causes wounds or kills him outright, then the Shield will save him on a D6 roll of 4+. When used against a psychic power, the Shield is nullified (42) if the save is successful. Remains until nullified or the user is slain.

Quickenings

Force 2, Range 3"

May target the user or any single model within 3". The target doubles his Movement, Initiative and Attacks as long as this power is in play, and may fire twice in the shooting phase (31) if it doesn't run (27) or charge (27) in the movement phase (26). Remains until nullified (42) or the user is slain.

Salamander, The

Force 2, Range 5D6"

All models in a straight-line path within range are hit, suffering one S5 hit. Any squad suffering at least one casualty from Salamander must take a Break test (51).

Smite

Force 3, Range 24"

Place a 2" blast marker (33) anywhere within range. If a vehicle is hit, one randomly selected crewman (16) will be affected. Models hit must pass a Leadership test (52) with a -2 modifier or be slain immediately. Armour saving throws are not permitted Smite victims.

Strength of Mind

Force 2, Range 6"

Psychic attacks against the user or any models within 6" of him are automatically nullified (42) unless they roll higher than the user's Mastery Level (40) on D6. Remains until nullified or the user is slain.

Teleportation

Force 1, Range 4D6"

The user moves up to 4D6" away in any direction, ignoring all terrain. The user may teleport into close combat (36), and counts as charging (27).

ORK POWERS

Brain Bursta

Force 2, Range 24"

The first model in a straight line within range is overloaded with Ork power and must roll under its Toughness on D6 or its head explodes! Needless to say, head explosions always kill their victims regardless of how many Wounds they have. Armour saving throws will not protect against this power. Vehicles hit by this power suffer a hit to one randomly-determined crewman (16) who must roll to survive as above.

Da Krunch

Force 3, Range 24"

The user summons the foot of Gork himself — use the special Gork's Foot. Place it within range; any models under the template must roll under their Initiative on D6 or suffer an S10 hit.

Death Wave

Force 3, Range 4D6"

Place the Death Wave template (33) so its centre touches the user and then move it 4D6" in a straight line away from him. Any models covered by the template as it moves suffer a hit; models partially touched are hit on a 4+ on D6 as normal. For each hit model, roll a D6; if the roll is equal to or greater than their Toughness they are slain regardless of how many Wounds they have. Vehicles are not affected but their crew are — each crew member suffers a hit from the Death Wave on a 5+ on D6. Ignore all obstacles and terrain features when moving the Wave. The Wave remains in play and will move a further 4D6" in the same direction at the start of each psychic phase until it is nullified (42) or leaves the table.

'Eadbutz

Force 1, Range 36"

Pick an enemy psyker within range. Both players roll D6 and add the Mastery Level (40) of their respective psyker. If the enemy psyker's score is less, he suffers 1 wound and can't use any powers until the next psychic phase; otherwise, this power has no effect.

Kop Dis!

Force 3, Range 36"

Strikes the first target in its path. The victim is hurled back D6+1"; if the model hits anything, its move is halted and both models involved take an S5 hit. Can also be used on blast markers (33) If a template is moved, it will score a hit as normal on anything it moves over.

Power Vomit

Force 2, Range 18"

Any models in a straight line within range sustain an S5 hit. Ignore all obstacles and terrain features.

Squish

Force 2, Range 24"

Target a single model within range; the victim suffers 2D6 minus his own Strength S5 hits. Vehicles deduct their Ram Value (30) Strength from the number of hits inflicted.

Waaagh!

Force 3, Range 36"

All enemy psykers in range are knocked flat and suffer 1 wound if you can roll higher than their Mastery Level (40) on D6. If they are knocked flat, they can't use any more powers until the next psychic phase, though they can continue to use Warp Cards (41) normally to nullify (42), etc. All Ork and Gretchin units within 36" of the user add 1 to their WS and may re-roll any failed Leadership tests (52) they take until the end of the next turn.

SQUAT POWERS

Domination

Force 1, Range 12"

Nominate a single target within 12"; that model must pass a Leadership test (52) with a -2 modifier. If it fails, you may force that model to perform any one action immediately — e.g., a normal move, fire a weapon, throw (32) a grenade, etc. Vehicle crew may be targeted using this power but those in enclosed vehicles make their Ld test with a Ld of 10. A Dominated model may not be forced to kill itself.

Force Dome

Force 2, Range 24"

Take the special Force Dome Template (2" radius) and centre it anywhere within 24" of the user. The Dome prevents all movement across its edge, trapping models inside, and stops models from seeing, shooting (31) or using psychic powers through it. At the end of each of their own movement phases (26), models in contact with the Dome can try to destroy it by rolling under their Strength on 3D6. Vehicles can destroy the dome by rolling 2D6 and scoring equal to or less than their the Strength of their Ram Value (30). The Dome remains in play until nullified (42) or removed.

Hammer of Fury

Force 3, Range 9"

All enemy models within 9" of the user are blasted backwards 3" directly away from the user and suffer an S5 hit. Vehicles suffer an S5 hit to each location. Moving enemy vehicles will go out of control (29) in their next movement phase (26). Models with a Strength of 6+ will not be driven back by this power.

Mental Fortress

Force 1, Range 12"

The user and all friendly models within 12" gain an additional saving throw of 5+ on D6 against psychic attacks. This power remains in play until nullified (42) or removed.

TYRANID POWERS

Catalyst

Force 3, Range 18"

Target a single brood within range of the user. The brood becomes frenzied (52) and makes its armour saving throws on 2D6. Remains until nullified (42) or the brood is destroyed.

Horror, The

Force 1-3, Range 6-18"

The effect radius of this power depends on how much Force is used to power it; 6" for each Force. All squads and character models within the effect range must take an immediate Break test (51).

Hypnotic Gaze

Force 1, Range 18"

Use on a brood of Tyranid Warriors, Genestealers or Genestealer Hybrids within 18" of the user. Roll a leadership test (52) for every enemy model which is within 6" and visible to one of the brood. Any models which fail are paralyzed and can't perform any actions as long as this power remains in play. Paralyzed models are hit automatically in hand-to-hand combat (36). Any affected models which end up more than 6" away from the affected brood at the start of either player's turn recover automatically.

Psychic Phase

Psychic Scream

Force 2, Range 36"

Every enemy psyker within 36" of the user must roll 2D6; if the score is greater than the roller's Toughness but under his Leadership, he is stunned by the scream and incapable of using any Warp Cards (41) or taking any actions until the start of the next psychic phase. Stunned psykers fight in hand-to-hand combat (36) with a WS of 1. If the roll is greater than the psyker's Leadership, the model goes insane and takes no further part in the battle — remove the model as an effective casualty.

RALLY PHASE

Not much happens in the Rally Phase; it's probably the most boring phase. If neither side has any broken (51) units, you may skip the phase, as what occurs in it affects only such units.

BREAK TEST

A squad must take a Break test if it loses 25% of its current Strength in a single turn. Other situations may also force a squad to make a Break test. In either case, the unit must make a Leadership Test (52). If it fails, the unit is Broken.

Broken Troops

A broken squad will remain where it is and hide (27) at the start of its next turn if it is in cover. If it is not in cover, it will immediately flee 2D6" towards the nearest cover away from enemy models. After this initial fleeing move, broken troops may not move again unless they are in the open at the start of their turn (in which case they flee again as above). If a broken squad is attacked in hand-to-hand combat (36), or a creature which causes Fear (52) or Terror (53) moves within 8", it will flee immediately as above. Fleeing troops ignore terrain penalties but may not enter impassible terrain (26). Broken troops may escape from hand-to-hand combat (37) as normal.

Character Models

In some circumstances, one or more model attached to a squad may be immune to whatever caused the unit to break. In this case, the character model is not forced to flee and may stay and fight if it chooses. Characters which are required (by their special rules) to remain with the unit must keep within normal squad coherency (16) range, but are otherwise unhindered in their actions.

RALLYING

During the Rally Phase, troops which are Broken (51) may attempt to recover. Broken models may only attempt to rally if they are in some kind of cover, they were not forced to flee on the same turn for any reason, and the closest other friendly models are not Broken themselves. Units attempting to Rally make a standard Leadership test — if they pass, they lose the Broken status. If they fail, they remain Broken.

PSYCHOLOGY

LEADERSHIP TESTS

Many situations will require a model or squad to make a Leadership test. Roll 2D6 and compare the number with the model's Leadership (Ld). If the result is equal to or less than the Leadership value, the model passes the test. If it's greater, the model fails. What happens then depends on why the test was made.

Squad Leaders

Certain models may "lend" their Leadership rating to other units. The most common example of this is a squad led by a special character. As long as the character is within squad coherency (16) range, any model in the unit may use the character's Leadership for any tests it is required to make, including Break tests.

Immunity to Psychology

Some units are designated as being immune to psychology. These models ignore all psychology rules in this section. In addition, they automatically pass any Leadership (or Break) tests they would otherwise be required to make. If immune to any or all aspects of psychology, a model may not choose to voluntarily fail a test (e.g. a model immune to Fear cannot choose to be affected).

BLOOD GREED

If a model with Blood Greed slays a foe in hand-to-hand combat (36) they are not allowed to make a follow-up move (37) but must remain where they are for the rest of the turn. If the model is a psyker, it may not use any powers during that psychic phase (40). If an enemy charges (27) the model while it is feeding, the model becomes frenzied (52) for the remainder of the turn.

DISCORD

Models which cause Discord affect all units with 12" of their location at the start of each turn. For each squad (not characters, vehicles or support weapons) in range, roll a D6. On a "1", the members of that unit fall to arguing amongst themselves and may not move or fire during that turn. Daemons (55) within range do not fight with others of their kind, but automatically fail (treat as a "1") any animosity (56) check.

FEAR

If a model is charged (27) by a model that causes Fear, the model being charged must make a Leadership Test (52) to overcome its fear. If passed, the unit may fight as normal — if the test fails and the unit is outnumbered by the enemy, the unit will break (51). If the fearsome enemy does not outnumber the unit, the unit may fight as normal, but loses half its Weapon Skill in the first turn of hand-to-hand combat (36) and may not fire Overwatch (27) shots at the charging enemy. If a unit wishes to charge an enemy that it Fears, it must make a Leadership test first. If the test is failed, the squad may not charge and must remain stationary for the turn; it may still fire normally, however. If a unit is hit by a weapon that it fears it must make an immediate Break test — this test is separate from and in addition to any caused by casualties from the weapon. A squad in hand-to-hand combat and outnumbered by an enemy it fears must make a Break test at the end of each close combat phase.

Fear versus Fear

Creatures which cause Fear are not affected by enemies that cause Fear. Faced with an enemy that causes Terror (53), a Fear-causing unit will suffer only Fear, not Terror. Models which cause Terror are not affected by Fear at all.

FRENZY

Frenzied troops will automatically charge (27) any enemies within charge distance at the start of their turn, and will remain frenzied until they are Broken (51) in hand-to-hand combat (36) or until there is no enemy within charge reach. Frenzied troops charge during the compulsory movement phase and fight with double their Attack Dice in HtH (note that this is their A x 2, and does not include bonuses for Close Combat weapons).

Frenzied troops may not parry, and must always use their 2" follow-up move (37) to get closer to or engage the enemy. While frenzied, troops are unaffected by other psychology. Frenzied troops broken in HtH instantly lose the Frenzy status and must flee just like other troops — should they later rally (51), they are unaffected by their former frenzy.

You can try to restrain troops attempting to charge via Frenzy — make a Leadership test; if you are successful, the unit is not frenzied for that turn and not affected.

HATRED

Units who hate their adversaries take any Break test (51) with a Leadership of 10. Models fighting in hand-to-hand combat (36) with hated enemies may re-roll any Attack Dice once when they first attack, and must always use their follow-up move (37) to get closer to or engage the enemy.

STUPIDITY

Stupid creatures must make a Break test (51) at the start of each of their turns to overcome their stupidity. If you pass the test, the creatures behave normally; otherwise, the following rules apply until their next turn, when they can test once again:

If already in hand-to-hand combat (36), roll a D6 for each stupid creature in HtH; on a roll of 1-3, it rolls no attack dice and makes no parries. If not in HtH, roll D6 for each stupid unit. On a 1-3, move each stupid creature its normal move in a random direction (roll scatter die); any enemies encountered are automatically engaged in HtH (you must still roll to determine whether the stupid creatures will actually fight as above). On a 4-6, the creatures do nothing for the remainder of the turn. Creatures cannot shoot weapons or use psychic abilities while suffering from stupidity. While overcome by stupidity, they ignore all further psychology tests; Broken (51) troops are not affected by Stupidity until they have rallied.

TERROR

Units that cause Terror also cause Fear (52). Troops only test for Terror once per battle; once they have overcome their terror they are not affected again. You never have to take a Fear and a Terror test from the same situation — just take a Terror test; if you pass the Terror test, you pass the Fear test too. A unit must make a Leadership test (52) if it is charged by or wishing to charge an enemy that causes Terror. A unit must make a test for Terror at the start of its turn if there is an enemy model causing Terror within 8". Units which fail any Terror test must flee as described in the Broken Troops section regardless of whether they are in cover or not.

Creatures which cause Terror are not affected by enemies that cause Fear or Terror.

Armies of the 41st Millennium

CHAOS

DAEMONS

Type of Daemon	Type of Power	Number of Daemons in Unit
		1-5 Level 1	6-10 Level 2	11-15 Level 3	16+ Level 4
Daemonette	Slaanesh (44)	Acquiescence	Beam of Slaanesh	Pavane of Slaanesh	Fleshy Curse
Plaguebearer	Nurgle (43)	Aura of Decay	Miasma of Pestilence	Stream of Corruption	Plague Wind
Pink Horror	Tzeentch (44)	Pink Fire of Tzeentch	Bolt of Change	Tzeentch's Fire Storm	Boon of Tzeentch

Daemon Worlds

Daemons must be summoned (57) before appearing in a Chaos Space Marine (60) or Chaos Cult (77) force. Not surprisingly, daemons are much more common on a Daemon World (55). Here, they may be deployed along with normal troops and most also have a lower point cost. However, a Daemon World army may only include daemons of the same God as the reigning Daemon Prince (56).

Daemonic Vulnerabilities & Immunities

Unless noted here — and where not specifically mentioned in the weapon's description — Daemons are affected by all weapons normally, and are given their daemonic aura saving throw.

Blinding Attacks

Daemons are immune to all blinding attacks, including Photon Flares (273), Blind grenades (272) and Conversion Fields (221). They are also immune to electrical attacks, including the Electro-Hull (276) vehicle card and the Voltage Field (210) biomorph.

Daemonic Aura

With few exceptions noted where applicable, all daemons are protected by a daemonic aura which gives them a 4+ unmodified armour saving throw in addition to any other armour saves. This save does not protect against psychic attacks or force weapons (24).

Daemons on Fire

A Daemon which has caught on fire (23) may ignore the flames and behave as normal, though it must still roll for damage while it is on fire.

Gases & Toxins

Daemons are immune to the following effects: Choke (272), Hallucinogen (273), Scare (274), Toxin (275), Virus (275), Lictor (212) poison, Tyranid Venom Sac biomorph (210), and Shuriken Shrieker (254) ammunition. Needle weapons (257, 243) inflict their S3 hit, but do not wound Daemons automatically. The Tyranid Venom Cannon (255), Spinefist (257), and Devourer (241) divide their Strength value in half, rounding up, to reflect the lack of effect of the poison which forms a part of these weapon's attacks. Daemons are immune to the effects of Hellfire (250) shells and are unaffected by Combat Drugs (220), Frenzon (225) and MediPacks (230).

Graviton Guns

Daemons are unaffected by Graviton Guns (242).

Ork Field Artillery

When rolling to hit with a Smasha Gun, treat Greater Daemons as Dreadnought-sized targets. All daemons are counted as “foot troops” for Pulsa Rokkits and Shokk Attack Guns. Daemons get the save for Buzzer Squigs as noted — this is instead of their normal aura save.

Psychic Attacks

Daemons do not receive their normal aura save against psychic attacks or related weapons, include Force weapons (24) and the following wargear items: Banshee Mask (218), Bonesword (246), Hood of Hellfire (227), Nemesis Blades (269), Psycannon (269), Runestaff Stormcaller (232), Sharpened Claws (210), Singing Spear (270), Staff of Ulthamar (235), Sword of Asur (270), Wailing Doom (245), Weirdboy Staff (271), Witch Blade (238), and Zoanthrope Warp Blast (212).

Daemon Animosity

Tzeentch is a rival of Nurgle. Slaanesh is a rival of Khorne. Whenever you have daemons whose Gods are rivals within 12” of each other at the start of your turn, and they are not engaged in close combat (36), roll a D6 for each unit:

1-2	Remove all rival models from play, but don’t count them as having been destroyed for the purpose of Victory Points (17).
3-4	The daemons will not move or do anything else this turn, but are otherwise unaffected and will fight back if attacked in close combat (36).
5-6	No effect.

Daemonic creatures given as Chaos Rewards (58) do not count.

An army will never contain both a Daemon Prince and other daemons of a rival God. If the battle takes place on a Prince’s Daemon World (55) army, no model bearing the rival’s Mark of Chaos (58) may be included on the Prince’s side, nor are any Chaos Rewards (58) available from the Prince’s rival.

Daemon Psychic Powers

Daemons have psychic powers appropriate to their particular Chaos God. Because these powers are granted specifically, you do not need to deal out psychic power cards.

Greater Daemons

All Greater Daemons (65) are psykers of Mastery Level (40) of 4, and may freely use any of the powers of their particular Chaos God.

Lesser Daemons

Lesser daemons (70) are permitted psychic powers for units rather than for individual models. The powers granted are based on the number of models in the unit, as is the effective Mastery Level (40) of the unit.

Daemons and Victory Points

Victory Points (17) are only earned by your opponent for daemons that you have brought into play and which have subsequently been destroyed or eliminated. Your opponent scores points for Greater Daemons as if they were characters (15) based on their points value. Other daemons earn your opponent 1 Victory Point for every 3 models he slays or banishes, no matter what their type or point cost.

Summoning Daemons

Daemons purchased as part of a Chaos Space Marine (60) or Chaos Cult (77) are not deployed as normal at the start of the game, and may not be deployed via Strategy Cards (19) or other non-standard methods. Instead, they must be summoned into battle during the game.

Summoning Points

Summoning a daemon occurs during your psychic phase (40), and requires the expenditure of Summoning Points: it requires 2 Summoning Points to summon a daemon, and 10 points to summon a Greater Daemon. Summoned daemon models are placed anywhere you wish within 6" of a model which bears the Mark of Chaos (58) of the daemon's patron god, and at least 1" away from any enemy model. Daemons are placed at the very end of the psychic phase. If the Energy Drain Force Card (41) is played, then no daemons may be summoned in that turn.

Daemon Type	Procedure
Khorne	Each hit scored by a Chaos model in close combat (36) earns 1 point.
Nurgle	Each Wound inflicted on an enemy model earns 1 point.
Slaanesh	Every time an enemy unit takes a Leadership test (52) for any reason (whether the test is failed or not), score a number of points equal to half the Leadership value of the unit.
Tzeentch	Each Force Card used by either side in the psychic phase (40) scores 1 point (Ultimate Force (42) is worth 3). Discarded cards do not count, but cards spent for powers that are nullified (42) apply normally.

There is a different kind of Summoning Point for each Chaos God; for example, Khorne Summoning Points may only be used to summon daemons of Khorne, and daemons of Khorne may only be summoned by Khorne Summoning Points. A single action may meet criteria for multiple point earnings; for example, a model inflicting a Wound on an enemy in hand-to-hand combat (36) would earn a point for both Khorne and Nurgle. The earning of summoning points is described below. Note that a model which bears the appropriate Mark of Chaos (58) earns double the specified number of points.

Possession of Models

Another way to get a daemon onto the battlefield is to have it take over the body and mind of a living creature. Possession allows the daemon to be put into play without the expenditure of Summoning Points. A daemon model may possess any other model which bears its Mark of Chaos (58) — Greater Daemons may only possess Chaos Sorcerers, Chaos Lords, or Chaos Champions bearing the appropriate Mark. The model being possessed is removed from play, and replaced with the appropriate daemon model. Models in hand-to-hand combat (36) may be possessed.

Roll a D6 any time a non-Chaos model teleports (27), including via psychic power or Wargear Card (17)) in a battle where there is at least one daemon model awaiting to be summoned onto the battlefield. On a 1, the teleporting model has been possessed by a daemon! The possessed model is slain and replaced by an awaiting daemon model of the Chaos player's choice. Note that this rule does not apply to Grey Knights and Inquisitors.

Banishment

Daemons are instantly banished if there are no models bearing their Mark of Chaos (58) left on the table.

WARGEAR

Marks of Chaos

Models on a Daemon World (55) may only bear the mark appropriate to the reigning Daemon Prince (56).

Mark	Description	Cost
Khorne	The model gains an armour saving throw of 2+ . In addition, the model is subject to frenzy (52), but may still parry (37). May not be taken by psykers.	30
Nurgle	The model gains +1 Toughness.	20
Slaanesh	The model is immune to psychology (52).	10
Tzeentch	The model may attempt to nullify (42) any psychic power which affects them on a 4+ roll of a D6 .	20

Chaos Rewards

Each Reward uses up one of the “slots” that may have been allocated for a Wargear Cards (17). No two models in your army may have exactly the same combination of Chaos Rewards, but the same Reward may be given to multiple models.

Khorne

Power	Description	Cost
Axe of Khorne	Model is armed with an Axe of Khorne (246)	15
Collar of Khorne	Model is equipped with a Collar of Khorne (220)	30
Juggernaut	The model rides atop a Juggernaut of Khorne (70).	50
Praise of Khorne	The model may re-roll any failed armour save once.	20

Nurgle

Power	Description	Cost
Beast of Nurgle	Model is accompanied by a Beast of Nurgle (58), which must remain with 6” coherency (16) at all times.	40
Cloud of Flies	All enemy models in base contact suffer a -1 modifier to their Weapon Skill.	5
Nurgle's Rot	At the end of the close combat (36) phase, roll a D6 for each living enemy model in base contact; on a 6 the model suffers 1 wound with no saving throw allowed.	5
Plaguesword	If a living model is wounded by this weapon, roll a D6 ; on a 4+ the model is slain, regardless of how many wounds it has left. Roll once for each wound inflicted.	15

Slaanesh

Power	Description	Cost
Allure of Slaanesh	Living enemies in hand-to-hand combat (36) must pass a Leadership test (52) on 3D6 ; if they fail, any hits against this model are wasted. Check once per combat.	20
Gaze of Slaanesh	Enemies in hand-to-hand combat (36) with this model suffer a -1 penalty to their Attacks characteristic.	10
Scream of Slaanesh	When charging (27), the model causes fear (52).	5
Steed of Slaanesh	The model rides a Steed of Slaanesh (72).	25

Tzeentch

Chaos Icons

Banner of Rage

35 points; Khorne only

Any Chaos models — apart from those bearing the Mark of Slaanesh — within 6” of the Standard are subject to frenzy (52).

Blasted Standard

20 points; Tzeentch only

Contains a spell which may be cast once per battle, during any psychic phase (40). Treat the spell as a psychic power cast with Ultimate Force (42) but requires no Force cards to cast. The spell inflicts 2D6 S6 hits with a –3 save modifier, which may be distributed on any enemy models within 6” of the Standard. Any unit suffering one or more casualties from this effect must make an immediate Break test (51).

Flesh Banner

10 points

In the hand-to-hand combat phase (36), the Flesh Banner inflicts D6 S5 hits with a –2 save modifier, which may be distributed amongst any of the Standard Bearer’s close combat opponents. This attack is made at the start of the close combat phase, before any normal attacks are worked out.

Plague Banner

15 points; Nurgle only

Contains a spell which may be cast once per battle, during any psychic phase (40). Treat the spell as a psychic power cast with Ultimate Force (42) but requires no Force cards to cast. The spell inflicts D6 Wounds which may be distributed on any enemy models or vehicle crew (16) within 6” of the Standard. No more than 1 Wound may be applied per enemy model. No saving throws of any kind apply.

Rapturous Standard

25 points; Slaanesh only

Any Chaos models, apart from those bearing the Mark of Khorne (58), within 6” of the Standard are rendered immune to psychology (52), and may never be broken (51).

Warp Banner

25 points

Once per battle, the Warp Banner can be used in the psychic phase (40) to generate 2D6 summoning points (57). Any of the points not used on the turn they are generated are lost. For the purposes of summoning daemons, the model bearing the Banner counts as a model with all Marks of Chaos (58).

CHAOS SPACE MARINE RULES

There are many Space Marine Chapters which have turned to the dark gods of Chaos. All follow the Space Marine rules for Rapid Fire (162); However, they do not become Shaken (162) and must flee as normal if they fail a Break test (51).

Khorne Berzerkers

All Berzerkers bear the Mark of Khorne (58) — they always frenzy (52), but may still parry (37). Berzerkers may also make a Furious Charge, in which they triple their Movement instead of doubling it when charging. This bonus also applies to any models which have joined the unit.

Noise Marines

All Noise Marines bear the Mark of Slaanesh (58) — they are immune to psychology (52) and never break (51). In addition, Noise Marines emit a Psychic Cacophony; roll a D6 if a psyker within 16" of a Noise Marine attempts to use a psychic power (only one die is rolled, regardless of how many psykers or Marines are involved). If the roll is greater than the psyker's Mastery Level, the power is automatically nullified (42). In addition, the psyker must roll 4+ on D6 or suffer a Wound, with no saving throw possible. Wargear that normally protects against psychic attacks offers no protection against Noise Marines.

Plague Marines

All Plague Marines bear the Mark of Nurgle (58), which increases their Toughness by +1.

Thousand Sons Marines

All Thousand Sons Marines bear the Mark of Tzeentch (58). Each time the Energy Drain (41) Warp Card is played, you must choose D6 of your Thousand Sons models to remove as casualties. Thousand Sons Marines are immune to psychology (52) and will never break (51).

