Young, beautiful, and deadly, Elora Wolf may not yet possess a Bloodname, but there is little doubt that she will succeed the moment she's given the chance. Ambition and honor drive this trueborn Clan warrior, who has already managed to obtain a slot in the Wolfkin Keshik's command Star despite a short career in battle.

Born, raised, and trained in a small Clan Wolf MechWarrior sibko on Tikonov, Elora was the only one of her sibkin to pass her Trial of Position with a single kill. Her by-the-book approach to warfare, her obvious disdain for melee combat, and her good use of superior speed and range demonstrated textbook Clan tactics that drew praise from her superiors, earning her a prestigious position and a full-fledged BattleMech.

While her performance in the cockpit of her Firestarter has been exemplary, including over a dozen battlefield kills as of this writing, Elora is like a fish out of water when she's outside of a 'Mech. She is withdrawn nearly to the point of being reclusive, and rarely socializes even with her fellow warriors. Instead, she busies herself with technical briefings, physical exercise, and constant simulator drills during off-duty hours.

Commentary

The Firestarter is a classic 'Mech, used by nearly all the major powers of the Inner Sphere and particularly by House Steiner. It was developed mainly for incendiary, anti-infantry work and forward reconnaissance, but many and various refits arose to improve on these capabilities.

Elora Wolf's Firestarter is a House Davion variant, equipped with a light rotary autocannon that gives this 'Mech a long reach on the battlefield. Elora has nicknamed it "Firefox," as a canine play on its role, but, curiously enough, she does not like to employ its trio of flamethrowers in combat. The Clan preference for ranged combat is so ingrained in her that she instead prefers to strike at more distant prey using the autocannon, and has refined her marksmanship accordingly. This tactic gives her more room to maneuver and forces enemies foolish enough to close in to weather several volleys of autocannon shells in the process.
