meets with several other Archon's Shield members who have also been tagged as potential Lohengrin agents. These observations have prompted us to increase surveillance on this woman, who may well represent the head of the LIC's covert support of the Stormhammers – and the most obvious sign of House Steiner's involvement in anti-Republic activities.

Our agents believe that Michaela Freeman may be an agent of the Lyran Commonwealth's Lohengrin antiterrorist force, an element of House Steiner's Lyran Intelligence Corps. This belief is strongly supported by the almost instant support she has enjoyed from Jasek Kelswa-Steiner since becoming a member of his Archon's Shield regiment, despite having no discernable military background to speak of. Her mastery of the massive Atlas BattleMech she brought with her and her skill with small arms further suggests elite-level combat training. Though she often appears sullen and withdrawn, she maintains a commanding air about her and regularly

Commentary

At the top of the BattleMech weight scale, the massively armored and armed Atlas has been the last word in BattleMech superiority since its debut in the days of the Star League. Featuring a mix of missiles, lasers, and ballistic firepower, these machines have been hampered in battle only by their slow land speed. The power of the Atlas, however, has virtually guaranteed its placement at the forefront of any siege or defense operation, and many commanders choose to use one as their flag vehicles during long campaigns.

Michaela Freeman's Atlas, "Brynhild," is curiously enough a captured Word of Blake machine, seized during the crucible of the Jihad by victorious Lyran troops on Hesperus II. Since then, the machine has even been seen as part of the garrison force on Tharkad, thus making its sudden appearance in the Stormhammers – suspiciously with a mysterious pilot at the helm.