Terminator Armour

Characters may purchase Chaos Terminator Armour at a cost of +37 points. All Terminator suits come with a Combi-Weapon (63), which must be paid for separately at the costs listed above. Purchasing Terminator Armour replaces a character's normal power armour and weaponry, and means that character loses access to any other wargear besides the mandatory single Terminator Assault Weapon (below).

Chaos Terminator Armour is identical to normal Space Marine Terminator Armour (237), except that it does not incorporate a Targeter (236) or teleport homer (236). Models wearing Terminator Armour may not take a Steed (58) or Disc (59) as a Chaos Reward (58) and may not ride a bike (172). Veteran Chaos Marine (68) squads led by an Aspiring Champion (65) wearing Terminator Armour may not infiltrate (16).

A limited number of Post-Heresy Terminator (237) suits are available at a base cost of +42 points (remember, however, that as per the Post-Heresy Wargear rules (63) the final cost (after weapons) of such Terminators is then increased by 50%, or 75% if they can also teleport). These come with a Storm Bolter (244) and Power Fist (248) rather than the usual Combi-Weapon (63) and Chain-Axe (246). Unlike their pre-Heresy equivalents, these suits come with a Targeter (236, +1 to hit).

Characters equipped with either suit must also purchase a single Terminator Assault Weapon (62).

Special Equipment Rules

Chaos Combi-Weapons

Chaos combi-weapons (221) are identical to Imperial versions, except that the model firing it does not suffer the normal -1 penalty for firing both barrels of the weapon. Additionally, the twin-bolters option functions as two separate Boltguns (240), not as a single Storm Bolter (244). All Chaos combi-weapons may be used in close-combat (36), and as such provide an extra Attack die. However, the weapon may not be used in this manner one the same turn it is fired, including shots on Overwatch (27).

Jump Packs and Skimmers

These items, or anything which incorporates their technology, are not permitted to Chaos units.

Post-Heresy Wargear

Because of the relative scarcity of Post-Heresy equipment among Chaos forces, any Wargear (217) or Vehicle Cards (276) marked "Imperium Only" cost an additional +50% over their listed price. Wargear cards marked "Terminators Only" may only be used by models wearing Post-Heresy Terminator (62) armour, not those with the more old-fashioned Chaos Terminator Armour (62).

Khorne

Bloodletters

35 points per model; 20 points on a Daemon world

Bloodletter	4	5	5	4	3	1	6	2	10

A unit consists of 3 to 10 models, each with the above stats. Protected by a Daemonic Aura (55, 4+ unmodified save). Causes Fear (52). Armed with Hellblades (246). May triple their move when they charge (27) instead of doubling it. Any model may regenerate all damage suffered in a turn on a D6 roll of 4+.

Options

On a Daemon world, any Bloodletter may ride a Juggernaut (70) for +50 points.

Flesh Hounds

38 points per model; 30 points on a Daemon world

Flesh Hound	10	5	0	5	4	2	6	1	10

A unit consists of 3 to 10 models, each with the above stats. Protected by a Daemonic Aura (55, 4+ unmodified save) and a Collar of Khorne (220). Causes Fear (52). May charge (27) any model within range, instead of the closest one.

Juggernaut of Khorne

Must be purchased as a Chaos Reward

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Juggernaut	7	3	0	5	5	3	2	2	10

Protected by a Daemonic Aura (55, 4+ unmodified save). Causes Fear (52). If it charges (27) into hand-to-hand combat (36), its attacks automatically wound; no damage check (23) required. Against vehicles, all attacks automatically hit and the Juggernaut may choose the location struck — armour penetration is 5+3D6. When shooting at a Juggernaut with a rider, randomize all hits between it and the rider. If either is slain, the other continues fighting. A Juggernaut and its rider fight separately — in effect, being multiple combatants (37).

Nurgle

Plague Beasts

38 points per model; 30 points on a Daemon world

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Plague Beast	3	3	0	3	5	3	3	D6	6

The unit has a psychic Mastery Level (40) of 1 per 5 Pink Horrors and one Tzeentch Psychic Power (44) per five Pinks; Blue Horrors do not count. May flame a single target during the shooting phase (31) at a max range of 6". Any model struck suffers D6 S3 hits. All hits in hand-to-hand combat (36) inflict D3 Wounds each. Flamers can move over obstacles (26) without penalty.

Disc of Tzeentch

Must be purchased as a Chaos Reward

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Disc	12	3	0	3	3	1	3	1	10

A unit consists of 3 to 10 models, each with the above stats. All are protected by a Daemonic Aura (55, 4+ unmodified save). Causes Fear (52). Opponents double all Fumbles (37) in hand-to-hand combat (36) and ignore all critical hits (37). If the Fiend wins the combat, it inflicts one additional hit.

Steed of Slaanesh

Must be purchased as a Chaos Reward

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Steed	12	3	0	4	5	1	6	1	10

The Steed is protected by a Daemonic Aura (55, 4+ unmodified save); this does not apply to the rider. Causes Fear (52). Models riding the Steed use standard Cavalry (14) rules. The Steed gets one additional attack in hand-to-hand combat (36), which must be kept track of separately. If this is the highest die for the Steed, then the opponent's Weapon Skill is reduced by D3 before comparing scores. May not be ridden by a model wearing Terminator Armour (237).

Support <50%

Allies

You may pick allied troops from the Ork (136) and Chaos Cult (77) army lists. If your opponent agrees, you may also select from the Imperial Guard (117) section, but IG reserves and pre-battle barrages are disallowed. Allied forces may ignore the normal composition requirements, including command hierarchies.

Artillery Weapons

Chaos versions of Marine artillery weapons (170) also cost an additional 50% above the base cost for standard Space Marines.

Vehicles

With the exception of Chaos Dreadnoughts, Chaos Marine vehicles are identical to their normal Marine counterparts and include Predators (176), Land Raiders (174) and Rhinos (177).

Chaos Razorbacks (178) and Whirlwinds (179) cost an additional 50% above the normal cost for Space Marines.

Chaos Dreadnoughts

Dreadnoughts are subject to frenzy (52) and stupidity (53). Because both can't apply simultaneously, you must follow the following rules.

- If there are enemy models within 12", the Dreadnought becomes frenzied (52) and must charge (27). During this turn, the dreadnought is immune to the effects of its stupidity.
- If there is no enemy within 12" or the Dreadnought cannot move far enough to reach its opponents through being damaged, make a Leadership test (52) instead. If it succeeds, it may operate as desired.
- If the dreadnought fails, it is subject to stupidity (53) until the start of its next turn. In the shooting phase (31), roll a D6 for each Dreadnought suffering stupidity. On a 2-6, it will fire all of its weapons at the nearest enemy model in its fire arc; multiple hits from sustained fire (34) weapons can be spread out among targets within 4" of the first as normal. On a roll of 1, the Dreadnought loses all capacity to identify friend or foe — the Dreadnought fires all of its weapons at the nearest model (friend or foe!) within its firing arc. If this happens, it will pump all of its sustained fire into the same target.

Chaos Dreadnought

Chaos Space Marine Units

135 points + weapons

Walker/Dreadnought (29). All weapons have a 90° arc of fire to the front. For purposes of psychic attacks, the operator (16) has 2 Wounds and a Toughness of 5.

Weapons

Select one Dreadnought Assault Weapon (63) and one Dreadnought Heavy Weapon (63). Carries an auxiliary combi-weapon (63), at no additional cost; this weapon is either mounted on the body or integrated into the arm with the Assault Weapon.

Options

May mount a Havoc Missile Launcher (250) for +30 points.

3-4	May only limp D3" per turn.
5-6	Leg is blown off and the Dreadnought crashes to the ground (effectively destroyed).
D6	Arm Damage Table
1	Ranged weapons in the arm may still be used, but the arm is useless in close combat (36); permanently reduce the Dreadnought's Attacks by 1.
2	Weapons mounted in the arm are jammed, and only work if you first roll a 4+ on a D6 .
3-5	Arm is torn from the body; all weapons in it are destroyed. Permanently subtract 1 from the Dreadnought's Attacks.
6	Arm is destroyed, as previous result. Roll again on the Body Damage Table .
D6	Body Damage Table
1	The Dreadnought will automatically fail any Leadership tests (52) it has to take because of fire frenzy in its next turn without rolling dice.
2	All of the Dreadnought's characteristics are halved for the rest of the game.
3-4	The engine bursts into flames and the machine is immobilised. The Marine inside may fire one arm-mounted weapon. Roll a D6 at the beginning of each player's turn; the Dreadnought explodes on a 1 or 2. The explosion inflicts D6 S10 hits with a -3 save modifier on all models within 3".
5	The operator is killed. The Dreadnought staggers D3" in a random direction and falls to the ground (effectively destroyed).
6	Ammunition explodes, destroying the Dreadnought and killing the operator. Any models within 3" suffer D6 S10 hits with a -2 save modifier.

ANTI-GRAV VEHICLES

Eldar are experts at anti-grav technology, using it as the drive system for even their heavy transports and tanks. The following rules apply to the Falcon (94) and Fire Prism (95).

While flying at Fast speed, these vehicles follow all the normal rules for skimmers (29), and may simply fly over terrain and obstacles. When moving at Slow or Combat speed, however, it may not fly over terrain more than 3" high without colliding (30) with it. Anti-Grav tanks may make pop-up attacks (29) as normal.

These vehicles do not have to land to deploy (29) or take on troops, unlike a normal skimmer.

Hand-to-Hand Combat

Enemy models may attack an anti-grav vehicle in hand-to-hand combat (36) only if it is moving at Slow speed. In addition, they only get a single attack against the vehicle, regardless of their Attack characteristic.

Vehicle Crashes

If the vehicle is flying at Slow speed when it crashes, it simply hits the ground. If any models aboard are alive, they may disembark (29) using normal rules. Otherwise, the vehicle will crash into the ground and plough forward 3D6" before coming to a halt. Any models in the path of the swerving wreck will be hit as if the vehicle had collided (30) with them. Once the wreck comes to a stop, roll a D6 for each model aboard; on a 4+, they are slain in the crash; surviving models may disembark using normal rules.

Instead of normal armour saves, Wraithguard have an Armour Value (35) like vehicles. Roll on the following chart whenever their armour is penetrated:

Roll	Effect
1-2	The Wraithguard is knocked to the ground and may not move next turn.
3-4	The Wraithguard suffers one wound.
5-6	The Wraithguard is destroyed. Any living or Eldar models within 2" have a 1 in 6 chance of being sucked into the warp and destroyed as well. Vehicles and support weapons are unaffected by this phenomenon.

All Harlequins wear a HoloSuit (227, enemy –1 to hit) which also causes Fear (52). In addition, all Harlequin units may fight in dispersed formation (16).

Flip Out of Combat

All Harlequin models may leave hand-to-hand combat (36) at the beginning of their turn, without penalty (37). The controlling player simply states he is exercising that option and may move the Harlequin model up to his maximum normal move. This may not be used to bring the Harlequin into close combat with another model.

IMPERIAL ASSASSINS

You may never have more than one Imperial Assassin in your army.

Assassins General Rules

All Assassins are immune to psychology (52), cannot be broken (51) under any circumstances. All are immune (227) to all biochemical weapons. Needle weapon use their normal Strength value rather than automatically wounding. Assassins count as having auto-senses (218), and may automatically see through gas or smoke clouds which would normally obstruct vision. All Assassins may infiltrate (16).

Dodge

All Imperial Assassins (and some special characters) may dodge incoming attacks, both in close combat (36) and against ranged weapons. This is a 4+ unmodified save, separate from all armour worn. A dodge may be combined with the unmodified save from a Defensive Field if the model is allowed to purchase such. If the character is affected by a template (33) weapon may move up to 2" away when dodging the attack (yes, this includes vortex grenades). If the model is still under the template after that move, it is affected on a 4+ roll of a D6.

Assassin

100 points; pre-Codex Assassins

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Assassin	6	8	8	5	5	4	8	4	10

All armour and weapons are purchased separately. May dodge (111, 4+ unmodified save). Unaffected by psychology (52). Immune (227) to biochemical weapons. May infiltrate (16).

Options

May purchase from the Grenades (106), Armour (104), Assault (105), Special (105), and Heavy (105) weapons lists. May have up to 3 Wargear Cards (17).

Callidus Assassin

237 points including equipment

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Callidus Assassin	6	8	8	5	5	4	8	4	10

Equipped with a C'tan Phase Sword (221), a Neural Shredder (230), Polymorphine (231), and Poison Blades (231). May dodge (111, 4+ unmodified save). Unaffected by psychology (52). Immune (227) to biochemical weapons. May infiltrate (16). Any enemy shooting at a Callidus Assassin from Short Range suffers an additional -2 To Hit penalty, and all enemies shooting from Long Range suffer a -1 penalty; these bonuses apply only if the Assassin is in the open, not if she is behind any kind of cover. At the start of any close combat (36) phase, the Callidus Assassin may disengage without penalty (37), moving up to 2" away; this may not be used to enter another close combat. Controlling player may force their opponent to discard one of their drawn Strategy Cards (19), chosen at random and without using it, at the start of the game.

Culexus Assassin

210 points including equipment

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Culexus Assassin	6	8	8	5	5	4	8	4	10

Wears an Etherium (223), a Force Matrix (225) and an Animus Speculum (217). Armed with Psyk-Out Grenades (232). May dodge (111, 4+ unmodified save). Unaffected by psychology (52). Immune (227) to biochemical weapons. May infiltrate (16). If an enemy unit wishes to shoot or charge (27) the Culexus Assassin, roll a D6 first — on a 2+, the Assassin has distracted the unit and the unit must choose a different target; this only works if the Culexus Assassin has not been wounded.

If there is a psyker in charge range of the Assassin, he may choose to charge the psyker in favour of other enemy models. The Culexus Assassin causes Terror (53) in all models with psychic ability — note that this affects all psykers and overrules all notes of normal immunity to such abilities. Any psyker within 24" of a Culexus Assassin, including friendly or allied units, attempting to use a psychic power must roll a D6; if the roll is less than or equal to the number of Force cards used to play the power, the power is immediately nullified (42) and the psyker suffers a Wound with no armour saves allowed. Powers played with the Ultimate Force (42) card count as being played with 3 Force and cannot be nullified — however, the psyker will still take a Wound if he fails the above test. A Culexus Assassin in hand-to-hand combat (36) with a psyker model may Life Drain the psyker — before fighting each round, the psyker rolls 2D6 and adds his Leadership; the Assassin rolls 3D6, picks the highest two dice, and adds his Leadership. If the Assassin's score is higher, subtract 1 point from one of the psyker's characteristics: WS, BS, S, T, or Ld.

Eversor Assassin

240 points including equipment

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Eversor Assassin	6	8	8	5	5	4	8	4	10

Equipped with an Executor Pistol (223), a Sentinel Array (233), a Neuro-Gauntlet (230), and Eversor Combat Drugs (223). May dodge (111, 4+ unmodified save). Unaffected by psychology (52). Immune (227) to biochemical weapons. May infiltrate (16). Causes Fear (52). If the Eversor Assassin is attacked in hand-to-hand combat (36) by multiple opponents (37), he gains +1 to his Weapon Skill for each opponent after the first when resolving combat with any of them. May fire with his Executor Pistol a number of times equal to his Attacks characteristic (4); this skill may be used on Overwatch (27). If the Assassin is wounded in hand-to-hand combat, he will spray poisonous blood and acids over his attacker; the model causing the wound suffers an S4 hit with a -1 save modifier. When the Eversor is slain, he explodes with the effect of a plasma grenade (274).

Vindicare Assassin

215 points including equipment

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Vindicare Assassin	6	8	8	5	5	4	8	4	10

Wears a Stealth Suit (235) and a Spy Mask (234). Armed with an Exitus Longrifle (224), an Exitus Pistol (224) and Exitus Ammunition (223). May dodge (111, 4+ unmodified save). Unaffected by psychology (52). Immune (227) to biochemical weapons. May infiltrate (16). May ignore all restrictions when choosing a target (31) — if he has Line of Sight to a model, he may fire at it. When firing against a vehicle, the Vindicare Assassin may choose the hit location. The Assassin's Long Range with all weapons he uses is extended by 50%. As long as he remains stationary, the Assassin may fire his Exitus Longrifle twice in the shooting phase (31); this skill may not be used on Overwatch (27). The Assassin may run (27) and fire his Exitus Pistol in the same turn.

IMPERIAL GUARD

UNIT TYPES

There is no game difference between the Tallarn Desert Raiders, the Catachan Jungle Fighters, the Mordian Iron Guard, and the Cadian Shock Troops.

COMMAND SQUADS

Any Imperial Guard unit within 12" of the leader of a Command Squad may take Break tests (51) with the leader's Leadership. For each Command Squad of a particular race (Tallarn Desert Raiders, Mordian Iron Guard, Cadian Shock Troops, Catachan Jungle Fighters), you may have up to three units of the same race and up to three additional units. Command Squads may include Primaris Psykers (118), but only a Command HQ squad may include a Primaris Psyker Lord.

Command HQ

Imperial Guard armies must include at least one Command HQ, which contains the army commander.

FLAK ARMOUR

Most Imperial Troops wear Flak Armour. This normally conveys a 6+ save against all attacks. However, weapons which use a blast marker (33) are saved against on a 5+.

HEAVY WEAPONS TEAMS

Imperial Guard heavy weapons are crewed by a team of two Guardsmen. The shooter and loader must stay within 2" of each other at all times. The loader is armed with the same weapon as the rest of the squad (usually a Lasgun (242)) and can shoot and fight just like any other Guardsman. If the shooter is killed, the loader is allowed to take over the weapon and use it. If for some reason the loader is not within 2" of the shooter, he cannot take over. The shooter also carries a Laspistol (256) which he may use in lieu of firing his heavy weapon. The heavy weapon itself, with the exception of the Lascannon Heavy Weapons team (113, see below) is not a separate target and is only destroyed when both of the heavy weapon team are slain.

Lascannon Heavy Weapons Team

The Lascannon (251) is an entirely separate model, and the shooter model is not physically attached to it. The shooter model must be positioned so its base is touching the weapon in order for him to fire it. The shielding of the Lascannon offers additional protection — if the crew are positioned behind the Lascannon, treat as if they are in hard cover (33). The Lascannon still cannot be independently destroyed and remains in play until both of its crew are slain.

Splitting Heavy Weapons Teams

A squad of Imperial Guardsmen which includes a Heavy Weapon has the option to "split off" the heavy weapons team from the rest of the squad. The heavy weapon team instantly becomes a separate squad and is treated as such in all respects. Once so divided from its squad, a heavy weapons team is not allowed to advance towards the enemy unless there is a Captain (117), Colonel (117), or Lieutenant within 2" of the team, in which case it may move as normal. These rules apply identically to Heavy Weapons Squads (120).

RESERVES

Any vehicles and the troops carried inside them may be held as reserves, and are not deployed at the start of the game. You do not have to tell your opponent that you are doing this, or even that you purchased the units held in reserve. At the start of any of your turns, you may bring any models held in reserve into play, placing them anywhere on your table edge. The vehicles may enter at any speed (28) desired.

PRELIMINARY BARRAGE

Once both sides have deployed (10), but before either side has taken its first turn, you may bring down a hail of fire. Count up the number of Leman Russ battle tanks (122), Imperial Basilisks (122), and Imperial Griffons (122). The number of such tanks represents the number of barrages you may call down. For each barrage, place a 2" blast marker (33) anywhere within sight of any of the leaders of your Command Squads (113). Once templates for all barrages have been placed, roll Scatter Dice for each template:

Scatter Die	Artillery Die	Result
Hit	Misfire	Remove the template with no further effect.
Hit	Number	Direct Hit — Models suffer a hit as described below.
Arrow	Number	Stray Shot — Scatter the template as normal.

Models affected by the template in its final location suffer a hit as from a Battlecannon (258) as follows:

Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
8	2D6	-3	3D6+8	2" blast

Commlink Barrage

If any of your Command Squads (113) has a model equipped with a Commlink, you may use it to call down barrages during the game. At the beginning of the game, roll a D6 and keep rolling until you get a roll of 2+; the resulting score represents the level of communications interference present on the battlefield. At the start of your second and subsequent turns, you may call down one barrage per model equipped with a Commlink. For each barrage you wish to call down, you must roll equal to or above the level of interference on D6 to get the barrage to work. For each Commlink barrage that succeeds in this manner, follow the barrage rules described above.

D6 Hull Damage Table
1	Lascannon is destroyed.
2-3	Roll a D6 for each crew member; on a 4+ they are slain.
4	Engine explodes, killing crew instantly. Tank is spun around to face a random direction, then comes to a halt for the rest of the game.
5	Fuel tank explodes, killing all models on board. Vehicle goes out of control (29) next turn and then explodes; every model within 3” suffers a hit from a Heavy Flamer (251).
6	Ammunition explodes; tank is destroyed and any models within 3” suffer D6 S10 hits with a -3 save modifier.
D6 Side Sponson Damage Table
1	Sponson weapon is damaged and may only be fired if you first roll a 4+ on D6 .

Allies

Allied forces may include any Space Marine (162) Chapter [Blood Angels (180), Dark Angels (182), Legion of the Damned (187), Space Wolves (193), Ultramarines (199)], Imperial Agents (104), or Sisters of Battle (151). Additional allies may be chosen from the Squats (203) or Eldar (82, Avatars are forbidden) army lists. All units may ignore normal composition requirements.

NECRONS

NECRON RULES

Deployment

The Necron player always deploys last and always gets the first turn.

Disruptor Zone

If a vehicle or a dreadnought is within 6" of a Necron at the start of its turn, then it must roll a 4+ on D6 to move at all that turn. Even if successful at this roll, its movement is halved that turn. Any weapon attempting to shoot suffers a -1 To Hit penalty for each Necron within 6". Enemies in close combat (36) may not use the Strength of any close combat weapons when resolving hits; use the Strength of the model itself. This rule applies to all weapons, except Tyranid (207) weaponry.

Isolation

Necrons ordinarily must maintain squad coherency (16) as is normal for a squad. However, "active" Necrons do not need to maintain this coherency with Necrons which have been downed in combat and are attempting to repair (129) themselves. Thus a Necron which repairs itself may find itself outside of normal coherency to the rest of its squad. Necrons in such a condition are said to be isolated.

Necrons which recover must try to join up with a Necron unit of the same type as themselves or with another individual model of the same kind. Until it does so, the Necron is isolated. Isolated Necrons cannot shoot, although fights as normal in all other respects.

Leadership and Defeat

Necrons do not take Leadership tests (52) — any test they would normally be required to take, they automatically pass. The Ld of 10 has been provided for convenience.

If the entire Necron force is reduced to 25% or less of its original number at the start of any Necron turn, then the whole army will mysteriously vanish; the Necrons are assumed to have been driven away. Necrons which have fallen down but not yet removed can't be counted as part of the remaining force, so a Necron army can be defeated if enough models are knocked down even if they are not permanently destroyed.

Repair

Slain Necrons are not removed as casualties but are placed on their sides in a manner similar to that of a slain Tyranid with the Regeneration Biomorph (210). The Necron takes no part in the game while in this condition and cannot be further harmed. At the start of each of its controller's turns, roll a D6:

Roll	Effect
1	The Necron's body fails to repair itself and wastes away; remove the model as a casualty.
2-5	The Necron remains on the ground.
6	The Necron is repaired. It rises to its feet and can immediately move and fight as normal.

Scarab

30 points

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Scarab	8	1	0	3	8	1	2	1	10

Armoured body (2+ save). You may include up to 2 Scarabs for every 5 Necron Warriors in your Necron army. Scarabs do not form units and fight independently on the battlefield in the same manner as characters (15). Enemy troops do not have to shoot at Scarabs if they are the closest unit. In addition, note that all Necrons are subject to the Repair (129), Isolation (129), and Leadership/Defeat (129) rules for Necrons.

Instead of its normal 8" move, a Scarab may make a leap of up to 16". Leaping Scarabs may move over any terrain during their leap without penalty, but are assumed to land at the end of the leap.

Scarabs attached to a vehicle or a unit with armour locations reduce the Armour Value at all locations by 3 while they are attached. This effect is cumulative; so a Leman Russ Battle Tank (122) with three Scarabs attached to it would have a Turret armour value of 16 from the front (25-9). It does not matter where the Scarabs are physically attached to the tank, since all armour locations are affected equally.

D6 Destroyer Damage Table
1	Gauss Cannon is destroyed.
2	Destroyer may only move at Slow speed for the rest of the game.
3	Roll a D6 at the start of each of the Destroyer's movement phases (26). On a 4+ , the Necron retains control and can move normally; otherwise, the Destroyer moves out of control (29) for that turn.
4	Destroyer moves out of control and crashes to the ground, where it is destroyed. Anybody under the model when it crashes takes D3 S6 hits with a -2 save modifier.
5	Destroyer plummets straight to the ground and is destroyed. Anybody under the Destroyer when it strikes the ground takes D3 S6 hits with a -2 save modifier.
6	Destroyer moves out of control and then explodes spectacularly. Anyone beneath the fireball takes D6 S6 hits with a -4 save modifier.
Necron Warrior Damage Table
	Roll to wound the Warrior as normal; if the Necron is slain, the Destroyer moves out of control, and continues to move in this manner until it moves off the table, is destroyed, or the Necron Warrior makes a successful repair (129) roll, in which case he regains control of the vehicle.

ORKS

Strategy Rating

Though Orks normally have a Strategy Rating (10) of only 3, they double it when determining who has the first turn; this means that Orks roll D6+6 to determine who goes first (10).

Mission Cards

Redraw the Mission Card (18) if a Witch Hunt (18) or The Assassins (18) card is drawn for Ork forces.

Attacking

Ork artillery pieces are generally manned by a crew of two or more. Hits on the crew are resolved normally; if the crew is reduced to half strength or less, the weapon to which they are assigned may only be fired if you first roll a 4+ on D6 (obviously, if all the weapon's crew are slain, the weapon may not be fired at all). The weapon itself is assumed to have an Armour Value of 10; any penetrating shots will destroy the weapon entirely.

