for the call to race across the battle lines in support of a wounded unit.

Yet, for all the enthusiasm she shows when rushing headlong through a blazing crossfire so her mixed team of technicians and medics can rescue a damaged vehicle or infantry trooper, Saturina actually abhors every aspect of combat. Not quite a pacifist, she nevertheless refuses to carry weapons of any kind on her person or in her vehicle during a battle, and has been known to render humanitarian assistance even to a wounded enemy soldier without blinking.

Holding academic degrees in physics, mechanical engineering, and medicine, Saturina Perara is equally skilled in technological and biological repair and maintenance, and has become a model for the kind of flexibility that is so necessary to mercenary life. This broad base of knowledge has allowed her to do more than simply drive her small MASH unit into the field like a motorized Florence Nightingale, and her fellow Light Horsemen often call the rugged Perara a "Renaissance woman" in recognition of her talents. On the field, Perara keeps her vehicle in constant motion, waiting Recognized as the archetypical MASH vehicle used across the Inner Sphere today, the MIT23 first emerged from ComStar factories before the Jihad, to replace older designs used by the Star League Defense Force. With expanded facilities, capable of rendering medical service to a full infantry squad at one time, this vehicle still maintains enough mobility to get close to a battlefield, perform critical operations, and get back out again in one piece. Many of these MASH trucks were enhanced later by Clan medical technology, capable of getting soldiers back into fighting shape even faster, or well enough for a final desperate push against enemy lines.

Serial number NSL4077-8063MM, assigned to the MASH that Saturina Perara commands, lacks these facilities, however, replacing them with a small technicians' workstation and a cramped cargo bay for parts, allowing her partial crew of trained technicians to render quick, rudimentary repairs to damaged vehicles.