Moving

The crew of an Orky artillery piece may move it up to 2" in its movement phase, but if it is moved in a turn, it may not be fired later that turn. Normally, the weapon is towed by an Ork vehicle.

ORK SPECIAL EQUIPMENT

Ork 'Eavy Armour

Provides a 4+ armour save. That's it. Nothing more.

Ork Mega-Armour

Confers a 2+ armour save and incorporates a Targeter (236, +1 to hit). In addition, if the Ork wearing this armour fails its normal armour save, it may make another, unmodified armour save of 4+ on D6.

Stormboy Jump Packs

Orky Jump Packs operate just like normal Wargear Card Jump Packs (228), except that, being Orky, they're more volatile. To represent this, instead of Scattering the wearer D3" from his desired landing point, roll the Artillery die and halve the distance to determine how far he misjudges. Additionally, if you roll a Misfire, then something has gone predictably Orkily wrong; roll on the table below:

1	Blow up in mid-air. The wearer is slain outright.
2	Blow up on landing. The wearer is slain outright; any models within D3" of its landing point suffer an S4 hit with a -1 save modifier.
3-5	Haywire. Scatter the wearer 3D6" away from his desired landing point.
6	Waaaagh! The wearer is borne over the horizon by the malfunctioning jump pack, but is not counted as a casualty for Victory Point purposes.

House Rule: While appropriately Orky, this is still fiddly as all hell, and skipping the scatter/artillery roll is again a common house rule, as it is for regular jump packs.

MADBOYZ BEHAVIOUR

If your army includes Madboyz (141), roll a D6 at the start of the game to determine the mob's insanity:

1	Afraid! The Madboyz suffer from fear (52) of all enemy models, but are otherwise unaffected by other psychology (52) rules.
2	Duh? The Madboyz must test for stupidity (53) at the start of each turn, but are otherwise unaffected by all psychology (52).
3	Get 'em! Every Madboy suffers from hatred (53) of every enemy model on the board. They may, however, ignore any other psychology (52) rules.
4	Grrrr... All Madboyz on the board suffer from frenzy (52), all the time. They disregard all other psychology (52) rules.
5	Waaaagh! The mob is so out in left field it completely ignores every psychology (52) rule, including it's own insanity!
6	Crazed! The Madboyz insanity has gone over the edge. In addition to being immune to all psychology (52), the mob gets +1 to one to the following characteristics, determined randomly: M (1), WS (2), BS (3), S (4), T (5), A (6)

At the beginning of each Ork turn, roll another D6. On a 1-5, the behaviour is unchanged. On a 6, re-roll for a new insanity which takes hold from that point forward. If the unit is somehow broken (51), re-roll on the above chart whenever the unit rallies (51).

Wazdakka rides a specially kustomised warbike that uses the following 4 Vehicle Cards (276): Kustom Force Field (228), Squig Fuel Injector (279), Supercharged Engine (277), Reinforced Armour (276). In addition, the warbike is fitted with a Battlecannon (258), an Autolauncher (240) with Frag Stikkbombz (272) and Blind Stikkbombz (272), as well as the normal warbike Autocannon (249). The autocannon and battle cannon are linked and must fire at the same target, although the Autocannon can use their sustained fire ability to hit targets within 4" of the primary target. The Battlecannon can always fire, even if the Autocannon is jammed. Wazdakka and his warbike are pushed D3" directly backwards every time the Battlecannon is fired, and will collide with any model or obstacle they hit.

Special Rules

Wazdakka is a highly skilled biker, and adds +2 to the dice roll when he rolls on the Bike Skid Turn table. Unfortunately he is very reluctant to slow down or stop once his bike is moving. To represent this, he may not decrease his speed compared to a previous turn (e.g. from Combat speed to Slow speed) unless he takes and passes a speed test on a D6 first.

- 1-3 Slows Down
- 4-5 Same Speed
- 6 Yaaaaaargh! The vehicle accelerates to its maximum speed.

4	Roll a D6 at the start of each of the War Trukk's movement phases (26); on a 4+ , it moves normally; otherwise, it moves out of control (29) for that turn.
5	Engine explodes, killing the crew. The wreck hurtles out of control (29) next turn before coming to a permanent halt.
6	Fuel explodes, killing crew. The flaming wreck hurtles out of control (29) next turn and then explodes, causing D3 S8 hits with a -3 save modifier to all models within 3" .
Passenger Damage Table
	Hit the passenger or crew nearest to the attacker, or randomize if unclear. Roll to see if the target is slain as normal. If the attack has a blast marker, any models under the template are struck on a D6 roll of 4+ .

SISTERS OF BATTLE

This army list is collectively referred to as an Ecclesiarchy list. Ecclesiarchy characters and units are divided into two types: Adepta Sororitas and Adeptus Ministorum.

SACRED RITES

Some Ecclesiarchy characters may lead a squad they accompany in the Sacred Rites. The Rites apply to all members of the squad and any characters who start the battle in squad coherency (16) with them, including the character leading the Rites. Ecclesiarchy characters refuse to lead Ogryns and Ratlings in the Sacred Rites, even though Ecclesiarchy characters can join their squads, and cannot lead any Space Marine, Adeptus Mechanicus, or Inquisitor characters that join them. If a character leading a squad in the Sacred Rites subsequently leaves the unit, both the character and the squad lose their Rite benefit for the rest of the battle.

Roll a D6 just before the battle begins for each squad that will receive the Rites, and add the following modifiers to the die roll (all modifiers are cumulative):

Squad led by Canoness: +3

Squad led by Veteran Seraphim Superior: +2

Squad led by Sister Superior: +1

Squad led by Missionary Major Hero: +1

Character leading the squad has the Litanies of Faith Relic: roll two dice and choose which one to apply

Helena the Virtuous anywhere in your army: +1

(treat results of 10 for squads not directly led by Helena as 9).

One or more psykers anywhere in your army: -1

D6	Sacred Rites Effect
1	No effect.
2	The squad is immune to fear (52) and terror (53).
3	The squad becomes subject to frenzy (52).
4	The squad adds +1 to its Leadership (max 10).
5	The squad hates (53) the enemy.
6	Each squad member has a 4+ psychic save on a D6 . This is not a Nullify (42); roll for each individual model.
7	The squad automatically passes all psychology (52) and Break tests (51) it is required to make.
8	The squad may ignore the choosing a target (31) rules.
9	Once per battle at the end of the Shooting Phase (31) the squad may fire again. All other weapon rules still apply.

Mounts

With your opponent's permission, you may field Frateris Milita (159) and non-Adepta Sororitas characters on horses. This costs +3 points per model and increases the model's Movement to 8". All the rules for Cavalry (14) apply, so the model gains +1 to their armour save. The mounts have no attacks of their own.

Relics

An Ecclesiarchy character may take a Relic instead of a Wargear Card (17), or may take an ordinary Wargear card and treat it as a Relic at twice the normal points cost. For example, a character that could take one Wargear card and one Relic may have 1 of each, 2 Wargear cards (one at double cost), or 2 Relics. Relics that have an area of affect do not confer any bonus to Space Marine or Adeptus Mechanicus models (Inquisition models do benefit).

Axe of Retribution: 20 points

See the weapon profile (265) for more information.

Blade of Admonition: 7 points

See the weapon profile (265) for more information.

Book of St. Lucius: 5 points

Any troops within 8" of the character at the start of the Rally Phase (51) may use the character's Leadership for their test to rally. They may attempt to rally even if they are not in cover or would otherwise not be able to do so.

Brazier of Holy Fire: 18 points

Once per battle the Brazier can be used as a Heavy Flamer (251) you can move and fire with (as it is not a true heavy weapon). See the weapon profile (265) for more information.

Cloak of St. Aspira: 5 points

A character wearing the cloak may add +1 to any armour saving throws derived from physical armour. Field saves or any other type of saves are unaffected. Only one cloak may be worn.

Flail of Chastisement: 8 points

See the weapon profile (267) for more information.

Litanies of Faith: 8 points

A character with the Litanies of Faith leading a squad in the Sacred Rites (151) can roll 2 dice and choose which one to apply.

Medicus Ministorum: 15 points

The bearer can spend their shooting and close combat phase doing nothing and then make a Leadership test (52); if the bearer passes the test, one injured model in base contact heals 1 Wound. A model with 0 Wounds is raised to 1 Wound. Must be done no later than the turn after the model receives the Wound. Characters cannot heal themselves.

Phial of Dolan: 10 points

The character may drink the contents of the vial at the start of any turn. For the rest of the player's turn the character's Strength and Toughness are increased by D3 each (roll separately). One use only.

Praesidium Protectiva: 8 points

Requires a free hand to use, and may parry (37) a close combat (36) attack in the character's front arc, and provides an unmodified 4+ saving throw on a D6 against close combat attacks. If a roll of 6 is made for the save, the attacking model receives the hit instead. Has no effect on shooting attacks.

Purity Seal: 8 points

The bearer is not affected by Fear (52) or Terror (53). If the bearer is targeted by a psychic attack they will be unaffected on a D6 roll of 4+. The attack is not Nullified (42); other models may be affected even if the character is not. Ceases to function once it has successfully protected its bearer from one psychic attack. Unlike other Relics, any character allowed to take "Imperium Only" wargear can purchase a Purity Seal; it counts as a Wargear Card (17).

Rosarius: 10 points

Contains a Conversion Field (221).

Simulacrum Imperialis: 5 points

Any unit with line of sight to the Simulacrum automatically passes the first Leadership test (52) it is required to make in the game.

Staff of Belief: 12 points

See the weapon profile (270) for more information.

Tears of the Emperor: 15 points

The phial can be thrown just like a grenade and uses a 2" blast marker. Any daemon affected takes a wound on a D6 roll of 4+, which cannot be resisted by its daemonic aura (55). One use only.

6	Track is blown off and the Immolator flips over; wreck comes to a rest D6" away in a random direction. Any model it lands on takes D6 S7 hits with a -2 save modifier. Roll a D6 for each model aboard; on a 4+ they are slain in the crash. Surviving models may dismount as normal.
D6	Hull Damage Table
1-3	Explosion rips through the crew compartment; each crew member must roll a 4+ on D6 to avoid being slain.
4	Engine explodes, killing crew instantly. Immolator is spun around to face a random direction, then comes to a halt for the rest of the game.

3	Turret gunner slain. Unless her position is taken over by the driver the turret weapons may no longer be fired.
4-6	Fuel pipes in the turret explode; the Immolator is destroyed. The crew is slain and the turret is blown off, flying 2D6" in a random direction; anything under the spot where it lands suffers D6 S9 hits with a -6 save modifier.

If the Turret is struck roll a D6. On a 1-3 roll on the turret damage table as normal; on a 4-6 the gunner is hit – roll to wound her as normal. If she is killed the turret weapons may not be fired unless the driver takes over the gunner's spot. Due to the turret gunner blast shield, even if a blast marker covers the gunner she will still only be hit on a D6 roll of 4+.

Unlike most armies, points expended on Allies are calculated separately from Support. Allies may come from any Space Marine (162) Chapter [Blood Angels (180), Dark Angels (182), Legion of the Damned (187), Space Wolves (193), Ultramarines (199)], Imperial Agents (104)), or the Imperial Guard (117). Additional allies may be drawn from the Eldar (82) or Squats (203) army lists. All allied units may ignore normal composition requirements, including command hierarchies.

- When using a Canoness as an Ally, she must be accompanied by a Bodyguard.
- Frateris Militia may only be taken as Allies as long as you include at least one Adeptus Ministorum character.
- You may only take Seraphim squads as Allies if you include at least one Adepta Sororitas character or Battle Sisters squad.

SPACE MARINES

SPACE MARINE CHAPTERS

Each Chapter of the Space Marines has its own additional rules, units, and models. These are listed in separate sections alphabetically by chapter.

Regardless of Chapter, all Space Marines have the following advantages:

Break Tests

Space Marines who fail a Leadership Test become Shaken, not Broken (51). Shaken troops may not move towards the enemy but are otherwise unaffected by the condition. Shaken troops may move away from an enemy if you wish to, but this is not a requirement. Shaken troops are allowed to pivot to face an enemy; if surrounded, and therefore unable to move without approaching an enemy, they are only allowed to pivot. Shaken troops may attempt to recover during the Rally Phase (51), as normal. If Shaken troops fail another Leadership test, they will become Broken (51).

Combat Squads

Though most Space Marine squads are purchased in 10-man units, you may split any such squad into 2 Combat Squads of 5 models apiece. These squads fight totally independently — and only the squad which includes the Sergeant may use his Leadership for Break tests (51). The splitting of squads must be made and declared prior to the start of the battle, and is irreversible (for example, the combat squads may not reform into a single squad halfway through the game).

Flexible Leadership

Any Space Marine character in your army is eligible to be the leader of that army. However, the highest ranking character in the army must be chosen (so a Captain must be chosen over a Veteran Sergeant, for example, and a Chapter Master overrides all). Any unit within 12" may use that character's Leadership for their Break tests (51).

Rapid Fire

If a Space Marine does no movement other than rotate, is not engaged in hand-to-hand combat (36), and is using a Boltgun (240), Bolt Pistol (256), or Storm Bolter (244), he may fire twice during the shooting phase (31). Both shots are at the same target. Part of a squad may Rapid Fire while the rest fires as normal.

Techmarines & Vehicles

In order to include Dreadnoughts (173), Support Weapons (165), or Vehicles apart from bikes in your army, the army must include at least one Techmarine (167). In addition, the army is limited to 3 Servitors (170) for each Techmarine you include.

At the start of hand-to-hand combat (36), Mephistron may attempt to ‘transfix’ any one model he is fighting with his stare. The target must make a successful Leadership test (52) on 2D6 to avoid the effect; models failing this have their Weapon Skill reduced to 0 for that turn.

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Death Company Marine	4	5	4	4	4	(2)	4	1	10

An army may include one Death Company, which includes at least 5 Marines with the above stats. Each wears Power Armour (3+ save) and is armed with a Bolt Pistol (256). Death Company models have one real Wound and one temporary Wound — at the end of the battle, but before Victory Points (17) are tallied, each model loses the 1 temporary Wound. This means that models which suffer 1 Wound will keep fighting but die at the end of the game before Victory Points are established. Must be led by a Chaplain (167) of the Blood Angels Chapter. The unit may fight in dispersed formation (16). If the Chaplain perishes mid-combat, coherency (16) rules no longer apply and each model is subject to frenzy (52). If there is no enemy within charge (27) range, each model will move its maximum normal move in a random direction; this is compulsory movement (26).

Options

Any model may purchase Assault Weapons (163). Any model may be equipped with Frag (272) grenades for +2 points per model, Krak (272) grenades for +3 points per model, and/or Meltabombs (272) for +5 points per model. Either size unit may be identically equipped with Grenades (163) for the listed cost per model.

Blood Angels have the same options for allies (170) and support (170) equipment as other Chapters.

DARK ANGELS RULES

The Dark Angels are a Chapter of the Space Marines (162). You may choose to play a Dark Angels army instead of a normal Space Marines army. If you do, you may supplement the normal Space Marines army list and rules with the following. Note that the following rules are in addition to all other rules which normally apply to Space Marines, and apply only to Dark Angels Space Marines.

Ravenwing

Members of the Ravenwing are elite vehicle-mounted troops whose abilities are most prominent when they are mounted on a bike (172) or land speeder (175).

Expert Riders

Any member of the Ravenwing may re-roll the dice if they fail a Skid Turn (28) test. In addition, they suffer no to hit modifiers when they fire from a vehicle that is moving at Fast Speed.

Jink

Enemies firing on a Ravenwing bike or land speeder suffer a –1 to hit in addition to other modifiers.

Deathwing

Members of the Deathwing are immune to psychology (52) and automatically pass any Break tests (51). Notably, all Dark Angels Librarians and high-ranking Chaplains are part of the Deathwing.

Fallen Angels

In the early days of the Chapter, some Dark Angels split from the original Legion and went renegade. These Marines are known as Fallen Angels. They follow all normal rules for Space Marines (162), but none of the special rules for Dark Angels. Fallen Angels are purchased as Veteran Chaos Marines (68), with the same equipment and wargear options. Fallen Angels hate (53) all loyal members of the Dark Angels.

Dark Angels Hatred

Similarly, all members of the Ravenwing (182) and Deathwing (182) are affected by hatred (53) towards the Fallen Angels, even those who are otherwise immune to psychology (52).

Mission: Blood Feud

In a battle involving Fallen Angels and Dark Angels, the Dark Angels side gains an additional +1 Victory Point (17) for each Fallen Angel model killed. Likewise, the Fallen Angels player gains +1 Victory Point for each Fallen Angel model still alive at the end of the battle.

SPACE WOLVES RULES

The Space Wolves are a Chapter of the Space Marines (162). You may choose to play a Space Wolves army instead of a normal Space Marines army. If you do, you may supplement the normal Space Marines army list and rules with the following. Note that the following rules are in addition to all other rules which normally apply to Space Marines, and apply only to Space Wolves Space Marines.

Hatred of Thousand Sons Chaos Space Marines

During the dark days of the Horus Heresy, the Space Wolves fought many long battles against the Thousand Sons Space Marines. On many occasions since, the two old enemies have fought and their battles are always grim and bloody. To represent this, all Space Wolves use the rules for hatred (53) when fighting Thousand Sons Chaos Space Marines.

Acute Senses

The perceptions of the Space Wolves are extremely keen, even more so than normal Space Marines. This is undoubtedly a result of their special genetics — part of the mixed blessing of the curse of the Wulfen. To reflect this advantage, Space Wolves can spot hidden (27) troops at up to twice the normal distance; i.e. double the warrior's Initiative value in inches.

TYRANIDS

STRATEGY CARDS

As a Tyranid player, you do not draw Strategy Cards (19) as normal. Instead, you get to roll on the following tables before either side deploys at the start of the game. You roll a D6 for each squad, vehicle, Dreadnought, and character model in the opposing force. In addition, the opposing player must remove the Virus Outbreak, Malfunction, and Traitor Strategy Cards from the deck before drawing, since they don't make sense when used against Tyranids.

Character Event Table

Roll a D6 for each of your opponent's characters (15).

1	Hatred. The character hates (53) the Tyranids.
2-5	No effect.
6	Wounded. The character starts the game at -1 Wounds.

Squad Event Table

Roll D6 for each of your opponent's squads.

1-3	No effect.
4	"We can't take any more!" This squad Fears (52) all Tyranids; those Tyranids which already cause Fear cause Terror (53) for this squad instead.
5	"Jones is acting strangely." Roll a D6 at the start of each of your turns; on a 6 , randomly select a model from the squad's original numbers. If the model is already gone, ignore this effect. Otherwise, the model is slain as a Barbed Strangler (249) bursts out of it and attempts to destroy everything nearby.
6	"They're all around us!" The squad does not deploy as normal on the first turn, but may instead move from your opponent's edge of the table in his second turn. In addition, roll another D6 ; on a 4+ , a random member of the squad vanishes without a trace. This is the only result that will affect Eldar Wraithguard (90).

Dreadnought/Walker Event Table

Roll D6 for each of your opponent's Dreadnoughts or Walker units.

1-3	No effect.
4	Low on Fuel. Roll a D6 each time the vehicle moves; add +2 if it ran or charged this turn. Any total of 6+ means the Dreadnought is immobilised for the rest of the game due to lack of fuel.
5	"They're all around us!" The Dreadnought is not deployed as normal at the beginning of the game, and may instead be deployed from its controller's table edge during the beginning of his second turn.
6	Corrosive Damage. In the Dreadnought's first turn, roll for a random hit location on the vehicle's datafax and then roll a D3 on the appropriate damage table for the effect. Re-roll the dice if the damage hits a crewman (16).

Vehicle Event Table

Roll a D6 for each of your opponent's non-Dreadnought vehicles.

1-3	No effect.
4	“What the ?” A Skulker has gotten onboard the vehicle. Roll a D6 each time the vehicle moves: on a 4+, the Skulker attacks a random crew member (16) in hand-to-hand combat (36). If the driver is attacked, the vehicle will move out of control (29) that turn; if a gunner is targeted, one randomly-determined weapon may not fire. Neither side counts as charging (27), and other crew can’t help. If the Skulker slays its target, it will attack another in the next turn and continue until the whole crew (or it) is dead. <table><tr><td>Profile</td><td>WS</td><td>S</td><td>T</td><td>W</td><td>I</td><td>A</td></tr><tr><td>Skulker</td><td>3</td><td>3</td><td>1</td><td>1</td><td>4</td><td>1</td></tr></table>	Profile	WS	S	T	W	I	A	Skulker	3	3	1	1	4	1

Skulker	3	3	1	1	4	1
5	“ They’re all around us! ” The vehicle does not deploy at the beginning of the game, but may enter on its controller’s table edge at the start of his second turn.
6	Corrosive Damage. On its first turn, roll a random hit location and roll a D3 on the appropriate damage table, re-rolling if the damage is done to a crewman (16).

MISSION CARDS

Due to the unusual nature of Tyranids, only the Assassins (18), Engage and Destroy (18), Hold the Line (18), Take and Hold (18), and Witch Hunt (18) Mission Cards (18) may be taken against them. All others either do not apply or are disallowed. Tyranids select their mission randomly from the following list:

1	Bunker Assault (18) (Re-roll if the enemy is not using bunkers)
2	Engage and Destroy (18)
3	Dawn Raid (18)
4	Terrorize (18)
5	Tyranid Attack (19)
6	Trap (18)

WEAPON IMMUNITIES

Tyranids are curious genetic monstrosities which are completely unlike other humanoid lifeforms. As a result, their physiology is naturally resistant to many types of weapons and effects. Unless a weapon or effect is specifically mentioned here, it affects all Tyranids normally.

Conversion Field/Photon Flash Flare

Tyranids count as Unprotected troops against these devices; Tyranids recover from being blinded on a 3+ instead of the normal 5+.

Flamers

Tyranids caught on fire (23) may ignore the flames and keep fighting, though they take damage as normal.

Grenades

Tyranids are immune (227) to Choke, Hallucinogen, Scare, Toxin, and Virus grenades.

Heavy Bolter Hellfire Shells

Tyranids are vulnerable to this weapon and take damage as normal from it.

Needle Weapons, Shuriken Screamer Ammo

Tyranids are completely immune to these weapons.

Pulsa Rokkit, Shokk Attack Gun

All Tyranids are counted as "foot troops" against these weapons.

Smasha Gun

Tyranid Warriors, Zoanthropes, and Lictors count as Terminator-sized targets. Hive Tyrants and Carnifexes count as Dreadnought-sized targets.

Squig Catapult

Tyranids not specifically mentioned count as “Tyranids” and have a 4+ save against Buzzer Squigs.

BIOMORPHS

Some models may take Biomorphs, the Tyranid bio-equivalent of Wargear. Where applicable, the ability to take these alterations and the number which may be taken are noted in the model’s description.

Acid Blood

+5 points per model

If the creature is wounded or slain, all models in base-to-base contact with it will suffer an automatic hit with a Strength equal to the slain creature’s Toughness. The acid will cause 1 Wound and has a save modifier of –1 for each point of its Strength over 3.

Acute Senses

+0; Lictor only

May detect hidden (27) models within 2x its Initiative characteristic in inches.

Adrenaline Sac

+10 points per model

Once per game, the creature may either charge (27) and fire or run (27) and fire in the shooting phase (31) in the same turn even if it using a move or fire weapon or charging into hand-to-hand combat (36).

Aura of Torment

+10 points per model

All non-Tyranids within 8” of the creature suffer a –2 modifier to their Leadership for the purposes of Break (52), Rally (51), and Leadership-based psychology (52) tests.

Bio-Plasma Attack

+40 points per model

May fire a Bio-Plasma (249) attack once per round. Counts as a move-or-fire support weapon (31).

Chameleon Scales

+0; Lictor only

Any shots fired at a Lictor which did not move in its previous turn are at an additional –1 to hit. If it hides, it can’t be spotted — it can only be detected. A Scanner (233) or Bionic Eye (219) can only detect a hidden Lictor on a D6 roll of 4+. While hiding, it may only be attacked by weapons with a blast marker (33).

Enhanced Senses

+2 points per model

May detect hidden (27) models within 3x its Initiative characteristic in inches. Enemy models may not infiltrate (16) within line of sight. Cameleoline (220) is ineffective against this sense.

Flesh Hooks

+7 points per model

The creature may fire up to 2 Flesh Hooks (242) in the shooting phase (31), but may not use its flesh hooks and fire another ranged weapon in the same turn.

Hardened Carapace

+10 points per model

The creature is granted a 2+ saving throw on D6; note that this armour save is used in lieu of any others it might have had. Note also that Lictors' saving throws cannot be reduced to less than 5+ by modifiers.

Null Zone

+35 points per model

If the creature is to be affected by a psychic power, it may nullify (42) it on a D6 roll of 4+ automatically. This nullify may be used against powers targeted directly at the creature and against powers which affect an area or marker including the creature. Distortion cannons (258), Wraithcannons (245) and Vortex (275) grenades are weapons which use Warp energy, and the Null Zone protects against them.

Optic Membranes

+1 point per model

The creature gets a 2+ saving throw on D6 against being blinded by a Photon Flash Flare (273), Conversion field (221) or similar effect.

Regenerate

+10 points per model per Wound the model has

If the creature is reduced to 0 Wounds, place it on its side; the model may still be fired at or hit in close combat as normal. In the Rally phase of the next Tyrannid turn, roll to Regenerate each Wound the creature has suffered (including Wounds taken on previous turns). Roll a die for each Wound; on a 4+, the Wound is removed. All unhealed Wounds remain. If after rolling to regenerate, the creature has more Wound markers remaining than it has in its Wounds (W) characteristic, the model is removed as a casualty.

Sharpened Claws

+5 points per model

The Strength of the creature in close combat (36) is boosted by +2, and its hits in close combat count as psychic attacks for the purposes of penetrating daemonic auras (55), etc.

Toughened Exoskeleton

+10 points per model

The creature's Toughness is at +1 to a maximum of 10.

Venom Sacs

+5 points per model

Any hits the creature inflicts in close combat (36) cause D3 Wounds instead of 1.

Voltage Field

+20 points per model

The creature gains an additional unmodified saving throw of 4+ on D6. If the creature is within 4" of a field of any kind, the voltage field will burn it out (rendering it disabled for the rest of the game) on a 4+ on D6. In addition, the creature gains a +1 bonus to its Strength in close combat (36).

Warp Blast

+0; Zoanthropes only

In the psychic phase (40), Zoanthropes may unleash a Warp Blast (271) that acts just like a normal ranged weapon. The standard choosing a target (31) rules apply. Though this does not require any Force cards, you may use one or more to fuel its power. See the weapon profile (271) for more information.

Warp Field

+40 points per model

Roll 2D6 against each attack that hits the creature. If the roll beats the Strength value of the attack, the psychic shield stops it harming the creature in any way. If the roll is equal to or less than the Strength, it the attack pierces the shield; make Wound and armour save rolls as normal. Weapons lacking a Strength value such as a Wraithcannon (245), Needle Rifles (243), Shokk Attack Guns (253), Vortex (275) grenades and the like count as having Strength 6. Psychic attacks may be blocked but only if they have an explicit Strength value in their description.

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Hive Tyrant	6	9	7	6	6	5	8	5	10

Chitinous carapace (4+ save). Armed with claws (S6 equals -3 save modifier) and a bad attitude. Tyranid armies must contain at least one Hive Tyrant as the commander, and may have up to 1 more for each thousand points or fraction thereof. Hive Tyrants have a Strategy Rating (10) of 1. Hive Tyrants have an effective psychic Mastery Level (40) of 4; powers are purchased separately. Hive Tyrants cause Terror (53). Any Tyranids within 18" automatically pass any Leadership test (52). Broken (51) broods within 18" during the Rally Phase (51) automatically rally.

Options

May take up to 3 Biomorphs (209). May purchase up to 4 psychic powers (49).

The Tyrant may choose one of the following weapons:

Bio-Weapon	Cost
Deathspitter (241)	13

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Zoanthrope	4	4	5	4	4	3	3	2	10

Zoanthropes are psykers of Mastery Level (40) 2; they always have the following two powers: Warp Field (210) and Warp Blast (210). Affected by all weapons and psychic events which affect daemons and/or psykers, including Psychic Duels (42). All hand-to-hand combat (36) attacks count as psychic attacks for the purposes of penetrating daemonic auras (55). Zoanthropes cause Fear (52), are immune to psychology (52) and will pass any Break tests (51).

Lictor

96 points

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Lictor	6	7	4	6	5	3	8	4	10

Armed with claws (S6 equals a -3 save mod) and two Flesh Hooks (242). Lictors have Acute Senses (209) and Chameleon Scales (209, enemy -1 to hit). Opponents wounded in close combat (36) suffer additional D6-Toughness wounds from poison at the end of the combat phase. Lictors may infiltrate (16), are immune to psychology (52) and automatically pass any Leadership tests (52). Lictors cause Fear (52) in enemy models and players.

Options

Lictors may have one additional 1 Biomorph (209).

Broods 25%+

Gargoyle Brood

16 points per model

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Gargoyle	20	3	3	3	3	1	3	1	5

A brood has between 6 and 12 models, all with the above stats. Armed with Flamespurts (241). Gargoyles (213) fly up to 20" as their sole form of movement, and ignore all penalties for terrain (26). Even when running (27) or charging (27), Gargoyles may still only move up to 20" per turn.

At the start of its movement phase (26), a Gargoyle brood may declare that it is flying away from the battlefield. They may take no other actions that turn, and the models are removed from the table. Models may disengage (37) from hand-to-hand combat (36) in this way without penalty. A brood which has left the battle in a previous turn may land back on the table anywhere it wishes during its next movement phase (26). It may not make any other movement that turn. Models diving into hand-to-hand combat (36) count the +1 Weapon Skill bonus for charging (27).

Genestealer Brood

28 points per model

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Genestealer	6	7	0	6	4	1	7	4	10

A brood has between 6 and 12 models, all with the above stats. Each has Chitinous armour (5+ save). Armed with claws (S6 is a -3 save mod). Immune to psychology (52). Cause Fear (52).

Hormagaunt Brood

Hormagaunt	6	4	0	4	3	1	4	2	5

A brood has between 6 and 24 models, all with the above stats. Armed with claws (S4, -1 save mod). Gains a 6" leap when running (27) or charging (27) — thus a total move of up to 18"; the leap ignores terrain up to 3" in size. Hormagaunts must still charge (27) the closest unengaged enemy model.

Termagant Brood

6 points per model

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Termagant	6	4	3	3	3	1	4	1	5

A brood has between 6 and 24 models, all with the above stats. Each is armed with a Fleshborer (242), and has no armour.

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Tyranid Warrior	6	6	4	5	5	2	5	3	10

A brood has between 3 and 6 models, all with the above stats. Each has Chitinous armour (5+ save) and comes with 2 Boneswords (246). Any Tyranids within 12" automatically pass any Leadership tests (52). Immune to psychology (52). Causes Fear (52).

Allies

A Tyranid swarm may not include any allies.

Biovore

20 points

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Biovore	4	3	3	4	4	2	1	1	10

Armed with claws (S4, -1 save mod). You may have up to 1 Biovore per 750 points. May include up to 6 Spore Mines (214) (purchased separately) and may fire one each shooting phase (31) with a range of up to 100"; when doing so, you may pick any target on the battlefield. Instead of rolling to hit normally, roll the Scatter die; a roll of a Hit means the spore mine drifts down D6 inches away from the nominated target point in a random direction indicated. An arrow means the mine drifts 3D6 inches in that direction.

Carnifex

199 points

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Carnifex	6	6	4	7	8	10	6	4	10

Chitinous armour (3+ save on 2D6). Armed with claws (S7, -4 save mod) and bio-plasma attack (249). Causes Terror (53). May choose to roll only one attack die at Strength 10, causing D3 Wounds.

Options

A Carnifex may have up to 2 Biomorphs (209).

Ripper Swarm

20 points per base (0-1x)

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Ripper Base	4	3	0	4	3	5	1	5	10

A swarm consists of any number of Ripper bases. Armed with claws (S4, -1 save mod). Immune to psychology (52). Enemy models in hand-to-hand combat (36) do not count the normal bonuses for multiple combatants (37). Any organic terrain that a base moves over should be removed from the tabletop. Rippers ignore all penalties for terrain (26) and can even slither up vertical surfaces.

Spore Mines

10 points per Mine

Troop Type	M	WS	BS	S	T	W	I	A	Ld
Spore Mine	2D6	0	0	1	4	1	1	0	10

Spore mines move 2D6" in a random direction each of your movement phases (26). If they move within 1" of a non-Tyranid model, they explode, hitting everything within D6". Hits are at S5 and cause D3 Wounds apiece with a -2 save modifier. Armour penetration (35) is 10+2D3+D6. Tyranid creatures hit by an exploding spore mine suffer an S5 hit causing 1 damage with no save modifier. Spore Mines are never worth any Victory Points (17) to the enemy.

Bio-tanks

These are Armorcast (www.armorcast.com) models and the rules are approved by Games Workshop.

Exocrine

165 points

Slug/Tracked (28). Causes fear (52). Immune to psychology (52). May fight in close combat (36) — because the Exocrine is so large, bonuses for additional attackers do not apply.

Options

Armed with one Bio-Cannon (258) with a 45° forward arc, and Spore Cysts (263) with a 360° arc of fire.

Special Rules

If the Exocrine's link with the Hive Mind is severed, it will Nest. While Nesting, it will remain stationary and fire its chitin shells at the nearest enemy target, whether vehicle or infantry. When a Tyranid vehicle rams or charges another vehicle, work out damage to the other vehicle as normal. For the Tyranid vehicle the location that actually touches the other vehicles is hit on a D6 roll of 4+ and other locations are hit on a D6 roll of 6. Work out damage for any hit locations as normal.

2-5	The foot is destroyed. The Exocrine comes to a permanent halt for the rest of the battle.
6	The foot is splattered across the landscape and a massive muscle contraction causes the Exocrine to flip into the air. The Exocrine is killed and the remains come to rest D6" away in a random direction. Any models under the remains take D6 S7 hits, with a -2 saving throw modifier.
D6	Body Damage Table
1	The hit disrupts the Exocrine's central nervous system, severing the link with the Hive Mind for the next Tyranid turn.
2-3	The hit damages the Exocrine's central nervous system, severing the link with the Hive Mind permanently.
4-5	The Exocrine loses all control and runs amok in its next movement phase, ramming the nearest model, unit or vehicle (friend or foe), or turning and shooting at the nearest unit if there are none within movement range. At the end of the following close combat phase the Exocrine then collapses and dies.
6	The Exocrine's slime fungus ammunition ruptures, destroying the Exocrine and spraying slime fungus over any models within 3" of the Exocrine, causing D6 Strength 8 hits with a -3 saving throw modifier.
D6	Bio-Cannon Damage Table
1	The adaptive nerve bundles lining the Bio-Cannon are damaged and it may only be fired if you first roll a 4 or more on a D6 .
2-5	The Bio-Cannon is destroyed and the weapon may not fire for the rest of the game.
6	The Bio-Cannon is destroyed as above, but exploding slime fungus ammo ruptures into the body. Roll on the Body Damage Table to find out what effect this has.

Wargear

WARGEAR CARDS

Cards which are Common do not take up a Wargear 'slot'. Uncommon cards may be taken by as many models as you wish, subject to their normal limitations. Cards marked Rare may only be taken as many times as their listed number. However, each army may purchase that many cards-worth. On the other hand, Unique items may only be purchased once, and only by one side.

AEGIS SUIT

18 points..... Rare 2

The model gains an additional saving throw of 4+ against any enemy psychic power used against it.

ANIMUS MALORUM

No points cost..... Unique

Space Marines Legion of the Damned Sergeant Centurius only

During the psychic phase (40) the power of the Animus Malorum may be targeted at a single enemy model within 12". You may use between 1 and 3 Force Cards (41) to power the skull. Roll a d6 for every Force Card (41) used. If the result is more than the target's Leadership value then its soul is sucked from its body; the model is dead regardless of wounds or armour. If the target is killed then you may resurrect a dead Legion of the Damned model, placed within normal squad coherency (16). This may not be used to increase the size of the unit beyond its original size. The power of the skull may be Nullified (42) like a psychic power, requiring a 4+ to successfully nullify.

ANIMUS SPECULUM

No points cost..... Special

Culexus Assassin only

In the psychic phase (40), the Animus Speculum may fire Warp Blasts — one blast per Force Point sapped from the Warp by the Culexus Assassin's Force Matrix (225), up to 3 blasts. Roll to hit for each blast separately, just like a shooting attack. Each blast may be fired at a different target as long as it is in the Assassin's arc of fire.

If a blast wounds a psyker, there is a chance that the blast will destroy one of his powers. Both players each roll a D6. To this score, you may add as many Force Points stored in the Force Matrix, and the psyker's controller may add any number of Force Warp cards. Both players then reveal their total score: if the Assassin's score is higher, the psyker loses one psychic power, picked at random. A psyker may only attempt to nullify (42) a blast that targets him. Each blast must be nullified individually and always counts as having the same Mastery Level as the psyker nullifying it. Each blast of negative Warp energy has the following profile:

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-12	12-24	+1	—	5	1	-5	2D6+5

ARMOUR-PIERCING AMMO

5 points, one use only..... Uncommon

Used with one projectile weapon the model is equipped with which you select before the game starts. When the model fires the selected weapon, you may choose to have it fire Armour-Piercing Ammo instead of its normal ammunition. AP ammo gains additional armour penetration (35) dice based on the Strength of the weapon with which it is used, as follows:

Weapon's Strength	1-3	4-5	6-7	8-10
Bonus Dice	+D3	+D6	+D12	+D20

May not be used in combination with other types of ammo. Discard after use.

AUTO-LAUNCHER

5 points, one use only..... Uncommon

Space Marine Terminators only

See the weapon's profile (240) for more information. Discard after use.

AUTOSENSES

Automatic Common

Space Marines, Chaos Terminators, Eldar Aspect Warriors, Squat Exo-Armour only

Some types of armour are considered to have AutoSenses. This provide special benefits when dealing with Photon Flares (273) and Smoke (274) grenades.

AUXILIARY GRENADE LAUNCHER

8 points Uncommon

May be attached to any projectile weapon, including close combat (246) weapons, and may be fired in addition to normal shooting. Loaded with either Frag (272) or Krak (272) grenades; choose which before the start of the game. Models shooting a normal weapon and the grenade launcher in the same shooting phase (31) take a –1 to hit penalty for both shots. See the weapon profile (240) for more information.

AXE MORKAI, THE

15 points Unique

Space Marines Space Wolves commander only

The Axe is S6 and enemies suffering wounds from it take a –3 save modifier. For each critical hit (37) scored in hand-to-hand combat (36), add not +1 to the Combat Score of the Axe's user but +D3. For more information, see the weapon profile (265) for this weapon.

BALE EYE

5 points Unique

Imperial Guard Commissar Yarrick only

The Bale Eye may be used at the start of each hand-to-hand combat phase. It automatically hits any one model already engaged in hand-to-hand combat fighting with a S4 hit (1 damage, –1 save mod).

BANNER OF MACRAGGE

50 points Unique

Space Marines Ultramarines Standard Bearer only

The Standard Bearer and any unit he is with are immune to psychology (52) and causes Fear (52).

BANNER OF SANCTITY

15 points Unique

Sisters of Battle Uriah Jacobus only

Any friendly unit within 12" of the banner may roll 3 dice for any Leadership tests (52) required and choose the lowest 2. Any unit led by the bearer of the standard may ignore any hand-to-hand combat (36) fumbles they roll (the roll is still a 1, but no fumble result occurs) and count any 6 rolled as a critical hit, not just second and subsequent 6s.

BANSHEE MASK

12 points Common

Eldar Exarchs only

When a model wearing this device charges (27) another model, the target may not fire Overwatch (27), and during the first round of hand-to-hand combat (36) rolls no Attack Dice.

BATTLE CLAW

10 points Unique

Imperial Guard Commissar Yarrick only

See the weapon profile (265) for this weapon for more information.

BIONIC ARM

5 points Uncommon

The model gains +1 Strength and +1 Initiative in hand-to-hand combat (36).

BIONIC EYE

5 points..... Uncommon
The model gains +1 to hit, and may detect hidden (27) troops within 24”.

BIONIC LEG

3 points..... Uncommon
The model gains +1 Attacks, and may make a special Kick Attack if it wins a round of hand-to-hand combat (36). The kick attack may be made instead of any hits normally made, is resolved at +2 to the model’s Strength and inflicts D3 damage. If the target is no bigger than the model with the Bionic Leg, it is also knocked back D3” by the kick.

BLACK STAFF OF AHRIMAN

25 points..... Unique
Chaos Space Marines Ahriman only
Whenever the user uses a psychic power, this item reduces the number of Force Cards (41) required to power it by 1, to a minimum of 1. In hand-to-hand combat (36), the Staff adds +4 to the user’s Strength. For more information, see the weapon profile (265) for this weapon.

BLADE OF DESTRUCTION

12 points..... Unique
Eldar Jain Zar, The Storm of Silence only
See the weapon profile (265) for this weapon for more information.

BLADES OF REASON, THE

25 points..... Rare-1
Space Marines Dark Angel Interrogator Chaplains and Master Chaplains only
See the weapon profile (265) for more information about this item.

BLOOD FURY OF KHORNE

Chaos Space Marines Kharn only
Kharn (67) has double the normal number of Wounds for an Exalted Champion (total 6). However, his fury is so severe, he will not stop attacking just because he runs out of opponents. If there are no enemy models within his follow-up (37) range (4” for Kharn), he will attack the nearest allied or friendly model. Check each turn to see if there is an enemy model within range.

BLOODTHIRSTER’S WHIP

No points cost..... Special
At the start of any hand-to-hand combat (36) phase, the wielder can make a special attack with his whip against any one enemy in base-to-base contact. A model that is so attacked must roll D6 and score under its Initiative to avoid the whip (a 6 always fails). Models failing to avoid the whip suffer an S8 hit with a –5 save modifier. Also, counts as an additional hand weapon, which grants an extra Attack die.

BOOK OF SALVATION

Space Marines Dark Angels Grand Master Librarians only
If the Grand Master is slain, do not remove the model — lie it on its side. The first Dark Angel to reach the body will retrieve the book instead of attacking that turn. Until the book has been picked up, all Dark Angels are immune to psychology (52), will never break (51), and may add +1 to their WS. However, if the Dark Angels have failed to recover the book by the end of the game, they lose 10 Victory Points (17).

BRIGHT LANCE

40 points..... Uncommon

Eldar only

See the weapon profile (265) for more information on this item.

BUZZER SQUIG STIKKBOMBZ

5 points, one use only..... Rare-1

Orks Only

When the Stikkbomb is thrown, place a Buzzer Squig template wherever the shot lands. Resolve the effects just as if a Squig Katapult (261) shot had landed at that spot. Discard after use.

CAMELEOLINE

5 points..... Uncommon

All shots fired at a stationary model wearing Cameleoline are at -1 to hit in addition to other modifiers. If the model hides (27), troops that move into a position to see the hiding model — or move within their Initiative distance — will only detect him rather than spot him.

CHAOS WARMASTER'S TERMINATOR ARMOUR

70 points..... Unique

Chaos Space Marines Abaddon only

Confers a 2+ armour save on 2D6. Yes, this means that unless the weapon being fired at Abaddon has a saving throw modifier, it is impossible to wound him. The armour will also nullify (42) any psychic power used against Abaddon or which includes him in its area on a 4+ on D6.

CHIRURGEON, THE

Chaos Space Marines Fabius Bile only

Contains a Frenzon (225) dispenser. Wearer gains +2 Attack Dice in hand-to-hand combat (36).

CLAW OF THE DESERT TIGERS

16 points..... Unique

Imperial Guard Al'rahem only

This is an ordinary Power Sword (248), but it causes Fear (52).

COLLAR OF KHORNE

30 points..... Uncommon

Chaos followers of Khorne only

Force weapons (24) lose their Strength bonus when attacking this model, and cannot wound the wearer automatically. Psychic attacks which would affect wearer are automatically nullified (42).

COMBAT DRUGS

25 points..... Rare-2

Model may use Combat Drugs at any time with immediate effects on his characteristics. The model speeds up (Move x 2, Initiative x 2, Attacks x 2) and becomes stronger (Strength +1) and harder to injure (Toughness +1). At the end of each of the models' turns after which he has taken the drugs, roll a D6; on a 5+, the model suffers 1 wound with no save possible. The effects of the drugs last until the model suffers a wound for any reason — at which point this card is discarded and the model's characteristics return to normal. Combat Drugs may not be used in combination with Frenzon (225).

COMBI-WEAPON10 points..... Uncommon*Imperium or Orks only

A combination of two weapons. At the beginning of the game, declare which you would like: a combination Bolter (240) and Meltagun (243), Bolter and Plasma Gun (244), Bolter and Flamer (241), or twin Bolters (counts as a single Storm Bolter (244)). Each shooting phase (31), you can either fire just one barrel of the combi-weapon as per normal shooting rules, or fire both barrels at the same target with a -1 to hit modifier on both shots.

CONVERSION FIELD10 points..... Rare-3

The wearer gains an additional, unmodified armour saving throw of 4+. A successful save using the Field causes a blinding flash, as per Photon Grenades (273); unprotected troops within a radius equal to the incoming weapon's Strength in inches will be blinded until the beginning of their next turn on a 4+ on D6. Blind models cannot move or shoot and fight in hand-to-hand combat (36) with a WS of 1.

CROZIUS ARCANUM10 points..... Uncommon*Imperium only

See the weapon profile (246) for more information on this item.

CRUSHING ARM OF KAMIR20 points..... Unique*Imperial Guard Mogul Kamir only

Calculate the number of hits scored in hand-to-hand combat as normal. Once you know how many hits Mogul has inflicted, roll a D6. If the score is equal to or less than the number of hits scored, then the Crushing Arm has successfully gripped the enemy — in which case, the number of hits already inflicted is automatically doubled. A 6 always means the Arm has failed in this attempt.

C'TAN PHASE SWORD10 points..... Rare-2*Space Marines, Chaos Marines, and Assassins only

See the weapon profile (266) for more information on this item.

CYBORK BODY35 points..... Rare-1*Orks only

A Cybork Body increases the Strength and Wounds of the Ork wearing it by +2 apiece. Additionally, if the Ork is hit by an attack (ranged or close combat), the hit is resolved using normal Armour Penetration (35) rules; he is treated as having an Armour Value of 15. If the attack's penetration is exactly 15, the Ork is knocked over and may neither move nor fire in his next turn as he spends it standing back up. Attacks with a penetration greater than 15 knock the Ork over as above, but also cause 1 Wound for each point by which the attack beats the Cybork Body's Armour Value by; e.g., an attack with Penetration 18 would cause 3 Wounds to the Ork.

DARK REAPER RANGEFINDER5 points..... Common*Eldar Exarchs only

This device incorporates a Targeter (236, +1 to hit). In addition, the model may ignore any penalties when firing at moving targets (32).

DAEMON SWORD DRACH'NYEN, THE25 points..... Unique*Chaos Space Marines Abaddon only

See the weapon profile (266) for more information on this item.

DAEMON WEAPON25 points..... Rare-2*Chaos only

A model wielding a Daemon Weapon gains +2 to their WS and Strength, and always wounds psykers and daemons on a roll of 2+ regardless of their Toughness. Living models wounded by this weapon during hand-to-hand combat (36) must pass a Leadership test (52); if they fail, they die.

DEATH MASK OF SANGUINIUS15 points..... Unique*Space Marines Blood Angels commander only

The wearer causes Terror (53).

DIGI-LASERS6 points..... Rare-2

Automatically fired at the start of hand-to-hand combat (36) against all opponents in base-to-base contact, before any Attack Dice are rolled and regardless of whose turn it is. Work out the shots as normal. Digi-lasers get 3 shots which may be divided any way you choose against all models in base-to-base contact with the firing model. Once close combat has started the lasers have no further effect.

Strength	Damage	Save Mod.	Armour Pen.
3	1	-1	D6+3

DISPLACER FIELD20 points..... Rare-2

The wearer gains an additional, unmodified armour saving throw of 3+ on D6. A successful save means the wearer is moved D6" in a random direction. A Displacer field will not work against a Vortex (275) grenade.

The field only activates after the attacker has made a successful roll to wound. In the case of a model being hit by multiple shots from a squad and/or sustained fire weapon, the model would first take all of its saving throws together and then displace only once (assuming the model wasn't killed and at least one saving throw was made by the Displacer field).

Blast Marker & Template Weapons

Even if the saving throw is made, the field may not displace the protected model completely out of danger if it's hit by weapons which affect a template or blast marker. If the model doesn't displace far enough to move it outside the template or blast marker, it will still take the hit just as if it had failed to save in the first place. If the model makes it partially out of the area of effect, roll another D6: on a 4+ the model is safe.

Flamers

If the model successfully saves and displaces completely out of the flamer template, there is no chance of the model catching fire. If the protected model fails to save or doesn't displace out of the template, the model may catch fire. If the protected model catches fire, the Displacer field offers no protection against the fire.

Close Combat

In hand-to-hand combat a model with a Displacer field rolls saving throws as it gets hit, but even if the model is fighting multiple opponents it only displaces once after all of its combats that turn have been resolved.

Psychic Attacks

A Displacer field offers protection against psychic attacks in much the same way as being able to dodge, so it will give a saving throw against those powers which make a direct, physical attack on the protected model. See the question about Dodging.

Characters and Rides

A character that is displaced does not bring its ride with it. Any bike, Tzeentch flying disc, etc. is left behind.

DOC'S TOOLS

8 points..... Uncommon

Ork Painboyz only

An Ork Painboy with Doc's Tools always counts as having two close combat (36) weapons. If the Painboy wins a round of close combat and inflicts at least 1 Wound, the victim is removed as a casualty regardless of how many wounds he has remaining.

ETHERIUM

No points cost Special

Culexus Assassins only

Psychic attacks pass through the wearer as if he were invisible. This provides a 2+ unmodified save against any form of psychic or warp attack: Force weapons, Vortex grenades, Distortion cannons, psychic powers, etc.

EVERSOR COMBAT DRUGS

No points cost Special

Eversor Assassins only

The Assassin may take one dose of these drugs at the beginning of his turn; the drug pack includes enough doses of all drugs to last the entire battle.

Destroyer

During his turn, if the Assassin kills his opponent and uses his follow-up move (37) to enter another close combat (36), he may attack again immediately. After each follow-up move, roll a D6; on a 1-3, the Assassin gets no more attacks this turn; on a 4+, he may fight another combat immediately.

Fury

The Assassin may triple his movement when he charges (27) or runs (27); a dose of Fury lasts until the end of the turn.

Terminus

Until the end of your opponent's next turn, the Assassin may carry on fighting and will not explode even if he is reduced to 0 Wounds! However, if the Assassin is reduced to 0 Wounds by the end of your opponent's next turn, or at the end of the game, he will explode as normal.

EXITUS AMMUNITION

No points cost Special

Vindicare Assassins only

Exitus Ammunition comes in three types, each of which may be used once per game by a Vindicare Assassin firing either an Exitus Longrifle or an Exitus Pistol. Declare whether and which type of Ammunition you wish to use before declaring a target or rolling to hit.

Hellfire Ammunition

Affects living targets just like Imperium Hellfire (250) shells for the Heavy Bolter (250), except it does not involve a blast marker (33).

Shield-Breaker Ammunition

If the target is protected by a force field of any kind (Displacer, etc) and hit by this ammunition, the field is destroyed for the rest of the game. If the target has no force field, it takes damage as normal from the weapon being fired. There are no exceptions to the field's destruction — the Tyranid Warp Field (210), Eldar Warlock's (85) Rune armour and the Psychic Shield (47), Force Dome (49) and Aura of Fire (46) psychic powers can be destroyed by a shield-breaker round.

Turbo-Penetrator Ammunition

Incurs a −6 save modifier and inflicts 2 Wounds. When rolling for armour penetration, roll the normal penetration dice and double the result.

EXITUS LONGRIFLE

No points cost Special

See the weapon profile (267) for more information on this item.

FIREPIKE

25 points Uncommon

Eldar only

See the weapon profile (267) for more information on this item.

FORCE AXE

10 points Uncommon

Psykers only

Axe (246). At the end of the psychic phase (40), one unused Force Card (41) may be stored in the Axe instead of being placed in the discard pile. The stored Force Card may be retrieved and used in subsequent psychic phases. In hand-to-hand combat (36), the Axe increases the wielder's Strength by a number equal to his Mastery Level (40), and wounds Daemons automatically with no save possible. The wielder may also discard the stored Force Card to gain an extra +3 Strength and −3 armour save in hand-to-hand combat.

FORCE FIELD

20 points Unique

Imperial Guard Commissar Yarrick only

Whenever Yarrick is hit by a weapon, roll a D6 and deduct the result from the Strength of the incoming shot. If reduced to Strength 0 or less, the shot has no effect at all.

FORCE FIELD PROJEKTA

50 points..... Rare-2

Ork Mekaniaks only

The Force Field may be activated at the beginning of the Mekaniaks' turn. The Projekta creates a wall-like barrier of projected force 12" in length, the entirety of which must be within 18" of the Projekta's user but may otherwise be placed anywhere desired. Once in place, nothing, friend or foe, may shoot or move through the barrier under any circumstances. Teleporting models, skimmers, flyers, psykers and the results of psychic abilities, Mole Mortar (260) attacks, and the like are all completely powerless against the barrier. Vehicles running into the barrier must stop moving immediately, but suffer no damage.

At the beginning of each Ork turn subsequent to the barrier's activation, roll a D6; on a 1-3, the Projekta burns out, the barrier collapses, and the Projekta may not be used for the remainder of the battle. Otherwise, the Projekta keeps on working, and the barrier may be kept in place, turned off, or repositioned within range.

FORCE MATRIX

Culexus Assassins only

At the beginning of each the psychic phase (40), roll a D3 to determine the number of Force Points that the Force Matrix absorbs. In addition, for each psyker within 12" of the Assassin, add +1 to the score. Deduct the total from the number of Warp Cards (41) dealt to players. Force points sapped by the Force Matrix in this way may be used to power Warp Blasts from the Animus Speculum. If the Energy Drain card is played or the psychic phase ended, all Force Points stored in the Matrix disappear.

FORCE ROD

15 points..... Rare-3

Psykers only

At the end of the psychic phase (40), up to 3 unused Force Cards (41) may be stored in the Rod instead of being placed in the Warp Card (41) discard pile. Stored Force Cards may be retrieved from the Rod and used in subsequent psychic phases. In hand-to-hand combat (36), the Rod increases the wielder's Strength by a number equal to his Mastery Level (40) and wounds Daemons automatically with no saving throw possible.

FORCE STAFF

10 points..... Uncommon

Psykers only

At the end of the psychic phase (40), one unused Force Card (41) may be stored in the Staff instead of being placed in the discard pile. The stored Force Card may be retrieved and used in subsequent psychic phases. In hand-to-hand combat (36), the Staff increases the wielder's Strength by a number equal to his Mastery Level (40), and wounds Daemons automatically with no save possible. The wielder may also discard the stored Force Card to gain an extra +2 Strength and -2 armour save in hand-to-hand combat.

FORCE SWORD

10 points..... Uncommon

Psykers only

Sword (248). At the end of the psychic phase (40), one unused Force Card (41) may be stored in the Sword instead of being placed in the discard pile. The stored Force Card may be retrieved and used in subsequent psychic phases. In hand-to-hand combat (36), the Sword increases the wielder's Strength by a number equal to his Mastery Level (40), and wounds Daemons automatically with no save possible. The wielder may also discard the stored Force Card to gain an extra +2 Strength and -2 armour save in hand-to-hand combat.

FRENZON

5 points..... Uncommon

A combat drug used to induce the psychological effects of frenzy (52) or hatred (53) for the rest of the game. The psychology (52) effects are automatic; no Leadership test (52) is required. Only one state may be induced at a time. A single dose of Frenzon antidote (which comes with the Wargear Card) will negate the effects. However, repeated use of Frenzon is dangerous to the subject — every time a dose is administered after the first, roll D6 for the model affected; on a 1 the model suffers D3 wounds.

FROSTFANG

10 points..... Unique

Space Marines Space Wolves only

See the weapon profile (267) for this weapon for more information.

GAUNTLETS OF ULTRAMAR

18 points..... Unique

GHAZGHKULL'S ADAMANTIUM SKULL

15 points..... Unique

Ork Ghazghkull Thraka only

This skull adds +1 to its wearer's Toughness. If the wearer is in close combat, he may make a Head Butt attack instead of a normal attack; this must be decided before the round of combat is resolved. If he does this and wins the attack, he scores only 1 hit, but it is made at S10, -4 save, and causes D3 damage.

GORECHILD

10 points..... Unique

Chaos Space Marines Kharn the Betrayer only

See the weapon profile (267) for more information on this item.

GRAVITON GUN

40 points..... Rare-2

See the weapon profile (242) for more information on this item.

GYRO-STABILISED MONOWHEEL

8 points..... Rare-2

Orks only

Increases the model's Movement to 8" — it may still run (27) or charge (27) up to 16". However, the Ork may not cross obstacles (26) of any kind and will suffer an S5 hit if it attempts to do so. It may also not run or charge through woods, or difficult (26) or very difficult (26) ground.

HARLEQUIN'S KISS

10 points..... Common

Eldar Harlequins only

May only be used in hand-to-hand combat (36). If a hit is scored, the target makes an immediate saving throw — if failed, the model is automatically slain. Against armoured targets, roll a D6; as long as the result of the roll is a 6, keep rolling and add the scores. If the armour is penetrated, roll a D6 on this table:

1	One randomly-determined crewman (16) is slain.
2-4	Roll a D6 for each crewman; on a 4-6 , the crewman is slain.
5	Roll D6 for each crewman; on a 2+ , the crewman is slain.
6	All crew are slain.

HAYWIRE GRENADE

See the Haywire ammunition type (273) description for more information. Discard after use.

HELM OF DURFAST, THE

8 points..... Unique

Space Marines Space Wolves only

This device allows the wearer to spot any hidden (27) models, regardless of their location or any special wargear they have. In addition, the wearer may re-roll any to-hit rolls (32), unless the original was a “1”.

HOLOSUIT

Automatic..... Common

Eldar Harlequins only

All shots fired at a model wearing a HoloSuit are at –1 to hit in addition to other modifiers. If the model hides (27), troops that move into a position to see the hiding model — or move within their Initiative distance — will only detect him rather than spot him. Scanners will locate the model as normal. In addition, enemy models in hand-to-hand combat (36) must make a Leadership test (52) each turn or suffer a –1 penalty to their Weapon Skill.

HOOD OF GNYRLL, THE

20 points..... Unique

Space Marines Space Wolves Rune Priest only

May be worn instead of a normal Psychic Hood (231). The wearer begins the game with one additional psychic power, drawn as usual.

HOOD OF HELLFIRE, THE

25 points..... Unique

Space Marines Librarian only

May be worn instead of a normal Psychic Hood (231). May fire a bolt during the psychic phase (40), which can be nullified like any other power. Range is the wearer’s Leadership rating plus 2D6”. Causes D6 hits at Strength 5 with a –2 save modifier.

HRULF’S HOOD OF DARKNESS

25 points..... Unique

Space Marines Space Wolves only

This device may be activated at start of the controlling player’s turn. The wearer may not affect or be affected by any units, either physically or psychically. In addition, the model may move at a rate of 16”. If the Hood is used for 2 or more consecutive turns, roll a D6 at start of owner’s turn — on 4+ the device fails and cannot be used for the remainder of the battle.

ICON OF CHIROS

15 points..... Unique

Sisters of Battle Redemptor Kyrinov only

The bearer of the Icon causes terror (53) and by extension is immune to fear (52) and terror themselves. Any friendly squads or models with a line of sight to the Icon (including the bearer) count as having a Leadership of 10 and may re-roll once any fumbles in hand-to-hand combat (36).

IMMUNE

5 points..... Uncommon

The model may totally ignore the effects of the following ammo types: choke (272), hallucinogen (273), rad (274), scare (274), toxin (275), and virus (275).

INFERNO BOLTS

20 points..... Rare-1

Chaos Space Marines Sorcerers of Tzeentch only

Modified ammunition for Boltguns (240) or Bolt Pistols (256). May be used whenever the model using them fires such a weapon. If Inferno Bolts hit the target, they explode with the same effects as the psychic power Tzeentch's Fire Storm (44). The Strength value of the Storm is equal to the Mastery Level (40) of the Sorcerer using this card. Targets with saving throws against psychic attacks may take them as normal against Inferno Bolts; otherwise, armour and energy fields have no effect.

INFERNO PISTOL, THE

10 points..... Unique

Space Marines Blood Angels Commander Dante only

See the weapon profile (268) for more information on this item.

JUMP PACK

10 points..... Uncommon

Permits the wearer to make a long, powered leap instead of its normal move. A jump can be up to a distance of 18", reaching a height sufficient to clear most obstacles, vehicles and models. Woods and single-story buildings reduce the jump to 12". Roll a Scatter Die for the jumping model as it lands; an arrow indicates that the model scatters D3" in the indicated direction from its desired landing point. If the model has declared a charge (27), he may move up to 4" after he has landed to engage in hand-to-hand combat (36). A model may jump, then shoot (31) or throw a grenade (32), but it can't use a Move-or-Fire weapon. Models using Jump Packs do not receive the -1 to hit penalty for firing at a fast-moving target.

House Rule: Many find the scatter for jump troops incredibly fiddly and time-consuming; popular variants are rolling once for scatter for the entire squad, or skipping it altogether.

KUSTOM BLASTA

30 points..... Uncommon

Orks only

See the weapon profile (268) for this weapon for more information.

KUSTOM FORCE FIELD

20 points..... Uncommon

Orks only

Whenever an Ork equipped with a Kustom Force Field is hit, roll a D6 and deduct the result from the Strength of the incoming hit. On a roll of a 6, the hit is automatically stopped, but the Ork suffers an S3 hit instead as the field shorts out. If the field shorts out, discard this Wargear Card immediately.

If successful, roll a D6; if the roll is equal to or greater than the target's Toughness, 1 wound is sustained. Saving throws are allowed, but at -2. The Mandiblasters penetrates D6+4 points of armour. Once hand-to-hand combat has started, this item has no effect and provides no Attack Die bonus.

MASK OF JAIN ZAR, THE

20 points..... Unique

Eldar Jain Zar, The Storm of Silence only

An enemy charged by the wearer may not fire on Overwatch (27). During the first round of close combat, when the Eldar charges, his opponent rolls no Attack Dice. In the second round of combat the enemy must roll a 4+ on D6 to escape the mask's effect — failure means that he rolls no dice on that turn, either.

- Restore 1 Wound to a wounded but still living character (15).
- Restore a model reduced to 0 Wounds to 1 Wound on a roll of 5+ on D6.
- Restore the vision of any blinded model.
- Cure the effects of any non-lethal gas type.
- Negate any psychological (52) effects in a model.

MEKBOY'S TOOLS

5 points..... Uncommon

Ork Mekaniaks only

The Ork using this item always counts as having two close combat (36) weapons. If the Mekboy begins his turn on or in base contact with a damaged vehicle, he may attempt to use the Tools to repair the damaged location — only repairable damage may be fixed; if an entire arm has been blown off a Dreadnought, for example, Mekboy Tools won't make any difference. The repair succeeds, and all damage is nullified, if the Mekboy rolls a 4+ on D6.

NEMESIS FORCE WEAPON

20 points..... Rare-2

Place the Flamer (241) template (33) as normal; any “hit” models must pass a Leadership test (52) with a -2 modifier to their Ld or suffer 1 Wound with a -3 save modifier. Personal fields do not protect against the Shredder. If fired at a vehicle, it affects one randomly determined crewmember (16).

If there are enemy models in base-to-base contact with the Assassin at the end of the hand-to-hand combat phase, she may attack any one model with this weapon. It hits on a D6 roll of 3+ no matter what, inflicting an S4 hit causing 1 Wound with no armour save possible (personal fields still save, however).

POLYMORPHINE

Imperial Assassins only

A model equipped with this item is not deployed as normal at the start of the game. Instead, the player may play this card at any time to reveal that the Assassin is in fact disguised as one of the enemy! The player may select any humanoid (Ork, Squat, Human, Genestealer hybrid or Eldar) basic trooper model (not a character or a vehicle crewman (16) or a model with a Heavy Weapon (249)) and substitute the Assassin for that model. The Assassin discards the captured armour and weapons of the trooper as he casts off his disguise, keeping only what weapons and wargear the player has equipped the Assassin with. The model the Assassin replaces may not have an armour saving throw better than a 3+ on 1D6 (nothing wearing Terminator Armour, for instance). The Assassin herself may wear any armour desired, however.

POWER FIELD

35 points..... Rare-2

The model gains an additional, unmodified armour saving throw of 2+ on D6 against shooting damage. The Field offers no protection in hand-to-hand combat (36). The model counts as encumbered (36) for the purposes of close combat. Note that only one Personal Field may be used at a time.

Any psychic powers that that psyker had in play at that moment are instantly nullified, and any stored Force Cards (41) in any force weapon or similar items are discarded. SQUIG ATTACK ARM

3 points..... Rare-1

Orks only

In hand-to-hand combat (36), the Ork automatically unleashes the Squig as its opponent closes in, so resolve the attack during the HtH phase before any Attack Dice are rolled. The Ork's opponent suffers an S5 hit with no armour save possible. May only be used once per game.

STAFF OF ULTHAMAR

18 points..... Unique

Eldar Eldrad Uthran only

At the end of the psychic phase (40), unused Force Cards (41) may be stored in the staff instead of being discarded; there is no limit to the number of cards that may be thus stored. Stored cards enhance the wielder's Strength and can be expended in any future psychic phases by adding them back to the player's hand. In hand-to-hand combat (36), the staff may be used as a weapon, and increases the wielder's Strength by his Mastery Level plus 1 for each card stored in the staff. In combat against daemons, the wielder Wounds them automatically with no saving throw possible.

STEALTH SUIT

STEEL SKULL

5 points..... Uncommon

Orks only

The Ork using this item gains +1 Toughness and is subject to the rules for Madboyz Behaviour (141).

SWOOPING HAWK WINGS

20 points..... Common

Eldar Swooping Hawk Exarchs only

These jump packs work exactly like standard Jump Packs (228) with the following exceptions. A Hawk leap must be in a straight line between 6" and 36" long. There is no penalty to the movement distance for moving over tall obstacles (26). No roll is made for scatter on landing, but no model using Hawk wings may land within 1" of any cover, building, vehicle, obstacle or other model, including other Hawks. When leaping into hand-to-hand combat (36), Hawks may move within 1" of the enemy model they wish to charge but must still remain 1" clear of any other obstacles, models or features. When charging, Hawks do not get the extra 4" move as ordinary jump packers do. Shots fired at leaping Hawks suffer a -1 to hit penalty for the target's speed regardless of the actual distance of the leap they are making.

Wargear Cards

Swooping Hawks carry a special grenade pack which allows them to drop Frag or Krak grenades (272) on targets that they fly directly over.

At the start of its movement phase, a Hawk squad may declare that it is flying away from the battlefield and the models are removed from the table. They may take no other actions on the table that turn. Models may fly away from hand-to-hand combat (37) in this way without incurring any blows against them as would be normal. A squad which has left the battle in a previous turn may land back on the table anywhere it wishes during its next movement phase, even landing in hand-to-hand combat if desired. It may not make any other movement that turn. Models landing may shoot as normal, but may not use grenades. Models diving into hand-to-hand combat (36) count the +1 WS bonus for charging (27).

STORM SHIELD

10 points..... Uncommon

Model receives an extra armour saving throw of 4+ against shooting or hand-to-hand combat (36) which cannot be modified and applies only against attacks from the front 90° arc. May be used to parry (37).

STORM SWORD

10 points..... Rare-1

Space Marines only

See the weapon profile (270) for more information about this weapon.

SUPPRESSION SHIELD

Variable points — see army lists Common

A model equipped with a Suppression Shield automatically inflicts an S3 hit resolves on a single opponent when it charges into hand-to-hand combat (36); this is resolved before HtH is started. Models wearing a Shield also receive a +2 bonus to their armour saving throw. As with all shields, these effects only apply if the incoming attack is from the model's front 90° arc of sight.

SWORD OF ASUR

TARGETER

2 points..... Uncommon

The user gains a +1 to hit with a specific projectile weapon selected before the game starts.

TELEPORT HOMER

5 points..... Uncommon

If a squad is teleporting (27) to a point within 6" of an active teleport homer, a roll of a "Hit" on the Scatter Die indicates that the squad have locked onto the homer and do not deviate at all. These come standard on Terminator Armour (237) and many Dreadnoughts.

TELEPORT JAMMER

20 points..... Rare-2

If anything attempts to teleport (27) to a spot within 36" of a model using a Teleport Jammer, the teleporting troops must roll for Scatter a second time after they have rolled scatter from their original target point. In addition, the teleporting troops will be destroyed if they roll a double-1 or a double-2 on the distance roll for either scatter roll. Has no effect on psykers using their powers to teleport.

TELESKOPIC LEGS

5 points..... Rare-2

Orks only

The Ork using them gains +2 to its Move, and doesn't suffer any movement penalties for crossing obstacles (26) up to 2" high. The Ork can also raise itself up to 2" in the shooting phase (31), drawing Line of Sight from that height.

TERMINATOR ARMOUR

50 points..... Common

Imperium only

Also known as "Tactical Dreadnought Armour", these suits provide a saving throw of 3+ rolled on 2D6. Incorporates a Teleport Homer (236) and a Targeter (236, +1 to hit), which works on all ranged weapons. Standard armament includes a Power Fist (248) and Storm Bolter (244). Models in Terminator Armour are not encumbered when fielding a heavy weapon. They may never throw grenades.

VIRUS GRENADE

50 points, one use only..... Rare-2

See the Virus ammunition type (275) description for more information. Discard after use.

VORTEX GRENADE

50 points per grenade, one use only..... Rare-2

See the Vortex ammunition description (275) for more information. Discard after use.

WARP JUMP

30 points..... Rare-2

A model with such a generator may choose to teleport (27) to any point on the battlefield during its movement phase (26) instead of moving normally. Roll a Scatter Die to see if the model teleports on target; a “Hit” means it is on target; an arrow means it scatters 2D10” in the direction indicated. However, if a double-1 is rolled, it means the model is permanently lost in the warp. The model may shoot and fight in hand-to-hand combat (36) on the same turn, but doesn’t count as charging (27).

WARP SPIDER JUMP GENERATOR

20 points..... Common

Eldar Exarch only

Models equipped with this item may make a small warp jump instead of a normal move, but cannot jump and move normally during the same turn. The warp jump ignores all terrain. The maximum range of the jump is 18”; this movement can be divided between the movement phase and after the shooting phase (31). To jump an entire squad, take any one model and move it the desired distance. Once the first model has jumped, the rest of the squad automatically follow — place the remaining models within 6” of the first, and with normal squad coherency (16). It is possible to jump into hand-to-hand combat (36) during the movement phase or after the shooting phase in which case close combat is initiated as usual. Note that in this case, an enemy on Overwatch may not shoot as the Warp Spiders materialize, and the Spiders get the charging (27) bonus.

If you wish, you may extend the warp distance up to 30”, but this incurs some risk. Roll a D6 for each model jumping more than 18”; at ranges between 18” and 24”, the model is destroyed on a roll of a 6; at ranges between 24” and 30”, the model is slain on a roll of a 5+.

Teleport Jammers

The Warp Spider’s jump generator is affected by a Teleport Jammer (237), but only if the Warp Spiders exceed their maximum safe distance for a single jump. When this happens normally they have to roll a D6 to see if they are destroyed in the warp when they jump. If the Warp Spiders are within 36” of the Teleport Jammer at any point in their move and they exceed their normal maximum jump distance, they have to roll two D6 instead of one and pick the highest result to see if they are destroyed.

WEB OF SKULLS

25 points..... Uncommon

Eldar only

See the weapon profile (271) for more information on this weapon.

WEIRDBOY STAFF

5 points..... Uncommon

Ork Weirdboyz only

In hand-to-hand combat (36), the Staff allows the Weirdboy to add to his Strength a number equal to his psychic Mastery Level (40), and the weapon wounds Daemons automatically in close combat. The Weirdboy may also re-roll the dice for his Waaagh! (49) Test if he fails the first roll.

WITCH BLADE

15 points..... Rare-2

Eldar psykers only

At the end of the psychic phase (40), up to two unused Force Cards (41) may be stored in the Blade instead of being placed in the discard pile. The stored Force Cards may be retrieved and used in subsequent psychic phases. In hand-to-hand combat (36), the Blade increases the wielder’s Strength by a number equal to his Mastery Level (40), and wounds Daemons automatically with no save possible. The wielder may also discard a stored Force Card to gain an extra +2 Strength and –2 armour save in hand-to-hand combat. May also be used to parry (37). See the weapon profile (271) for more information.

WOLF HELM OF RUSS, THE

Space Marines Space Wolves only

So long as the bearer of this card survives, any Space Wolves characters or units that can draw Line of Sight to this model automatically pass any Break test (51) or psychology (52) test they are required to take. In addition, the wearer causes Fear (52).

WULFEN STONE

Space Marines Space Wolves only

Enemy units charged by the model carrying this item must make an immediate Break test (51). Daemoniac opponents are immune to this effect.

XYCLOS NEEDLER

25 points..... Unique

Chaos Space Marines Fabius Bile only

See the weapon profile (271) for the weapon for more information.

Death Spinner Monofilament Gun

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
Heavy flamer (251) template					Special	-2	Special	Close Combat

Roll a D6 for each model caught in the template (33); if the model's base is entirely covered by the template, add +1 to the roll; if the score is more than the hit model's Initiative value, then the target is hit by the spinner cloud; a total score of 6 or more always hits the target. Models avoiding the cloud are moved to the closest point on the outside edge of the template. If a model is successfully hit by a Death Spinner cloud, it is pinned in place for the rest of the shooting phase (31) — meaning it is automatically hit by successive Death Spinner hits. Hit models failing their saving throw are automatically slain.

Against vehicles, the Death Spinner's armour penetration (35) is D6 — but keep rolling and summing the values until you get a roll other than a 6. A Death Spinner which penetrates a vehicle rolls on the following chart:

1	One random crewman (16) is slain.
2-4	Roll a D6 for each crew member; on a 4+ , the model is slain.
5	Roll a D6 for each crew member; on a 2+ , the model is slain.
6	All crew are killed.

Short	Long	Short	Long
0-6	6-24	+1	–	–	1	-2	D6+7	Sustained fire (34) -1

Sustained Fire (34) -1. Unlike a normal Plasma Gun (244), the Mk 1 Plasma Gun does not need a turn to recharge after firing. However, if a Jam (34) result is rolled for the Sustained Fire die, the plasma system overloads. Roll another Sustained Fire die and consult this table to determine the result:

Jam
	The weapon is destroyed and explodes with the same effects as a Plasma grenade centred on the firing model.
3	The firing model suffers an S6 hit causing 1 Wound with a –3 save modifier. The weapon is still jammed.
2	The firing model suffers an S4 hit causing 1 Wound with a –2 save modifier. The weapon is still jammed.
1	The firing model suffers an S2 hit causing 1 Wound with a –1 save modifier. The weapon is still jammed.

In close combat, for each Fumble (37) that is rolled, roll on the above chart.

Mortar

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
Guess between 12-60"				4	1	-1	D6+4	2" blast marker (33)

To fire a mortar, first select any target within the 90° forward firing arc — ignoring the normal picking a target (31) rules. Then guess a distance between 12-60". Place the 2" blast marker this many inches away from the mortar in the direction of your target. Then roll Scatter and Artillery dice. Any roll of a Misfire indicates the shell was a dud or exploded prematurely. Any roll of a Hit indicates the shot was accurate; leave the template where it is. Rolls of an Arrow and a Number indicate the gunners were a little off; scatter the template as normal. Note that unlike most weapons, the normal maximum scatter (33) rules do not apply to the Mortar. Move or fire for foot troops.

0-4	4-18	-1	+1	4	1	-2	D6+D3+4	(Executioner)

Only Adeptus Arbite (107) shotguns can use Executioner shells; all Arbite models with shotguns have these shells automatically. Ordinary troopers (not vehicles, robots, Terminators, or dreadnoughts) hit but not slain by a solid or scatter shells will be knocked back 2” and will fall over on a D6 roll of 4+. Strangleweb

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save	Armour	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long			Mod	Pen
Hand flamer (256) template (33)						–	–

Models hit by the template roll a D6 and add their Strength; on a score of 9+, the hit has no effect. On an 8 or below, the model must make a normal saving armour throw or suffer 1 Wound. Force fields don't protect, but shields do. If the model fails the above roll, it must make similar rolls at the start of each of its turns. Until this roll is succeeded, the model may do nothing except use psychic powers. Vehicles aren't affected by the Strangleweb, but exposed crew are hit normally.

4-6	Moved. Displace the model 2D6" in a random direction.

CLOSE COMBAT WEAPONS

In case it isn't obvious, all Close Combat weapons may be used in hand-to-hand combat (36). Weapons which rely upon the Strength of the user use the normal chart (36) for determining Saving Throw modifiers.

Models wounded by the initial shot are slain regardless of how many Wounds they have; place a 3” blast marker over the slain model. Roll a D6 for each model and vehicle that is fully or partially under the template; on a roll of 4+, the model is caught by the strangler. Caught models must each roll 2D6; if the roll beats the model’s Strength (or Ram Value (30) for vehicles), it is either torn to pieces or so entrapped that it is effectively slain.

May only be used by Terminators. The Terminator may fire either one or a salvo of missiles and use the integrated Targeter (236), giving the Terminator a +2 to hit. Optionally, the Terminator may ignore the guidance system and fire both missiles and his other weapon (presumably a Storm Bolter (244)) — in this case, the Targeter cannot be used, and neither shot gets the +1 bonus. The Cyclone is loaded with 12 missiles and cannot be reloaded during battle; keep track of them. If the Terminator carrying a Cyclone is hit by enemy fire, there is a chance that the launcher will be affected — roll 2D6; on an 11+, the Cyclone activates immediately. Roll on the Catastrophic Launch Chart:

Weapons – Heavy

Catastrophic Launch Chart
1	Explode. All remaining missiles explode; the Marine is destroyed. Treat as if a salvo was centred on the hapless Marine.
2	Fire at Nearest Target. All remaining missiles are launched at the nearest target — friend or foe — in the Marine's 90° firing arc in a salvo.
3	Fire at Furthest Target. All remaining missiles are launched at the most distant legal target within range — friend or foe — in the Marine's 90° firing arc in a salvo.
4	Fire Straight Ahead. All remaining missiles launch in a salvo straight ahead, traveling D6 x D10" .
5	Missiles Move Randomly. All remaining missiles launch in a salvo, moving 2D6" straight ahead, then changing direction randomly (roll a Scatter Die) and moving a further 2D6" until it comes in contact with a target or flies off the table.
6	Fire Missiles Separately. For each remaining missile in turn, roll a Scatter Die; the missile hits the closest target within 1" of a straight line drawn along the resulting arrow.

Note that if a Hit/Misfire is rolled using the standard scatter rules (33), treat it as a roll of a 1 on the above table.

Salvo Firing — Cyclone Launcher Only

You may fire between 2 and the number of missiles remaining in the launcher all at once in a shooting phase (31) when firing a salvo. Roll to hit as normal, and position a blast marker (33) with a diameter of $\frac{1}{2}$ " for each missile in the salvo. Strength, damage and save modifiers are as for a single missile.

The Havoc Launcher is armed with 9 Frag missiles; keep track of them. When the launcher is fired, you may choose to fire a cluster of one, two or three missiles, or all the remaining missiles at once. Chaos Dreadnoughts (72) armed with this weapon and suffering from Stupidity (53) will always fire off all of their remaining missiles. Roll to hit for the first missiles as normal. The rest of the salvo will automatically scatter (33) from this point. Any scatter result of a Hit/Misfire indicates that the missile exploded on the launcher rack; this will destroy the launcher as well as any unfired missiles. The exploding launcher causes no damage to the Dreadnought that wears it, but troops within 2" of the centre of the Dreadnought suffer a hit as by a Havoc missile. Any hit penetrating the body of the Dreadnought cripples the launcher as well.

Models hit by a Webgun may not move for the remainder of the game. A model may attempt to free itself at the beginning of its own turn by rolling D6 and adding its Toughness; a result of 9 or greater frees the model. Models failing this test must make an immediate armour saving throw or suffer 1 wound. Vehicles hit by a Heavy Webber must roll a D6 on the following chart:

Vehicle Speed (Last movement phase)
	0-4”	4-8”	8-12”	12-16”	16”+
To Hit	3+	4+	5+	6+	Miss

A miss against a vehicle has no further effect. A hit brings the vehicle to an immediate halt regardless of its speed. The vehicle may do nothing while it remains webbed. Troops inside may not operate weapons, fire from it, or leave. The vehicle may attempt to break free from the web at the start of each subsequent turn; roll a D6 on the Vehicle Escape Chart.

1	Fail. Trapped for the remainder of the game; may not roll again on this table.
2-3	Fail. Remains trapped; try again next turn.
4	Fail. One randomly-determined weapon is freed and may be used normally.
5-6	Free. The web is destroyed as soon as the vehicle moves in its next movement phase (26).

However, if the gun is being fired on maximum power and rolls a jam, a Catastrophic Coil Burnout occurs:

Shokk Attack Gun

Special		Special				Move or fire for troops

The user of a Shokk Attack Gun is accompanied by one or more Snotling bases; to fire the weapon, the user must remain stationary (move or fire) for the turn and “feed” one or more of the Snotlings into the weapon’s barrel (remove the selected Snotling base from the game). There is no limit to the number of Snotlings that may be used in this manner in a single turn.

Next, the player indicates the point where he wants the Snotlings to appear. The weapon has unlimited range, but must be within the normal 90° firing arc of the firing model. Place the 2” blast marker (33) at this point, then roll the Scatter and Artillery dice. A result of a Hit/Number indicates the shot was on target; leave the marker where it is. Any result of a Misfire results in a roll on the Misfire Table below. Otherwise, scatter the marker as usual.

Any model touched by the template at its final location is attacked by the Snotlings; refer to the appropriate chart and roll on it a number of times equal to the number of Snotlings used this turn to fire the weapon. Models in vehicles — even exposed ones — do not make separate rolls; roll for the vehicle itself only.

Shokk Attack Gun Misfire Table
1-2	Destroyed. The Shokk Attack Gun is destroyed; its user is slain.
3-6	May not Shoot. The weapon may not be fired this turn but is otherwise normal. Note that the Snotlings used to “feed” the weapon are lost.

6	The model is slain outright with no saves allowed.	6	All models in the bunker are slain outright, with no save allowed.
Vehicles		Dreadnoughts, Robots, Wraithguard, & Terminators
1	If stationary when hit, the vehicle remains so for the rest of the game. Otherwise it will move out of control (29) for the rest of the game or until it hits an obstacle (26) or hits terrain it cannot cross, after which it is stationary for the rest of the game.	1	Movement is reduced to half normal for the duration of the game.
2	Randomly pick a weapon; every time it is fired, roll a D6 ; on a 1-3 , the weapon explodes, causing one randomly-located, automatically-penetrating hit on the vehicle. This effect lasts for the rest of the game. If the vehicle has no functioning weapons, re-roll this result.	2	One randomly-selected weapon on the vehicle is inoperable for the remainder of the game.
3-4	Each crew (16) member takes 1 Wound, with normal armour save allowed.	3-5	The model's occupant is slain outright; the model halts and may do nothing for the rest of the game.
5	At the end of each turn, roll a D6 ; on a 6 , the vehicle explodes, causing a hit with Strength, Saving Throw mod, and Damage equivalent to its Ram Value (30) on all models within D6" .	6	As with result 3-5 , but the model moves at half its maximum speed in a random direction and fires directly ahead with all possible weapons each turn for the rest of the game.
6	The vehicle immediately lurches forward D10" and overturns; all models aboard are slain outright with no saves allowed. The vehicle is useless for the rest of the game.

Support Weapons
1-3	Every time the weapon is fired, roll a D6 ; on a 1-3 , the weapon explodes, slaying its crew outright with no armour save allowed. This effect lasts for the rest of the game.
4-6	The support weapon is destroyed and the crew are slain outright with no armour saves allowed.

Instead of using normal ammo, you may choose to use Shrieker ammo. You lose the sustained fire, and it only affects living creatures. If the target is hit, let it make an armour save — if it is failed, the target is affected by the Shrieker serum. Roll 2D6 during the affected model's movement phase (26) and move the victim this number of inches in a randomly-determined direction; squad coherency (16) is ignored. If the 2D6 roll is a 7 or any double, the victim explodes. Place a 1" blast marker (33) over the exploding victim; any target within the area takes a single S3 hit causing 1 wound. Any squad with one or more of its members within 2" of a Shrieker victim at the start of their movement phase must take a Break test (51).

If the result is an Arrow, the shot scatters D6” in that direction. Once you figure out where the shot hits, trace a line back to the wielder of the Vibrocannon; anything in the line is hit. Models struck suffer a hit at a Strength value equal to their own Toughness. Struck vehicles automatically suffer 1 hit to the first location in the path of the beam that is touching the ground. The penetration (35) of the Vibrocannon varies depending on the armour value it is penetrating. If a model is hit by a Vibrocannon in a turn in which he has already been struck by a Vibrocannon, the save modifiers are doubled, and a further D6 is added to the penetration dice.

On the Tyranid player’s turn (shooting phase) following a slime fungus round penetration, roll again (with a -1 modifier) on the same hit location Damage Table to represent the continuing action of the slime. Each subsequent turn repeat with an additional -1 modifier. If the modified result is ever 0 or less, the slime has become inactive and no further rolls are made. For targeting purposes the Exocrine may ignore targets that have already been penetrated. The Exocrine relies on the destructive power of the slime fungus to finish off the enemy target, so it considers one penetrating hit enough and goes off to hunt other vehicles.

Conversion Beam Projector

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-20	20-40	–	-1	*	D6	*	Special	Move or fire

Based on how fast the target can move, the Beamer may suffer an additional To Hit Penalty as follows:

Target's Maximum Movement
0-2” 2-3” 3-5” 5+”
To Hit Penalty	-1	-2	-3	-4

Instead of checking Strength/Toughness (23), roll a D6: on a 3+, the target is wounded — armour saves are ignored. Depending on the range, the Beamer causes a blast marker (33) of varying radius as follows:

Range of Shot
0-20” 20-30” 30-40”
Blast Radius	1½”	2”	3”

When used against a vehicle, it has a variable armour penetration (35) depending on the target’s armour:

Thickness of Target's Armour
1-4 5-8 9-11 12-14 15+
Penetration	D6	2D6	3D6	2D12	3D10

Demolisher Cannon

Distort Cannon

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-16	16-32	–	–	Special		-3	Special	2” blast (33)

Place the blast marker over the target, then roll a Scatter Die; a “Hit” means the template stays where it is; otherwise, move the template D6” in the direction indicated. Roll another Scatter Die and repeat the process once. Vehicles are only affected on a roll of 4+ on D6, but if hit, armour penetration (35) is automatic. Targets hit by the distortion cannon must roll on the following table:

Weapons – Support

D6 Roll	Result
1-4	Destroyed ; the target is removed from play.
5	Displaced ; the target is Displaced (see below)
6	Moved . Move target 2D6" in a random direction.

Displacement

Roll a D6 for models which are displaced and consult the chart below:

1	Target is moved to a random position on a randomly determined table edge.
2	Target is moved 4D6" in a random direction.
3	Target is moved 6D6" in a random direction.
4	Target is moved D6" in a random direction and inverted. If the target is a vehicle, it is unharmed but upside down; any weapons on top of the vehicle are unusable; side-mounted weapons may be used normally. If the target is a trooper, it must spend its following movement phase (26) righting itself and may do nothing else.
5	Target is moved 2D6" in a random direction and into the air 10 meters. The target drops, sustaining an S10 hit causing D6 damage. If the target is a vehicle or building, models directly underneath it are hit on a 4+ on D6 . Any models hit thusly sustain an S10 hit causing D6 damage. No armour saving throws are allowed for any of these hits.
6	Target is moved 2D6" in a random direction and underground to a depth of 10 meters. Place a 2" blast marker (33) over the spot; all models in the blast area suffer an S6 hit causing D6 damage with a -2 save modifier. The target is destroyed.

Duplex Lascannon

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-20	20-60	–	–	9	4D6	-6	3D6+9

If a hit is scored against a vehicle, you may add or subtract 1 from the roll on the Hit Location Table. Once a location is determined, roll armour penetration twice. Each hit that penetrates rolls separate results.

Earthshaker Artillery Cannon

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-20	20-150	–	–	8	2D6	-3	3D6+8	2" blast marker (33)

Fires twice; both shots must be at the same target; roll to hit separately for each shot. Against vehicles, roll for armour penetration (35) as usual, but even if the penetration fails, you still roll D6 on the damage table and then D3 on the damage chart. Move or fire, even for a vehicle.

Heavy Mortar

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
Frag shell				3	1	-1	D6+3	3" blast marker (33)
Inferno shell				5	D3	-3	D6+D3+5	2" blast, targets may catch on fire (23).
Melta shell				8	D10	-4	D6+D10+8	1" blast marker

Weapons – Support

To fire the Heavy Mortar, pick any target you want, ignoring the normal picking a target (31) rules, and then guess a distance between 12-48". Place the appropriate template that many inches from the Heavy Mortar in the direction of the target you chose, then roll Scatter and Artillery Dice. Any roll of a Misfire indicates the shell was a dud or exploded above the ground; remove the template. Any roll of a Hit indicates the shell was dead-on; leave the template where it is. A roll of an arrow and a number indicates the gunners misestimated; scatter the template as normal. If your target is within Line of Sight, you may ignore the guessing rules above and place the template wherever you wish — but you are subject to the normal picking a target rules, and must still roll the Scatter/Artillery dice.

Inferno Cannon

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
Heavy Flamer Template				6	D6	-4	2D6+6

Place the Heavy Flamer Template (33) as normal, then roll an Artillery Die and move the template that many inches straight ahead. The normal rules for templates apply to models touched or covered by the template at any point in its movement. Models surviving a hit may still catch on fire (23).

In addition, crew (16) inside vehicles affected by the Inferno Cannon may be affected even if the armour is not penetrated (35). For each model on board, roll D6; on a 6, the model takes 1 wound with a -1 save modifier. If a location catches fire, you must continue to test for the crew until the flames go out.

Mole Mortar

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
12-24	24-72	–	–		Special		–	2" movement per turn

Move or fire. The mortar has a crew of two, though only one is necessary to fire the weapon. To fire the Mole Mortar, nominate a target point — this may be any point on the tabletop, but there must be a Line of Sight between it and at least one of the Mortar's crew members. Next, roll a D6 to test for the accuracy on this table:

1	Off Target. Randomly scatter from the target point as normal, and then re-roll on this chart. If you roll another 1 , scatter from the scatter point you just established and roll again. Continue until you roll something other than a 1 .
2	Airburst.
3-4	Surface Burst.
5	Ground Burst.
6	Subterranean Burst.

Once you've determined what kind of shot it was, determine the damage characteristics on this chart:

	Blast Radius	Strength	Damage	Save Mod
Airburst	3"	3	1	-2
Surface	2"	4	1	-2
Ground	1"	4	1	-2
Subterranean	D3"	3	1	-2

A ground or subterranean burst leaves a permanent crater equivalent in size to the blast area of the shot. Parts of a building lying over a crater will collapse. Any vehicle which lies 50% or more within the crater area is brought to an immediate halt, and must roll a 5+ on D6 at the start of its Movement Phase (26) before it can move (Tracked (28) vehicles move on a 4+). Any other models within the crater area are thrown to the ground and may not move in their following Movement Phase other than to get on their feet — they may shoot as normal.

Prism Laser Cannon

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-20	20-60	–	–	9	2D6	-6	3D6+9	2" blast marker (33)

Pulsa Rokkit

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
Special		Special

Move or fire, one shot per battle. Before the Rokkit is fired, the player firing it picks a number between 1 and 10, representing the length of the weapon's fuse. The Rokkit always flies straight ahead from where it is fired; roll a nD6, where n is the number you picked. Add up the score, then add 12; this is the distance in inches the Rokkit travels. Thus if you chose 6, the Rokkit would travel 6D6+12". Line-of-sight to the final landing place is not required, and the Rokkit is assumed to have a trajectory sufficient to clear all intervening obstacles (26).

When it lands, the Rokkit effectively becomes a Pulsa Generator. At the start of the opponent's next turn, roll a 2D6; the resulting score is the range (in inches) of the Pulse the generator sends out. If your 2D6 roll was an 8, for example, everything within 8" of the Rokkit would be affected by the Pulse. If your roll is a double (two 2s, two 4s, etc.) then the generator will produce another pulse in your opponent's next turn (wherein you make another 2D6 roll to determine its range, etc.); otherwise, the Pulse stops after this turn.

Foot troops affected by the Pulse are knocked over on their sides, and may not move or fire for the remainder of the turn. Support weapons have their crew affected as for foot troops; the weapon itself is spun to face a random direction and may not be fired this turn. Dreadnoughts and War Walkers must each make an immediate roll on their Leg Damage Table and may not fire any weapons this turn. Bikes and all other vehicles are spun to face a random direction and will move out of control (29) for the rest of the turn; weapons on vehicles so affected may not be fired this turn. Buildings, trees, walls, hedges etc are knocked down on a D6 roll of 4+. Bunkers and similar fortifications are knocked down on a D6 roll of 6+. Any model standing in a knocked down structure is destroyed.

Rapier Laser Destroyer

Salvo Missile Launcher

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save	Armour	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long			Mod	Pen
0-20	20-72	–	–	As missile type (252)				Sustained fire (34) -1

Roll to hit for each missile separately; the missiles may be fired at different targets, but the targets cannot be more than 2" apart. The whole salvo must be of a single missile type.

Scatter Laser

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-20	20-60	+1	–	6	1	-1	D6+6

May fire up to six shots in a single shooting phase (31); all must be within 6" of the primary target. Roll to hit separately for each shot; shots must be assigned before hitting is determined.

Squig Katapult

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
Special		Special

Move or fire. Declare the direction and distance you wish to fire the Katapult without actually measuring it, up to 48"; note that the crew do not need to have Line of Sight to the target. Place the Squig template (1" radius) that many inches away in the direction you indicated. Then roll the Scatter and Artillery dice, and scatter the template as normal, a "Hit" result indicating a perfect shot.

Weapons – Support

The template is not removed after the turn in which it was fired; move the template 2D6" in a random direction during the movement phase (26) of each Ork turn until the Squigs disperse. Anything touching the template even slightly must make a saving throw or be slain instantly; refer to the following chart to determine the number required to save (ordinary saving throws, including those for personal fields, are ignored):

Target	Save Required
Avatars, Greater Daemons, Hive Tyrants	Automatic
Vehicles, Robots, Dreadnoughts, Canifexes	2+
Fully enclosed Power Armour, Aspect Armour, Terminator Armour	3+
Daemons, Genestealers, Tyranid Warriors	4+
All other troops	5+

After each casualty due to the Squig template, roll a D6; on a 1-3, the template is removed; otherwise, the template remains and will continue to move and devour.

If a Misfire is rolled when scattering the template, along with any Scatter result, something has gone wrong; roll a D6 and consult the chart below:

1-2	Destroyed. The Katapult is destroyed; remove the model and its crew as casualties.
3-4	Oooooops. One of the crew is thrown instead of the Squig pot; the Katapulted Gretchin crashes to the turf 2D6" away from the Katapult in a random direction; the Gretchin is slain on impact and anything under it takes an S3 hit with a -1 save modifier.
5-6	May Not Shoot. The Katapult is unharmed, but does not fire this turn.

Smasha Gun

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
Special		Special

Move or fire. May be fired against any target in its 90° front arc, provided there is a clear Line of Sight to the target. Any model may be chosen as a target (ignoring the normal Choosing a Target (31) rules). Determine the range to the target and the target's type, then cross-reference them to determine the score needed To Hit (irrespective of the gunner's BS):

Range	Foot Troop	Bike, Terminator	Vehicle, Dreadnought
0-24"	6	6	5-6
24-36"	6	5-6	4-6
36-48"	6	6	5-6
48-60"	Miss	6	6

If the target is hit, it is lifted into the air, and you may move it D6" in any direction; roll a Scatter Die to determine which direction the target is facing after it finishes moving. Anything under the target when it lands will suffer damage from the impact. Foot troops and Terminators dropped by the Smasha Gun will suffer 1 Wound automatically with a -1 Save Modifier. Dropped vehicles will sustain damage as if they had just had a collision (30) with a building (13), using the vehicle's own Ram Value (30). Support weapons dropped by a Smasha Gun are automatically destroyed. Models which are landed on by targets lifted by a Smasha Gun will suffer damage as if they had been involved in a collision, using the Ram Values of the dropped model (the dropped model is always assumed to have been moving at 10" or greater). Foot troops which are dropped on in this manner do not get a chance to try and avoid the crash.

Splatta Kannon

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
Special		–	–	6	D4	-2	D6+D4+6	Move or fire.

Move or fire. Pivot the gun on the spot so that it is pointing in the direction you wish to fire it. Instead of rolling To Hit as normal, roll an Artillery die; if you roll a misfire, something has gone wrong; roll on the table below (and the shell does not fire). Any other result indicates that the shell has been fired successfully 20" plus the number on the Artillery die (e.g., if you had rolled an 8, the shell travels 28"). The shell travels straight forward until it reaches the distance indicated or it hits a target (obstacle or model). If a model is standing behind an obstacle (e.g., hard cover), then both the obstacle and the model sustain a hit automatically.

Once the shell hits a target or reaches its distance, roll a Scatter Die and an Artillery die. Any result but a misfire on the Artillery die indicates that the shell bounces the Artillery die's number in inches in the direction indicated by the Scatter die (note that this time, 20 is not added to the amount of distance traveled). As before, any targets hit on the way suffer a hit and stop the shell's movement. Continue to roll a Scatter and an Artillery die to determine which direction the shell bounces in until a Misfire is rolled on the Artillery die; this indicates that the shell stops moving.

1-2	Destroyed. The Kannon is destroyed.
3-6	May not shoot. The Kannon may not fire next turn, but may fire in later turns as normal.

Tempest Laser

0-20	20-60	–	–	10	2D12	-6	D6+2D12+9

Distribute multiple hits up to 6" away from the first target. Treat any Jam results as no effect.

Spore Cysts

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-8	-	-	-	4	1	-1	D6+4

Each enemy model that moves within 8" of the Exocrine is fired at immediately using the Exocrine's BS, the spore cyst weapon stats and normal shooting modifiers including the -1 hit modifier for Overwatch targets coming out of cover if applicable. During the Tyranid shooting phase (not movement phase), the Exocrine automatically fires its spore cysts once at each enemy model within 8" that is not in close combat with the Exocrine. Dreadnoughts and closed vehicles are always ignored.

Thudd Gun

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-12	12-72	–	-1	6	1	-2	D6+6

Move or fire for foot troops. It may be pulled up to 4" by its crew of two. A Thudd Gun may not move through difficult terrain (26) or over obstacles (26). At Short Range, attackers may pick whether they want their shots to hit the crew or the Thudd Gun itself; at Long Range, randomize incoming shots between the two. The Thudd Gun has an Armour Value of 10; any shot which penetrates this destroys the weapon completely. The Thudd Gun places four 1" blast markers around its target. Fire the shot as normal, and scatter if you miss. Place the special 1" Thudd Gun blast marker (33) at the impact point. Then roll a D12 to determine in what direction the second template is placed relative to the first ; the Thudd Gun templates have a ring of numbers around their perimeter to indicate which roll indicates which direction. Repeat this process for all four templates, rolling a D12 for each one.

Speculative Fire

May be fired in indirect fire (35) mode, but the process is a little different than normal. To launch a speculative fire shot from a Thudd Gun, pick a target point and place a marker on it. The Thudd Gun may not fire or move other than to rotate this turn; aligning the weapon to aim at the designated point takes the crew the whole rest of the turn. The Thudd Gun must remain stationary for the rest of this turn, the entirety of the opponent's turn, and the Movement Phase of the following turn (if the Gun moves during this time, the marker is removed and the process is "cancelled"). In the following shooting phase, the Thudd Gun may fire at the point that has been marked; the firing process is as normal.

Traktor Kannon

Range		To Hit		Str	Dmg	Save Mod	Armour Pen	Special
Short	Long	Short	Long
0-36	36-72	Special

Nominate a target for the Traktor Kannon as normal, but do not roll To Hit; the target is automatically hit. Roll the Artillery die to determine the Strength of the hit; a 2, 4, 6, 8, or 10 indicates that is the Strength of the hit (resolve Wounds, etc. as normal). All normal saving throws apply. Targets with an Armour Value (35) suffer a hit with penetration value equal to the Strength of the hit plus 3D6.

If the target survives the attack, it is dragged towards the Kannon by a distance equal to half the Strength of the Kannon's hit, in inches (e.g., if an 8 was rolled on the Artillery die, the target would be dragged 4" towards the Kannon after resolving the hit). Foot troops will be dragged over or through intervening terrain such as low walls and hedges; vehicles will collide (30) with obstacles (26) normally (vehicles dragged in this manner count as moving 10" or faster). Support weapons dragged in this fashion will ram things with a Ram Value (30) of S5, causing D4 damage with a -2 save modifier. Buildings hit by a Kannon will not be dragged.

If a Misfire is rolled for the hit's Strength; roll a D6 and consult the Misfire Table below:

1-3	Reversed Polarity. The Traktor Kannon is dragged towards the target, instead of the other way around. Roll the Artillery die again (re-rolling any Misfires) to determine how far in inches the Kannon is dragged towards the target; apply any damage to the Kannon in the same way you would for a vehicle.
4-6	Overheating. It will take a turn for the weapon to cool down sufficiently to be used again; next turn the Kannon may not be fired.

May be fired in indirect fire (35) mode. Carries 10 rockets, programmed to be fired in salvos of 2. Keep track of the number of shots. Each salvo of 2 rockets creates a 3" blast marker. If you miss, scatter as normal — if you roll a "Hit" and a "Misfire", consult the Malfunction Table below.

1-2	The Whirlwind is ripped to pieces; crew are slain. Any models within 3" suffer D6 S10 hits with a -3 save modifier.
3-4	The rockets are expended, but to no effect. In addition, the weapon is jammed, and will only work in subsequent turns if you first roll a 4+ on D6 .
5-6	Rockets are expended, but to no effect. No further effect.

Nominate a target (31) as normal, anywhere within line-of-sight and the normal 90° forward arc. The range of the weapon is determined by multiplying a D6 with an Artillery die (value = N). If the target is within range, it is hit automatically. That same number on the Artillery die is the Strength of the shot, while half that number is the Armour Save modifier. If you roll of a Misfire, something has gone wrong; roll another D6, and on a 1-3 the weapon has exploded, killing the model carrying it.

Xyclos A: automatically inflicts D3 Wounds per hit. Xyclos B: induces psychotic visions; roll D6+2 on the Hallucinogen Effect Table (273). Xyclos C: target automatically catches fire (23) as if from a Flamer (241). The flames cannot be smothered but might go out on their own; if the model dies, it explodes with the same effects as a Plasma (274) grenade.

Other common types are Anti-plant, Blind, Choke, Hallucinogen, Photon Flash, Plasma, Rad, Scare, Smoke, and Tanglefoot. See the appropriate Ammunition Type description for more information.

AMMO TYPES

Default blast radiuses (33) are listed, but where explicitly declared, weapon description takes precedence.

Cloud Movement Chart

Many types of ammunition cause a semi-permanent blast marker to appear on the battlefield; these are noted as “remains” in their description. Unless otherwise specified, ammunition blast markers that do not disappear immediately are subject to a roll of D6 at the start of each side’s turn to determine what happens to them, as follows:

1	Cloud remains where it is but disappears at the end of this turn.
2-4	Cloud remains where it is.
5	Cloud shrinks to half its current radius, rounding down to the nearest ½”.
6	Cloud moves away D6 ” in a random direction.

Anti-Plant

2” blast radius (33), temporary. All foliage in the affected area is removed from the game.

Blight

2” blast radius (33), remains. Affected models suffer a hit of Strength D6; re-roll this Strength value for each hit inflicted by a Blight grenade. If a 1 is rolled for Strength, the Blight has dissipated; remove the marker. Note that unlike most grenades, the effects of a Blight grenade are not perfectly protected against by sealed armour. Models affected by Blight may take normal armour saves, but may not take saves for energy fields or dodges. Enclosed vehicle crewmen (16) on vehicles may be affected; on a roll of a 6 on D6, the blight gets inside the vehicle and affects all crewmen.

Blind

2” blast radius (33), remains. No troops may draw Line of Sight through, into, or out of a Blind cloud. Psykers may not use their powers if a Blind cloud hides their target. Models in hand-to-hand combat (36) within a Blind cloud may fight, but they halve their Weapon Skill, rounding up. At the start of each side’s turn, roll a D6 and consult the cloud movement chart (272) to see what happens to it.

Choke

1½” blast radius (33), remains. Models affected by the cloud must make an immediate Choke test — roll a D6; on a 3+, the model succumbs, remaining incapacitated as long as the gas cloud covers them. They will recover automatically if the cloud is dispersed or moves away. Models under the influence of Choke may be ignored for the purposes of squad coherency (16). Space Marines, Eldar Aspect Warriors, Dreadnoughts, Terminators, and enclosed vehicles are exempt from the effects of Choke gas.

Hallucinogen

1½” blast radius (33), temporary. Space Marines, Eldar Aspect Warriors, Dreadnoughts, Terminators, and enclosed vehicles are exempt from the effects of Hallucinogen gas. Models hit by the template must roll under a 4 on D6 or be affected by the gas. Each model affected by the gas must roll a D10 on the Hallucinogen Effect Table:

1	Roll a D6 ; on a 1-3 , roll again on this chart; on a 4+ , the model shrugs off the gas and suffers no further effects.
2	At the start of each of your following turns, roll a D6 ; on a 1-3 , the model may do nothing that turn; on a 4+ , the model shrugs off the gas and suffers no further effects.
3	The model may do nothing until he shrugs off the effects of the gas; roll a D6 at the start of each of your following turns; on a 6 , the model shrugs off the effects.
4	The model may not move, but must shoot into the nearest patch of cover regardless of what, if anything, lies within it. The model remains immobile, shooting into the cover while the illusion lasts. At the start of each of your following turns, roll a D6 ; on a 6 , the illusion ends.
5	In its next movement phase the model heads off towards the nearest table edge, moving as fast as possible and without shooting. The model continues until it leaves the table.
6	The model moves around the table randomly each turn, doing nothing else and continuing until the game ends or it falls off the table.
7	During the model’s own turn it is moved randomly at normal speed, and shoots its weapons in a random direction (roll to hit the first model, if any, in the direction of fire). The model continues to move and fire in this manner until the end of the game.
8	In its own turn, the model will attempt to shoot the nearest model — friend or foe — moving in such a way so that it may do so. The model continues to do so for the rest of the game.
9	The model remains in its current position for the rest of the game, burbling quietly about “the horror”.
10	During its own movement phase the model moves as fast as possible in a random direction for the rest of the game.

Haywire

1½” blast radius (33), immediate. Only affects vehicles, dreadnoughts, robots, Wraithguard, and Terminators. If any of these models is hit with a Haywire Grenade, their armour is penetrated automatically. Roll to hit locations covered by the template as normal, and then roll on the appropriate damage table with a -1 modifier. Vehicle crewmen (16) or Terminators hit by this grenade suffer a S3 hit causing 1 wound with no armour save possible. Discard this card after use.

Photon Flash Flare

1½” blast radius (33), temporary. Models must roll D6 on the following chart:

	No Effect	Dazzled	Blinded
Unprotected Troops	–	1	2+
Troops w/Visors	1-3	4-5	6
Troops w/AutoSenses	1-5	6	–

Unprotected Troops: Tyranids, Orks, Gretchin and Snotlings.

Troops w/Visors: Imperial Guard, Eldar Guardians, Squats, Marine Scouts.

Troops w/AutoSenses: Space Marines, Dreadnoughts and enclosed vehicles.

Dazzled troops have their WS and BS reduced to 1 for the remainder of the current turn.

Blinded troops may move, but in a random direction at half normal move rate. Blinded troops may not shoot, but may fight in hand-to-hand combat (36) with a WS of 1. Blinded troops are blind for the remainder of this turn and the entirety of the next turn. After that, roll a D6 for each blinded model — on a 5+, sight is recovered immediately.

Plasma

1½” blast radius (33), remains and blocks line-of-sight. At the start of each turn, roll a D6:

1	Disappears immediately.
2-5	Shrinks its radius by ½”.
6	Expands its radius by D6 ” and disappears at the end of this turn.

Radiation (Rad)

D3” blast radius (33); remains. When the shot is placed, roll D3 and hide the result from your opponent. Place a spot marker on the battlefield and make a note of the result of the roll. Models within this range suffer a hit from the Rad grenade of Strength equal to D6+D4 and with a -3 save modifier.

Scare

2” blast radius (33), immediate. Models affected by the gas must roll a 1 on D6 to avoid its effects. Space Marines, Eldar Aspect Warriors, Dreadnoughts, Terminators, and crew (16) in enclosed vehicles are immune to the gas’ effects. If a model affected by scare is not in cover, it will immediately turn towards the nearest cover that lies away from the enemy — or the table edge if it is closer. During its own turn, the model will flee 2D6” towards this cover, and will hide (27) in it if possible. The model may do nothing else in its turn, and may not fight even if attacked. Squad coherency (16) rules are suspended for models affected by Scare. A model may only shake off the effects by rolling a 5+ on D6 at the start of its own turn.

Smoke

2” blast radius (33), remains. Only troops equipped with IR vision, Auto-Senses, Scanners, Targeters, or Bionic Eyes can draw line-of-sight through smoke. Psyker powers are unaffected by smoke, but they may not draw Line of Sight through it with normal vision. Models within a smoke cloud have the option of staying put or moving half their normal rate in a random direction — they may fight in hand-to-hand combat (36) but halve their Weapon Skill rounding up. Space Marines (including Scouts), Terminators, all Imperial Guard forces, Squats, all Dreadnoughts, crew (16) in all enclosed vehicles, and all Eldar including Aspect Warriors and Guardians are equipped with technology that enable them to draw Line of Sight through smoke clouds. This basically leaves Orks and Tyranids.

Stasis

2” blast radius (33), remains. Everything under the marker is trapped in a stasis loop. Models inside the marker may neither act nor be affected by anything outside the loop; they cannot move or shoot and cannot be shot at. Line of Sight may be drawn through the stasis field. Vehicles and troops within 2” of the edge of the blast marker move at half speed and may only shoot or use psychic powers if they first roll a 4+ on D6. Close combat (36) is only worked out every other turn for models within 2” of the marker. There is a -2 to hit modifier for shooting into, through, or out of the area within 2” of the marker. The field remains in play; at the beginning of each side’s turn, roll a D6:

1-2	Stasis effect persists until the end of this turn and then the grenade’s power source is exhausted, and the template is removed.

Tanglefoot

Place a small spot marker where the weapon hits. Models within 3” of the marker move at half rate but are otherwise unaffected. Vehicles moving into a tangle-field are also affected; each inch counts as 2” while in the field. As the vehicle leaves the field, roll a D6:

1	Complete remaining movement straight ahead only.
2	Turn 45° to the left and complete remaining movement in a straight line.
3	Turn 45° to the right and complete remaining movement in a straight line.
4+	No effect — move as normal.

Toxin

1½” blast radius (33), remains. Models affected by the template must roll to see if the toxin affects them — Space Marines, Eldar Aspect Warriors, Dreadnoughts, Terminators, and enclosed vehicles are immune to the effects. Imperial Guard, Squats, Eldar Guardians, Space Marine Scouts, and Orks in ‘Eavy armour must roll a 1 or 2 on D6 to avoid the toxin’s effects. Other models, Orks, and Gretchin must roll a 1 to avoid being affected. Affected models must roll a D6; on a 2+, they are slain regardless of their Wounds.

Virus

2” blast radius (33), immediate. Models affected by the template must roll to see whether the gas affects them. Space Marines, Eldar Aspect Warriors, Dreadnoughts, Terminators, and enclosed vehicles are immune to its effects. Other models must roll a 1 or 2 on D6 to avoid the affects. Affected models are effectively slain — but are left on the battlefield. Lie affected models on their sides, and roll a D6 — this is the contact range for the virus in inches. Any normally vulnerable model within the contact range of a victim of the Virus is slain on a D6 roll of 4+. Each time a model is slain by the effects of the virus, lay it on its side and roll for the contact range again. It is possible that a single model may have to test to see if it is slain several times because it lies within the contact range of more than one victim. Once there are no more victims within the contact range of all slain models, the virus has no further effects.

Vortex

1½” blast radius (33), remains. All matter covered by the marker is destroyed, and everything partially touching the marker is destroyed on a 4+ on D6, instantly, be it building, wood, or model. If a vehicle is completely covered by the vortex, it is completely destroyed. If a vehicle is partially covered, each location on the vehicle covered by the vortex is hit on a D6 roll of 4+ — the vehicle’s armour is penetrated (35) automatically; roll for damage on the appropriate table with a +1 modifier. Line of Sight cannot be drawn into or through a Vortex template. At the beginning of each side’s turn, roll a D6:

1-2	Vortex vanishes without further effect; remove the template.
3-4	Remains unchanged.
5-6	Moves D6” in a random direction, obliterating everything in its path.

VEHICLE MODIFICATIONS

ALL ARMIES

The following modifications may be added to any vehicle with a Datafax. There is no limit to the number of modifications that can be made to a single vehicle, nor to the number of instances of the same modification that may be made, but unless otherwise specified, each modification may only be applied to a particular vehicle once. This means that although all four of your tanks may have Reinforced Armour (276), you may not have any vehicles with multiple Armour Reinforcements.

Ablative Armour

+15 points

The crewman of this vehicle have bolted extra protective plates to it, forming a secondary layer of armour. A vehicle with ablative armour ignores the first hit which successfully penetrates the vehicle's armour. Further hits that penetrate count as normal. Hits from graviton guns and Shokk Attack guns ignore ablative armour. Exposed crewmen are not protected by ablative armour.

Auto Launchers

+5 points

See the weapon profile (240) for this weapon for more information.

Ceramite Armour

+50 points

The armour of this vehicle is a special compound that retains all the protection of normal armour, but also has incredible heat resisting qualities. Any shots from Multi-Meltas (252), Meltaguns (243), or Melta-bombs (247) divide their armour penetration rolls in half. Note that exposed crewman are not protected by ceramite armour and will be affected normally.

Electro-Hull

+10 points

This card may be taken by any vehicles except those with exposed crew. By running a live electric current through the hull, this vehicle has a very simple defence against hand-to-hand attacks. Any model which attacks this vehicle in hand-to-hand combat must first see if their armour protects them from the shock, by successfully making a basic armour saving roll (field saves have no effect against Electro-hulls). If the model fails, then he will be thrown back 1" and may not attack this turn. If the model successfully makes its basic saving throw then it may attack the vehicle as normal.

Null-Shield

+35 points

Each time a psychic power is used on a vehicle with a null-shield, roll the Scatter Die first — on a roll of a "Hit", the psychic power penetrates the Shield and works normally. If an arrow is rolled, the power is deflected 2D6" away in the direction indicated, passing over terrain and obstacles but affecting the first legal model (other than the vehicle whose Null-Shield deflected it) in its path. If the null-field is within a blast marker (33), the Shield will nullify (42) the power on a 4+ on D6.

Reinforced Armour

+10 points

The armour value (35) for all locations is increased by +1. The extra weight has a negative effect on speed; the vehicle's Slow Speed is reduced by 1", the Combat Speed reduced by 2", and the Fast Speed reduced by 4". Dreadnoughts and Walkers have their Movement reduced by 2".

Scythes

+5 points — bikes only

When the bike is used to make a hit and run attack (28), before the actual attack is resolved, the enemy model must roll equal to or under his Initiative on a D6 (a 6 always fails). If this roll is failed, the model takes a Strength 4 hit causing 1 Wound with a -1 save modifier. If the model is still alive, or passes its Initiative test, then resolve the hit and run attack as normal.

Searchlight

+5 points

You may use the Searchlight during any Movement Phase (26). Place a 2" blast marker (33) anywhere within Line of Sight of the vehicle using the Searchlight. Any hidden (27) enemy models at least partially covered by the marker are "spotted" (if they are in or behind soft cover (33)). Enemy models hidden in or behind hard cover (33) become "detected" instead.

Supercharged Engine

+5 points

May not be taken for Dreadnoughts or other Walkers. May be used in any movement phase (26) to increase the vehicle's speeds, and may be used repeatedly but no more than once per movement phase. When used, Combat Speed is increased by D6 and Fast Speed is increased by 2D6.

Vortex Detonator

+50 points

The Vortex Detonator projects a field over a large area which can detect the tiny warp drives within Vortex grenades and cause them to detonate prematurely. If any model attempts to use a Vortex grenade they will be detected by the Vortex Detonator, and the grenade will automatically explode in the model's hand. Place the blast marker over the model as if it had hit itself with the Vortex grenade.

CHAOS SPACE MARINE MODIFICATIONS

Combi-Bolter

+5 points/weapon

Additional combi-weapons may be mounted on a Chaos vehicle at any location. The weapons may be fired by crewmen (16) inside, or by models transported by the vehicle. Space Marines may rapid fire (162) with the combi-bolters if the vehicle is stationary or moving at Slow Speed.

Coruscating Warp Flame

+45 points — Tzeentch vehicles only

Any psychic power used against the vehicle or a model within 3" of it will be nullified (42) on a 4+ on D6. On a roll of 6, not only is the power nullified, but its owner must discard it for the rest of the game. If the vehicle is attacked in close combat (37), it will inflict D6 hits with a Strength of 4+D6 divided among the models in base-to-base contact with it. Make a single roll for the Strength of all the hits; each hit inflicts 1 Wound with a saving throw modifier of -1 for each point of Strength above 3. Surviving enemy models may then attack as normal.

Daemonic Possession

+25% of the vehicle's value

May only be chosen for fully-enclosed vehicles and Dreadnoughts. The vehicle has no crew (16) — it is "manned" instead by a daemon. Its hatches are all welded shut; if the vehicle had troop-carrying ability, it can no longer carry any troops. The Daemon controls the vehicle and can fire all of its guns using its BS of 5. If the vehicle is a Dreadnought it fights with a WS of 5 as well. Any damage results that indicate the crew are killed have absolutely no effect. The vehicle causes terror (53). If your army loses all its champions bearing a Mark of Chaos (58), then the daemon inside the vehicle will be banished — disabling the vehicle.

Destroyer

+25 points — Khorne vehicles only

The vehicle has its Ram Value (30) upgraded to S10, D20 damage, and a –6 save modifier. In addition, any model wishing to attack the vehicle in hand-to-hand combat (37) must roll equal to or under their Initiative on D6 (6 always fails). If this roll is failed, then the model sustains a hit equivalent to the vehicle's Ram Value.

Nurgle Infestation

+20 points — Nurgle vehicles only

The armour value (35) of all locations is increased by 1 point. In addition, any model who attacks the vehicle in hand-to-hand combat (37) must first fight the Nurglings and waving limbs which cling to the vehicle; the vehicle gets 2 Attacks with a WS of 3. If the vehicle wins the combat, it works out hits as normal; the infestation counts as having a Strength of 3. If the attacker wins, it may make a single attack against the vehicle in the normal manner. Do not count any bonuses for multiple attackers (37) fighting a Nurgle-infested vehicle.

Warp Amp

+25 points — Slaanesh vehicles only

May only be chosen if your army includes at least one squad of Noise Marines (60) and may only be fitted to Land Raiders (174), Predators (176), and Rhinos (177). The closer a creature comes to the warp amp, the harder it is for it to maintain discipline and conscious thought. Enemy models within 18" of the warp amp suffer a –1 penalty to their Leadership score when taking Break (52) or psychology (52) tests. Within 12", the penalty increases to –2, and within 6" it increases to –3.

ELDAR MODIFICATIONS

Crystal Targeting Matrix

+5 points; Free for Fire Prism Gravitank

All shots from the Prism Cannon ignore any penalties when firing at fast moving targets (32).

Crystalline Web

+25 points per armour location on the vehicle to be modified

You may apply a Crystalline Web to part or all of a vehicle as desired. If an armour location bearing a Crystalline Web is penetrated (35), your opponent should roll on the following table instead of the normal damage table:

1-2	The vehicle is completely unaffected.
3	Any weapons associated with the penetrated location may not fire during your next turn. No further effects.
4-5	Roll a D3 on the penetrated location's damage table. The Web protecting the location is destroyed.

Holo-Field

+30 points — skimmers only

As long as the vehicle is moving, all shots fired at it suffer an additional –1 to hit. If the vehicle comes to a halt or makes a pop-up attack (29) then it does not benefit from its holo-field.

Psycho-Sonic Screemers

+20 points — Jetbikes, Vypers and Grav-tanks only

The vehicle causes Terror (53).

Spectral Shield

+15 points

Each time the vehicle is hit by a laser weapon (e.g., Lasgun (242), Lascannon (251)), you may roll a D6 and subtract the die roll's result from the Strength of the hit.

Spirit Stone

+15 points — Dreadnoughts prohibited

If the vehicle is assaulted psychically, the attack is nullified on a D6 roll of 6. In addition, if one of the crew is killed by any means, then the spirit stone will take over with the same profile as an Eldar Guardian. If the dead crew member is hit again, then the spirit stone is hit instead. It has Toughness 4 and 1 Wound. A vehicle may only carry one spirit stone.

Talons

+60 points for War Walkers and Dreadnoughts; +30 points to all other vehicles

Before close combat (36) for the vehicle is resolved, roll a D6 for each enemy model in base-to-base contact with the vehicle. On a 4+, the model is hit. Hit models must each roll a D6; if the score is equal to or more than the hit model's Toughness, it suffers one Wound with a -2 save modifier.

Vectored Engines

+25 points — skimmers only

The vehicle may make double the number of turns it is normally allowed to make.

ORK MODIFICATIONS

Kustom Force Field

+20 points

Whenever the vehicle is hit, roll D6 and deduct the result from the Strength of the incoming shot. On a result of a 6, the hit is stopped completely but the Force Field is burned out and destroyed, inflicting an S4 hit on a randomly-selected crewman (16).

Moto-X

+10 points

This card may only be taken by Ork Warbikes (146). The Warbike has great big knobby tires and special spiky tracks so that it can cope with all types of terrain. The Warbike can travel up to combat speed across difficult ground. In addition, the Warbike may attempt to cross linear obstacles that are no taller than the front wheel. Roll a D6: on a 4+ the obstacle is successfully crossed; otherwise, the Warbike collides as normal.

'Oooge Xhausts

+5 points

This card may only be taken for Ork Warbikes (146). The owner of this Warbike has fitted his bike with absolutely immense exhaust pipes. The 'Oooge Xhausts are specially customised to make as much noise as possible. The thrumping noise they produce sounds like a dozen battle cannons ripping the earth apart, fooling the enemy into thinking they are under attack! Any enemy units on overwatch (27) that are within 12" of the Warbike must pass a Leadership test (52) or lose overwatch, just as if they had been shot at.

Skrabbla

+10 points

This card may only be taken by Ork Warbikes (146). The rider of this Warbike has a faithful Gretchin assistant who rides on the back of the Warbike. These reckless Gretchin are known as Skrabblas. Following the shouted orders of the rider, they scabble around the back, throwing their weight around to help ease the heavy Warbike into skid turns. A Warbike rider with a skrabbla may add +2 to his dice rolls on the skid turn chart (28). The skrabbla is extremely agile and cannot be hit by enemy fire.

Squig Fuel Injector

+5 points

May not be used by Dreadnoughts. May be used at the end of the vehicle's movement phase (26), and makes it move forward another 3D6" in a straight line immediately. If the roll for distance is 15 or more the vehicle starts to rattle apart — move the vehicle, then roll a D6 on the Hull Damage Table.

IMPERIUM MODIFICATIONS

Unless otherwise specified, the following modifications may only be taken for vehicles from any of the Space Marine (162) Chapters [Blood Angels (180), Dark Angels (182), Space Wolves (193), Ultramarines (199)], as well as the Imperial Agents (104), Sisters of Battle (151), and Imperial Guard (117) army lists.

Ammo Feed

+5 points/weapon added — Space Marine vehicles only

This vehicle card may be fitted to a vehicle's Heavy Bolter (250). A heavy bolter equipped with an ammo feed may ignore the first jam rolled on the sustained fire dice each turn. This means a heavy bolter with an ammo feed will only jam if two jams are rolled together. A twin-linked heavy bolter may only have a single ammo feed.

Auxiliary Storm Bolters

+5 points/weapon added

You may mount an auxiliary Storm Bolter (244) anywhere on the vehicle. Any member of the crew (16) may fire a weapon, but if he does so he may not perform his normal task. Alternately, troopers from squads being transported may also fire the weapons. It may re-roll any Jams (34).

Bulldozer Blade

+15 points

May not be taken for Dreadnoughts, Walkers, bikes, or skimmers. The Strength of the vehicle's Ram Value (30) is increased by +1 and the Ram Damage is increased by +1D6. Any shots which hit the front of the vehicle's hull will hit the Blade instead on a 4+ on D6 — if hit, the Blade adds +D6 to the vehicle's front hull armour value (35) for that shot only. If the vehicle's hull suffers a penetrating hit from the front, the Blade is automatically destroyed.

Command Comm-link

+30 points — Space Marine vehicles only

This vehicle card may only be fitted to Space Marine vehicles that have a character riding in or on them. When rolling to see which side goes first, a Space Marine force that includes this vehicle may roll 2D6 and add their Strategy Rating (10) to the best result. Further vehicles with a command comm-link will not confer any bonuses.

Frag Defenders

+10 points

Frag Defenders may be triggered at any point in the game; when they are, all models in base-to-base contact with the vehicle firing them suffer an automatic S4 hit with a -1 save modifier causing 1 wound.

Heavy Flamer Upgrade

+10 points/weapon upgraded

You may replace any Heavy Bolter (250) normally mounted on an Imperial vehicle with a Heavy Flamer (251). Twin-linked Heavy Bolters may be upgraded to a single Heavy Flamer for free.

Hunter-Killer Missile

+30 points

May not be taken for Dreadnoughts, Walkers, bikes, or skimmers. The Missile is a one-shot weapon and may only be fired at vehicles, Dreadnoughts, buildings or similar targets. It always hits on a roll of 3+ regardless of any modifiers. If the missile hits, work out damage as normal using the following profile:

Strength	Damage	Save Mod	Armour Pen.
8	2D10	-6	8+2D10+D6

Recon Pack

+20 points — Space Marine Attack Bikes only

The Space Marine player may add 1 to his Strategy Rating (10). In addition, on a D6 roll of 4+ you may force your opponent to discard one of his Strategy Cards (19). Further vehicles with a recon pack will not confer any extra bonuses.

WEAPON CONVERSION

You may place weapons on vehicles that don't appear on the Datafax. Below is a list of point costs:

Weapon	Cost
Assault Cannon (249)	45
Autocannon (249)	25
Battlecannon (258)	55
Conversion Beam Projector (258)	50
Cyclone Missile Launcher (249)	65
Heavy Bolter (250)	15
Heavy Flamer (251)	25
Heavy Plasma Gun (251)	40
Heavy Stubber (251)	10
Lascannon (251)	45
Meltagun (243)	8
Missile Launcher (252) w/Frag and Super Krak missiles (272)	45
Multi-Melta (252)	65
Plasma Gun (244)	8
Shuriken Cannon (254)	20
Shuriken Catapult (244)	5
Storm Bolter (244)	4

FIRING

Q1: My opponent tells me he can shoot a sustained fire weapon at a model in the open and use any extra hits on other targets within 4", even if the other targets are in more cover. He would normally suffer a -2 to hit modifier to shoot at them, but this doesn't apply. Is this correct?

A: At one point, but not anymore. Sustained fire weapons and the troops that use them, have to make decisions to keep themselves alive. These decisions work during targeting and dishing out the extra hits. Because of this, they obey the targeting rules just like everything else, so that extra shots can't be dished out to targets that are harder to hit than the original model. If you want to target a unit that is half in hard cover and half in the open, and you want to be able to dish out hits to all of them, you have to shoot at the ones in hard cover, taking the -2 to hit modifier. Also, extra shots must be allocated within the same unit, and not to models from different units. Yes, sometimes this means a unit ends up extra dead. This is explained in the Tyranid Special Rules in the Tyranid Codex pretty well, as well as placing template weapons.

Q2: Does Overwatch only happen in the movement phase, or does it occur any time an eligible target appears? What if hidden troops open fire, or if a psyker teleports into sight during the psychic phase?

A: In the Warhammer 40,000 Rulebook it states that a model on Overwatch may shoot during the opposing player's movement phase, but this really is an oversight on my part. I didn't take into account the other ways targets might appear later in the turn, but it seems perfectly reasonable for troops to wait and use Overwatch fire at any point in your opponent's turn.

However, except for movement, you cannot interrupt your opponent while he is performing an action. This means you can't wait until your opponent declares his target for a particular model before opening fire. In the same vein, you can't make an Overwatch shot between your opponent making a successful to hit roll and his roll to wound (since this is patently silly), or when your opponent uses a psychic power. Basically, the only action you can actually interrupt is movement (whether this is a normal move, run, charge or follow-up move). If your opponent is performing some other action, you will have to wait until it is finished before you can fire.

Another area of the rules which can cause disagreement is models turning while on Overwatch. Turning does not count as movement, so you can turn models freely whilst they are on Overwatch. A model on Overwatch may turn before it fires, unless it is shooting a move or fire weapon. This helps keep those pesky Tyranid Gargoyles and Eldar Swooping Hawks and Warp Spider Aspect Warriors from getting too cocky!

Q3: What happens with grenades being thrown from the top of tall buildings, etc?

A: Good question. We'd guess that what you'd do is this: if you're throwing a grenade down from the top of a tower or something, you can measure the range from any level of the building. If you're throwing towards something on the same level or higher up, measure the range from the actual position of the model.

Q4: Can you take an Overwatch shot at Eldar Swooping Hawks or Tyranid Gargoyles as they take off to start flying high?

A: Yes, measure the range to where the models are starting off from. It can be imagined that the troops are shooting at the flyers as they take off and rise above the level of any intervening trees, buildings, hills, or other terrain.

Q5: Can an Imperial Assassin use his/her dodge ability to avoid a Vortex grenade?

A: Yes. A Vortex is still a template weapon, albeit a rather strange and deadly one. Assassins are highly-trained killers, and aren't put off by somebody collapsing dimensions nearby!

Q6: Can a Lictor fire its flesh hooks at two separate targets?

A: No, but I can understand the confusion over this one. It's not terribly clear in the Lictor or flesh hooks descriptions in Codex Tyranids (though, weirdly enough, it is clear in the Biomorphs) and I got it wrong in a recent battle report — sometimes I wonder how I sleep at night!

Q7: Can a model carry anything in a hand which is equipped with a lightning claw (in other words, could I use it to fire a pistol or throw a grenade, etc.)?

A: Although this is not stated in the rules, common sense dictates that the answer is no.

Q8: Does a model only benefit from cover if it is in base-to-base contact with it?

A: No, models which are partially obscured by intervening cover gain the benefits of it as well, though models which are less than half obscured by hard cover should only count a -1 to hit modifier, not -2.

Q9: Is the Autocannon a move or fire weapon?

A: Yes.

CLOSE COMBAT

Q1: If you fire a plasma pistol in hand-to-hand combat does it have to recharge next turn?

A: Yes.

Q2: Can you charge a hidden model or one you can't see at the start of your move?

A: Yes.

Q3: Lightning claws and parrying. In the Wargear book it says lightning claws give you a parry. Is that intended to be one parry per claw or one parry for having a pair of claws?

A: You get one parry per lightning claw, just like you get one parry per sword if you're using swords. In the Wargear book the profile shown is for one claw, not the pair. Ork power claws are far too clunky to give their user a parry (anyway, an Ork would tell you that parrying implies you're scared of getting hurt!). Bjorn gets a single parry for his one lightning claw.

Q4: Do Virus weapons and the Virus Outbreak Strategy card work against daemons?

A: No.

PSIONICS

Q1: Does the Daemonic Attack Warp card have any effect on the Ultimate Force card?

A: This potential rules conflict arises because Ultimate Force cannot be nullified in any way. However, the Daemonic Attack card states that the power currently being used is automatically nullified. So does this mean psykers using Ultimate Force are immune to the attack of predatory daemons? Well, there is a way that both players can have the cake and eat it, too. We've found that the best way to resolve this situation is to work out the Daemonic Attack as normal, as stated on the card. However, regardless of the psyker's fate, the power he was using goes ahead as normal, since Ultimate Force cannot be nullified, even by a daemon. Yes, even if he is killed, the psychic power still takes effect!

Q2. If I have no psykers in Warhammer 40,000, do I still get dealt Warp cards?

A. Yes you do. Also note that the warp flux dice roll can never be reduced to less than 1D6, even if there are no psykers left in the game at all.

ARMOUR

Q1. Some models are allowed to dodge shooting and hand-to-hand combat attacks on an unmodified dice roll. Can you dodge a psychic attack?

A. This really depends on the kind of attack, so it needs a bit of common sense and interpretation. Basically, if the psychic attack is something which directly affects the target's mind or body (examples would include Smite, Mind War and Brain Bursta) you can't dodge it. If a psyker blasts the model with a physical bolt of energy (like Hellfire, Lightning Arc, Destructor or Da Krunch) then the model can try and dodge it like any other attack.

A good rule of the thumb to judge whether a psychic attack can be dodged is to see if it has a Strength value or not. If it has a Strength value it means it can probably be dodged! If you can't agree on an answer, resolve the situation with the old roll a D6: 1-3 you can't dodge it this time, 4-6 you can. This doesn't set a precedent, roll each time the situation crops up. Also remember that if the attack uses a template, a model which dodges must be moved to the edge of the template. If this is impossible (most likely if the target is inside a bunker or other building) the attack cannot be dodged and the model suffers the full effects. If there is only room for them to partially dodge the blast, they will be hit on a D6 roll of 4, 5 or 6 like any other model not wholly covered by the blast marker.

Q2. Just what are the rules for Displacer fields?

A. The rules on Displacer fields are rather unclear. See updated section in Battle Bible.

Q3. When do you test for destroying fields with the Tyranid Voltage Field biomorph?

A. The test is only made when the Voltage Field makes a saving throw. At that point the crackling field "flares" outwards and you test to see if it overloads every other field within 4" of the Tyranid model with the Voltage Field - on a 4 or more the field is destroyed. If the Voltage Field makes multiple saves in the same turn make multiple tests to see if it burns out nearby fields. If the Voltage Field fails a saving throw there is no chance of it destroying fields nearby. Remember that Tyranid fields are not affected by the Voltage Field.

Q4. Is it possible to get an armour saving throw better than 1+?

A. No! Anything which increases a model's armour save can never increase it to greater than 1+, under any circumstances whatsoever.

CHAOS

Q1. Chaos Terminators can be upgraded to Noise Marines. They can then choose Noise Marine weapons. Are there any limitations on the numbers of Noise Marine weapons they can take, or are they bound by the regular Noise Marine weapon restrictions?

A. When upgraded in this manner, the squad may not mix some Noise Marine weapons and some Chaos Terminator weapons. It's all or nothing! This means that it is not possible to have a Doom Siren and a Reaper Autocannon in the same squad. In all respects, follow the options for Noise Marines.

Q2. How would Destroy Demon effect a Demonically Possessed Vehicle (it has no number of wounds for working out the power).

A. It doesn't have any effect at all.

Q3. Can you possess an Aspiring Champion with a Greater Demon?

A. Yep! Though they are given the title Aspiring Champion, they are still viable receptacles for possession.

Q4. Do hits against vehicles like tanks (those that do not fight back) count towards Khorne summoning points?

A. No. There's not much glory in that!

Q5. When taken as allies, do any hits/wounds/etc the allies cause count towards summoning points?

A. Nope. Chaos cares little for the efforts of those who do not consecrate their kills to the Gods of the Warp.

Q6. Do Chaos Dreadnoughts, when possessed, still suffer from Fire Frenzy?

A. No. The daemon within can show restraint.

Q7. How is the final point cost for a Possessed vehicle worked out?

A. Add in all the costs from the datafax (extra weapons or other options), then "possess" the vehicle and multiply the cost at that point by an extra 25%. Then add the cost of any other vehicle wargear cards.

Q8. Chaos Terminators with Mark of Khorne: 2+ or 3+ save on 2D6?

A. Only Abbadon's armour goes to 2+ on 2D6. Chaos Armour is not Terminator Armour. Only Chaos Armoured troops get the +1 to their save.

Q9. What is the Initiative value (if any) of a Demonically Possessed vehicle?

A. Assign a value of 5 for hand to hand purposes.

Q10. If a unit/character/etc is stated as being immune to Leadership based tests, or that it will automatically pass them, does this mean they automatically ignore/pass Psychic Powers or esoteric weapons which demand a Leadership test as part of the power/weapon effect?

A. No, they must take the test. They are only immune to the Leadership tests as described in the Rulebook.

Q11. Along those lines, if they are immune, and don't need to take the test (fear, terror, etc), do they still add to Slaanesh summoning points?

A. No, as no test was made.

Q12. If a model is equipped with terminator armour can he still take wargear cards that are weapons such as a Plaguesword?

A. Normally this is allowed, but your group may wish to decide this for yourselves. As always, equipment like this must be modeled on the figure.

Q13. Are Greater Daemons affected by an Ork Shokk Attack Gun, if so which table do you use?

A. Yes they are, and so are Eldar Avatars - treat them as foot models.

ELDAR

Q1. Can an Eldar Avatar use its Wailing Doom to make a parry, since it's a really big sword?

A. No. An Eldar Avatar is the physical manifestation of Khaela Mensha Khaine, a raging god of war and destruction. The Avatar has no thoughts for defence, only attacking and killing the enemy! Also, the Wailing Doom actually appears in many different forms, only one of which is a sword...

Q2. How many shots does a Warp Spider Exarch have, since he has two Deathspinners?

A. He can only fire once, but the two Deathspinners allow him to use the Fast Shot Exarch power (giving him two shots).

Q3. Are Eldar Avatars affected by an Ork Shokk Attack Gun, if so which table do you use?

A. Yes they are, and so are Greater Daemons - treat them as foot models.

Q4. Can the Web of Skulls and Silent Death cause multiple hits on one model?

A. No.

ORKS

Q1. How long does Ghazghkull's Waaagh! last for?

A. Two player turns (the turn it is called upon and the next one).

Q2. Is Ghazghkull Thraka affected by a Vortex grenade if he has called on the power of the Waaagh, since this makes him invulnerable?

A. No he isn't, as long as he had called up the Waaagh before he was hit by the Vortex (some players think that they can wait until Ghazghkull is killed by an attack and then call up the Waaagh to save him – this just isn't the case!)

Sometimes a situation arises where there is no obvious solution (Total Power vs. a Collar of Khorne, for example). In these situations, roll a dice to see which side "gains the upper hand" (in this example, whether the spell works or is automatically dispelled). This sets no precedent and you should roll every time the situation occurs.

Q3. Can an Ork in Mega armour ride on a boar or Cyboar?

A. No.

SPACE MARINES

Q1. Are Terminators encumbered (-1 to WS) if they carry a Heavy Weapon?

A. No.

Q2. Can models wearing Terminator Armour throw grenades?

A. No.

Q3. Can Space Marines wearing Terminator Armour rapid fire their storm bolters?

A. Yes.

ANGELS OF DEATH

Q1. Under Blood Angels, it states you can equip your entire Death Company with jump packs for 50 points. Is this true if you have fifteen, twenty or even more models in your Death Company?

A. Yes. In effect you get a “bulk purchase discount” if you equip a large Death Company squad with jump packs (and by the same token you pay a premium price if the squad consists of less than 10 models).

Q2. Why is the Dark Angels Ravenwing Land Speeder so expensive? It has cheaper weapons than the standard Land Speeder: an Assault Cannon (45 points) and a Heavy Bolter (15 points), whereas the Codex Land Speeder has a Multimelta (65 points) and a Heavy Flamer (25 points) – the Codex Land Speeder has 30 points more weapons. It should cost 115 points + the extra cost for being a Ravenwing vehicle (in the case of Attack Bikes that’s 10 points) = 125 points. Now it costs 195 points, which is 70 points too much?

A. The reason the Ravenwing Land Speeder costs 195 points is because that’s what it’s worth! This kind of thing is exactly why the weapon conversion rules are optional. They are simply a quick fix that allows players the chance to convert vehicles quickly and easily. If you want to get the true cost for a vehicle, you have to playtest and change the points value to reflect the actual performance of the vehicle in the game.

This is common sense really, it stands to reason that some weapons are going to be more effective when used on one type of vehicle than another, in exactly the same way that a Lascannon will be more effective in the hands of a Space Marine than an Imperial Guardsman. The complex variables involved in this equation mean that any points values we get from our spreadsheets and points value lists are always taken as a starting point, to be modified up or down in the light of playtesting and experience.

Q3. Isn’t the model listed as being Asmodai on page 41 in the ‘Eavy Metal section of the Codex really Sapphon? Sapphon is described as having a power sword, which this model clearly has, while Asmodai carries the Blades of Reason instead. Also, can’t the robes shown on the model only be worn by Grand Masters of the Dark Angels such as Sapphon?

A. The model shown in the Codex is Asmodai. Jes decided to give him a power sword because the model looked better with it, and I said it was OK as the upgrade was allowed by the rules. The reason you can’t see the Blades of Reason is that they are actually quite small (I imagine them to be rather like a complex Swiss army penknife!) and are hidden under Asmodai’s robes. He’s not holding them as they are generally only used when Asmodai interrogates one of The Fallen. I’ve included a card for them because they were mentioned in the colour text about Asmodai, and because they add depth and interest to the character. As to Asmodai’s robes, these are worn by most of the senior officers and Chaplains in the Dark Angels Chapter, not just Grand Masters. By the way, please note that there is an error in the Asmodai Wargear section, where it mentions Sapphon. This is a mistake (it should read Asmodai), damn that cut and paste function!

Q4. Why does Dante have a strategy rating of only 5? After all, he is meant to be over 1100 years old, and he did take supreme command during the Armageddon Campaign. Is this a mistake?

A. No it’s not a mistake, Dante really does have a strategy rating of “only” 5. This is because although Dante is a forceful and dynamic leader, he lacks the deep strategic insight of commanders such as Marneus Calgar of the Ultramarines, or Azrael of the Dark Angels. This being said, Dante is an awesome leader, and the fact that he has been around for so long means that he is held in great respect and awe by his fellow commanders. This is why he was chosen as supreme commander at Armageddon, and is generally deferred to in similar circumstances. However, Dante is wise enough to know when to delegate jobs to others, and also when to listen to the advice of his colleagues. Thus, for example, if Dante and Azrael were taking part in a joint operation, although Azrael would defer to Dante as supreme commander, Dante would certainly allow Azrael to plan the operation and would listen carefully to any advice he might have.

SPACE WOLVES

Q1. Can Wolf Guard Terminators really take both an assault cannon and cyclone missile launcher?

A. No, they cannot.

VEHICLES

Q1. Can the Imperial Guard Basilisk and Leman Russ Demolisher tanks turn in place and still fire their respective “big guns”?

A. No, in order to fire their “big guns” they must be absolutely stationary.

Q2. The rulebook it states that you can accelerate or decelerate by one speed band per turn after the start of the battle, but the example given seems to suggest that you cannot change speed in the first turn of the game. Can you accelerate/decelerate in the first turn of the game?

A. Yes, you can accelerate or decelerate normally in the first turn. The example isn’t perhaps the best in the world, and assumes that you don’t want to accelerate on the first turn. Oh well...

Q3. Can the Ablative Armour Vehicle card save against an attacks by Buzzer Squigs or a Pulsa Rokkit?

A. No, the Ablative Armour card only works against weapons which punch through armour with an armour penetration roll. It would not work against an Eldar Distort cannon attack either, for example.

Q4. What happens to a skimmer which is hit by a Graviton Gun?

A. As with any other vehicle hit by a Graviton Gun, the skimmer’s armour is automatically penetrated and is likely to go out of control, but otherwise suffers no additional effects.

WARGEAR

Q1. How does a Callidus Assassin’s Neural Shredder affect vehicles?

A. The Neural Shredder will affect one randomly determined crew member, in the same way as the smite psychic power.

Q2. Does the Teleport Jammer wargear card affect the Warp Jump Wargear card?

A. The Warp Jump cards says “A Warp Jump is an ancient alien device which allows a single model to teleport”, so it’s affected by the Teleport Jammer exactly as stated on the card!

Q3. Can the Demon Weapon Wargear Card parry?

A. In 40K only swords and other weapons which state that they can parry have they ability to do so. Since the wargear card makes no mention of this ability, the answer must be no.

Q4. Does the Demon Weapon count as an additional Close Combat Weapon?

A. No.

Note: A Daemon Weapon is forged from insanity and tempered in nightmare; it can look like whatever you want. The common image is of a huge double-handed rune-encrusted axe/sword/halberd. No matter how you picture it, it will never give a model any abilities beyond those stated on the wargear card. It does occupy two hands and cannot be used simultaneously with any other weapon.

5. History

The first version of the first Battle Bible was 1.0, created for 40K, and released March of 1998. Since then, NEC has been added, and an Epic BB has been crafted.

Games Workshop was contacted in March regarding the project, and at that time the Editorial Staff received an email which gave them permission to distribute the BB freely on the Internet. The only restrictions on this were that no monetary profit would be made for distribution of the project.

In August, the Editorial Staff received another email from GW's IP department. The content of this email was cordial, but requested that the BB's free distribution via the Internet cease immediately. The grounds for this request were that apparently customers of GW products had been placing complaint phonecalls to customer support. These calls complained that although the customers who were calling had paid full price for GW products and rules, gamers the world over were "receiving the same rules for free".

Despite this reality's strict opposition from the original intent, the Editorial Staff gave in and stopped distribution. However, there are sites out there which maintain a downloadable BB, so people still obtain it.

II: Basic Information

1. What is the Battle Bible?

The BBs were created so that the Editorial Staff would have a single resource with an Index and cross-references which would provide rapid, in-game resolution of mechanical questions. The intent was to have a resource which would compliment, not take the place of, the "official" set of GW rulebooks and Codexes.

The Battle Bible is available in Word 97, Word 95, HTML, and text-only formats. However, only the Word 97 version is "supported"; the other versions were created solely in response to user compatibility complaint, and are not as good-looking as the original. Work has only been performed on the Word 97 versions; all others are presented "as-is".

2. System Requirements

For the Word 97 version, your computer should be at least a Pentium 200 with 32 MB of RAM. Yes, all this for a Word document, but it IS 300+ pages. 64MB of RAM is preferable when printing the document.

III: Frequently Asked Questions

1. The Password

Q. What's the password for the BB?

A. ARRRRGH! This is the #1 question we get. Before I launch into the probably-to-be-ignored soapbox of why I don't give it out, here it is:

"eversor". Version 1.x, where $x < 3$, used "vindicare" as the password.

Now, to those of you who didn't get this response when you emailed us for it: those sites which distribute the BB have been asked, nicely, to remove the password which locks the zipfile. They have steadfastly ignored this request. As a result, the Editorial Staff gets 20+ emails a day, wondering what the password is.

We may seem annoyed at this; we are. It's not that we don't welcome your comments--far from it. We just don't want to waste your time and ours by doing the password thing.

2. Legal Questions

Q. Isn't the Battle Bible a copyright infringement of some sort?

A. No. Let me say that again: no. Feel free to re-read that line again, if you'd like to.

Q. C'mon, now--you're using the words "Warhammer", "Eldar", etc.! Isn't that illegal?

A. No. The inclusion of copyrighted words and terms in the BB is done in cooperation with, not violation of, copyright law and GW's rights in that regard. GW's IP department mandates that 1) any use of these "reserved words" must be accompanied by a "legal notice" describing the intent of their use, and 2) that the use of these words not be included in a project for the purposes of retail gain. In other words, as long as there's a legal notice and we don't sell it, it's okay. Please visit GW's IP website for more information.

Q. But you're copying the rules of the Codexes verbatim! That's plagiarism!

A. Yes, copying the words of an existing, copyrighted publication IS illegal. But that is NOT what the BB does, on any level or in any part.

Q. Are we talking about the same Battle Bible? Isn't the Battle Bible just a set of rules that is the same thing as all the GW rulebooks and Codexes?

A. Yes, and no. The BB is intended to be a supplement to GW's gaming products, and is really supposed to be used only by people who own them. The wording, however, of the BBs, is completely original--though the concepts and basic ideas may be the same throughout, none of the wording of GW's products survives intact. This took a great deal of work, rewording the material of a thousand pages, but it was done intentionally, and for this very reason.

Q. So the BB is not plagiarism?

A. Correct.

Q. But couldn't GW sue you for stealing their ideas?

A. Of course they could sue--the Old Granny vs. Purveyors of Hot Coffee suit, not to mention OJ, proves that anybody can sue anybody. But that doesn't make it right. The law, and case precedent--within the wargaming industry, in fact--backs the Editorial Staff. Even though the wording of an original work of writing, by definition, is copyrighted the instant it is cast into written form, the same protection does not exist for concepts or ideas, which may not be protected. This is why I can be writing this FAQ using Notepad, Wordpad, Word, Ami Pro, WordPerfect, ClarisWorks, etc.--the concept of a "word processor" can't be protected. The code strings which comprise a particular iteration/interpretation of that concept, however, can be, which is why I can't put my name on MS Word and sell it.

Q. So why did you buckle when GW asked you to stop distributing it?

A. Note the phrasing, there: "asked". GW did indeed ASK, and not DEMAND or REQUIRE this action. This is because, even though the IP staff may violently defend their copyrights and possible infringements thereof, they know that the law backs the Editorial Staff on this one.

Q. So, legally, you could SELL the BB, and GW couldn't sue you?

A. Read the answer above for a response to the "could they sue" part of that. Could they sue? You bet. Could they win? Probably. Would it be legal for them to do so? Hell, no. Would it be a bigger travesty than the OJ case? Tough call. I never played for the Broncos. On the other hand, it doesn't cost you $40 to read the BB, either.

Q. So, why aren't you selling it?

A. First, we want it to be free. We're gamers, just like you. We don't like paying a lot of money for rulebooks; we'd rather be spending it on miniatures. A lot of you probably won't believe that, so we'll give you another reason: we don't feel like tangling with the biggest wargaming manufacturer in the known universe simply to defend what is right. Those who have moral criticisms or objections to this might want to take a look at all the OTHER things the Editorial Staff does, other than play with miniatures.

Q. Can I print out the BB and use it at games?

A. Hell, yes. Otherwise, it's not much use--unless you have a p1mp-daddy laptop that you can take to games.

Q. Can I print out the BB and make copies for friends?

A. Yes. The answer to this, at one point, was "no"--the Editorial Staff wanted to keep a list of everybody who used it, but that was before the BB website got 1,000+ hits a day. A quick reality check changed this condition.

Battle Bible FAQ

Q. Can I print out the BB and sell it to friends?

A. No. You may NOT profit financially in any way from distribution, modification, production, etc. of the BB. Period. Hell, if the Editorial Staff can't, you certainly can't.

Q. Can I put the Battle Bible(s) on my website?

A. Sure. In order to do so, however, you have to follow a couple rules. First, email the Editorial staff to tell them the URL of the page. Second, make sure you have a link to the Battle Bible homepage. Finally, make sure you make it clear that you include the Copyright Notice. The URL for the BB homepage and the Copyright Notice may be found elsewhere in this document.

Q. Can I contact GW's IP department to get more information on their policies/bitch to them about the BB/just harass them?

A. Sure, it's a free country, though I'd prefer you not do the latter two. My contact there has been Max Botrill, who can be reached at MaxB@games-workshop.co.uk (sorry, Max).

Q. Can I add my own Codexes to the Battle Bible?

A. Legally, it's illegal to modify the Battle Bible without consent of its creators. However, if it's just for distribution and use within your own gaming circle, and will not be used outside about 10 people, then go for it.

Q. You're sure about all of this?

A. Uh-huh. Would we risk a lawsuit if we weren't?

Q. Why are the first umpteen questions in this FAQ legal-related?

A. Because there are a lot of people out there who misunderstand things. Law is tricky. "Right" is tricky. But even if you don't know the case studies, think about it: the BB is a labour of love, given without condition or profit freely to the community from which it sprung. GW charges $38 for plastic terminators. You judge which side Right is on. To quote my favourite band:

"Each time we bathe our reactions
In artificial light
Each time we alter the focus
To make a wrong move seem right
We get so used to perceptions
Make yourself a nervous wreck
You get so used to surrender
Reaching out to cover your neck. " –Rush

3. Troubleshooting

Q. I'm having trouble viewing the BB. What's wrong?

A. Ensure that you are using the right kind of tool to view the BB--if you downloaded the Word 97 version, don't open it in Word 95. If you're not sure which version you got, contact the website FROM WHICH YOU GOT IT. Don't email the Editors asking which version you downloaded, because we can't read minds.

Second, ensure that the file you downloaded wasn't corrupted in transit. Download it again, if necessary.

Third, make sure you're using WinZip 6.3, which was the utility used to compress the BB. Using earlier versions may corrupt the unzipped document.

Q. All those things are fine, but I'm still having troubles. What's wrong, now?

A. Make sure your computer has enough RAM. Calling up a 300+ page Word document takes some. About 64MB is par for good performance.

Q. My computer is the p1mp daddy machine of love, and the tables look odd. Any more tips?

A. This is probably because you're looking

Q. When I click on a hyperlinked reference, it takes me someplace totally different. What's wrong?

A. Check to make sure that you're using the Word 97 version. Also, make sure you're not Viewing Codes (that paragraph-looking toggle button). Most likely, however, this is due to a corruption of the document. I get the feeling that Word was never meant to handle documents of this size. My first hint was when it told me that due to the size of the file, it would no longer be spell-checking. At all.

Q. The HTML version looks like total crap, dudes. You're aware of that?

A. Yeah. If you really hate it, complain about Word 97's "Save As HTML" feature, which takes 25 minutes to create a piece of crap.
